MOTOR FIRE BIDS WITHIN CITY LOAN

Low Figures Submitted May Result in Purchase of Ladder Trucks

Bids for motorizing the remainder of the city fire department apparatus were opened at noon to-day at the offices of City Commissioner E. Z. Gross. The bids were for motorizing nine chemical trucks or furnishing new ones; equipping four steam fire engines; furnishing one new engine; equipping a 65-foot Hayes truck, and furnishing one new motor-driven ladder truck.

Only one bidder, the American LaFrance Fire Engine Company, gave a bid for the entire amount. The price named was $59,175, or about $800 less than the amount of the loan authorized to motorize the apparatus.

Because of a number of low bids which have been received, every effort will be made, it is understood to provide two new ladder trucks, one for the Kelly and another for the Allison company.

Work of tabulating bids will be started at once, and Council may meet informally on Friday afternoon with representatives of the various companies to go over plans and specifications. City Commissioners Gross and William H. Lynch, together with Fire Chief John C. Kinder, and Assistant Fire Chief Marion Verbeke, and other city officials, will make a careful study of specifications.

Premier

The Aluminum Six with Magnetic Gear Shift

The Motor is a Single Light Aluminum Block Trained Down to Fighting Trim, and Carrying No Excess Weight

It tips the scales at 255 pounds less weight than the old-fashioned cast iron motor of equal dimensions, and you know it costs you a lot of money to tote that useless 255 pounds around. Besides, excess motor weight acts as a drag on your whole car and cuts down its endurance.

6 cylinders, 3 3/8 in. bore x 5 1/2 in. stroke

Premier's motor is snappy, full of "pep" and quick on the trigger—no coaxing and wheeling necessary—no nursing the spark and throttle—no "loading" and bucking and "spitting." And, by the way, you can feed it on 25-cent gasoline cheaper than you can feed 15-cent gas to the average motor—because it registers every drop on the speedometer.

Slip down here and let us show a real motor.

POM POM BEFORE CAPACITY HOUSES

Capacity houses on Saturday witnessed two performances of Henry Savage's production of Pom Pom, starring Mitzi Hajos. As a whole it was a typical Savage production with all of its lavishness, its big company, its singing and dancing, and its foreign atmosphere—all things which have been so notable in Savage plays of recent years since the inception of "The Merry Widow." "Pom Pom" is a musical comedy, a bit better than the average with much better singing and dancing than ordinarily, and a genuinely captivating little star, who gave the audience just enough to prove that she could sing and dance, and who with mannerisms and pantomime won the hearts of the audience. The comedy element was well provided for and was placed in most capable hands. While probably not as alluring as the music of some other shows, "Pom Pom" had several good airs, whistling ones, and an orchestra carried by the company added much to it. Speaking of the whole "Pom Pom" is decidedly a musical comedy of the higher grade type.

What Drink Does in Philadelphia

Statistics compiled by Philadelphia authorities prove that 78 out of the 84 murders investigated by the city during 1916 were due directly or indirectly to rum. The police made 25,258 arrests for intoxication in eleven months, averaging about 3,200 a month. During the year 1,982 persons were committed to the House of Correction as vagrants, the majority of whom became derelicts through drink. Sixteen hundred were committed on straight charges of drunkenness. The warden supplements his testimony, that 75 per cent of the prisoners in that institution are there because of rum, by the following explanation:

"I have made this estimate on the authority of the men themselves. Furthermore, all the broken parcels from this institution are due to drink."
