A MAN IN THE DEPARTMENT STORE

When a man wanders into the department store, the rigid rules of warfare do not apply. A man in the rush hour at the counter will be waited on out of his turn without protest from the women shoppers. He is like a babe who has strayed into the No Man's Land between the hostile trenches. There may be a smile on either side of the counter, but in his helpless state he appeals to the innate chivalry in woman. When a man shops for himself he is satisfied with the first approximation to what he wants. When he is shopping for his wife he does not even know what he wants. He reads something from a list and asks for six yards of it, and only wants assurance that he is getting what he asks for. His ignorance of the distinction between poplin and crepe de chine is a claim on the maternal instinct in the heart of the saleswoman. And he does not waste time. When a man buys half a dozen pairs of silk socks he is shown a pair and assumes that the other five pairs out of the same box will be the same. A woman usually examines every pair of the half dozen. A man in a department store is like Sir Galahad. He brings out what is best in everybody. Saleswomen are patient with him. Floorwalkers give him explicit directions to the shoe department. Elevator-boys call out the floors for him distinctly. The girl at the transfer desk guarantees delivery of the goods that same afternoon. The laws of war are not for him. He is not of the enemy. He belongs to the Red Cross.—Simeon Strunsky in Harper's Magazine for February.

SAYS BODY IS A POISON FACTORY

Urges everyone to drink glass of hot water before breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast at the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Advertisement.

My Valentine

The rose is just as red to-day as in the long-gone yesterday;
The violet is just as blue as 'twas when first I met you, Dear;
And sugar's just as sweet as when you promised me that you'd be mine;
And you are always just the same—you'll always be my Valentine.

PUT COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

There is no successful limitation of the glow of health.

Rich red blood showing through translucent skin means not only beauty but health. When your color fades you will find that your heart palpitates on slight exertion, such as climbing stairs, and that your breath is short and you lack ambition. All these things are symptoms of an anemic condition, of the blood.

Try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Eat nourishing food, exercise a little in the open air daily and watch the color return to cheeks and lips. If you are lean, your normal weight you should gain on one or two pounds a week under this treatment. And the first sign of improvement will be in your appetite.

D. Williams' Pink Pills tone up the digestive organs and the re-vitalized blood carries nourishment that means strength to every part of the body.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" give just the information that you need. They are free. Write for them today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. You own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can send fifty cents for a full-size package by mail, postpaid.
