Exploded Stove'll Get You If You Don't Watch Out

Following the explosions of three stoves yesterday Fire Chief John C. Kindler has requested that the people of Harrisburg be careful not only in playing water pipes but with stoves as well, in the cold weather season.

Boarding House Crook at Work in This City

Chief of Police J. Edward Wetzel this morning issued a warning to proprietors of boardinghouses against furnishing lodging to a man about about fifty years of age with gray hair and moustache.

The man in question has been systematically making a practice of securing board without paying for it in advance and then disappearing after several days stay. He not only disappears but always takes a few valuables with him.

Several proprietors have made complaint concerning the same man. The last place visited was the home of E. W. Coates, 1140 Market street, where the crook represented himself to be a master carpenter ready to start on a big contract. After he had secured a good supper he disappeared.

Nearly 10 Years of Tests Prove Crow Elk-Hart Right

An important fact about the new Crow Elk-Hart "30" which is being displayed at the Auto Show by Monn Bros., local representatives of the Crow Motor Car Company, is the fact that its principles of construction have been proved successful over nearly a decade of time, with thousands of cars on the road.

There are few cars in the United States to-day that can point to as successful a record for the principles of construction which they embody. Some histories of Crow cars are interesting. The local representatives have reports of one car that accomplished 140,000 miles and is still running and no one apparently knows when it will be out of business. Other cars have records from 40,000 to 100,000 miles. It is a very usual thing for people to drive to the Crow factory and to express their joy over the fact that their car has run 40,000 to 50,000 miles without visiting the repairman, other than for minor adjustments.

The sturdiness of the new car; the wonderful way in which it tops hills and surmounts some of the worst obstacles in the country in the way of roads, mountains and mud are evidence enough for local people that this is an unusual car. Local authorities point out the fact that there are few cars in the country with nearly a decade of success behind their principles of construction. This is the insurance that local people have in making their selection in this big value automobile.
