SURVEY RESULTS PUT UP TO CITY COUNCIL

[Continued From First Page] by the Civic Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that all records of complaints received by the department are incomplete. The need of concise accounts of all complaints, arrests, disposition of cases, and other similar information was pointed out by the following statement:

The crime conditions of a community are disclosed in the records of complaints. The success or failure of the department officials in the investigation of these complaints is disclosed by the action taken and the results obtained. Therefore it will be seen that the records of complaints and the action taken upon them constitute the most vital record of a police service, and consequently the most valuable aid to a wise administration.

Without attempting in this brief memorandum to describe in detail the defects of the present system of records, and the insufficiency of the records of the Bureau of Police, it should be necessary only to recite at this time that the department is practically without detailed information concerning the personnel, comprehensive information concerning the causes of arrest and complete information such as is necessary in the management of a police service and operations and activities of the force.

Men Have No Training In advising the abolishing of the detective force, the system of appointing men of the force without regard for civil service or previous training is again scored.

Our observations show that the service rendered by the superintendent of detectives is by no means commensurate with the compensation paid, and that there is a lack of harmony between the detective service and the uniform force, which is conducive to inefficiency.

It is understood that a clerk will be appointed as soon as the ordinance becomes effective when passed finally.
