GERMANS FAIL TO FOLLOW UP FRENCH DRIVE

Make No Further Effort in Champagne; Allies Repulsed in Counterattack

Apparently, the Germans have not followed up the attack Berlin reported, yesterday as having gained ground for them half a mile deep on a mile and a half front in the Champagne.

To-day's announcement from Berlin mentions no further German effort in this region. The French, however, are declared to have been repulsed in their attack in the Champagne, south of Ripont, where the Germans reported their advance had been scored.

The Paris official statement so far have not mentioned any infantry fighting in the Champagne during the period covered by the German claim.

Another attack made by the French was in the Alsace region, west of Berry, and Berlin reports this likewise was repulsed.

The blowing up of several entente ammunition depots in the Somme region, the explosions shaking the ground as far as St. Quentin, twenty miles away, is reported by the German war office.

Prontoned activity by raiders developed along large sectors of the Franco-Belgian front, in the Artois, along the Somme, southeast of Verdun, and in Alsace.

The most important development in the other war areas was the beginning of engagements along the northern part of the Rumanian front, north of the Cituse Valley, started at dawn today. The German statement did not indicate which side took the offensive.

Petrograd's statement refers merely to outpost engagements in the Rumanian war theatre.

One steamer was added by the morning reports to the list of vessels destroyed. The victim was the British liner, reported by Berlin, sunk by striking a mine.

F KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome.

STAMM GETS MANY RECOMMENDATIONS

only that of a well-meant voluntary co-operation." Following this telegram was a letter to Mr. Stamm from McClary, offering a little more fully the subject of the wire message. It follows:

"I have learned that you are seeking to employ a school architect, and being much interested in the subject of schoolbuildings and equipment, I took liberty this morning of sending you a paid day letter.

"It will be adding unnecessarily, perhaps, for me to say more, the day letter being rather complete within itself. However, I do wish to emphasize it for, in my judgment, Mr. Ittner is absolutely without a peer in his line,--as an architect for schoolbuildings and equipment. I have been told by many architects that he stands 'head and shoulders,' as one put it, above all others.

"If you will be kind enough to note a copy of the souvenir edition of 'The Dragon,' the high school publication here, which I am sending under separate cover in this mail, it will give you some idea of what Mr. Ittner did for me. I know his work is finding favor in all parts of the country."

Added to this this morning was a telegram from the vice-president of the Erie School Board, Mr. Ittner drew plans for Erie schools costing more than a million dollars and is now engaged on plans for two buildings that will cost half a million more.

Mr. Ittner was originally employed to design a large school building, later selected to design cosmopolitan high school and again selected to design another high school and a grade building.

These repeated endorsements indicate the Board's confidence in his professional ability."

Mr. Stamm said this morning that one of the strongest recommendations for Mr. Ittner was the satisfaction he has given to all who have employed him.

Ittner's Record Mr. Stamm pointed out in detail to a reporter today that Mr. Ittner had superintended the construction of schoolbuildings in St. Louis worth $9,000,000; that a commission appointed under an act of Congress had designated these buildings as being "probably the best in the United States," and other public and private buildings throughout the country costing many millions of dollars.

When asked why the matter had not been taken up in the Board yesterday, President Ittner replied: "Didn't Have the Votes."

"I don't know why the matter was not called up. But I do know why it was not brought forward by those favoring Mr. Ittner, simply because we didn't have the votes to have him selected."

Voting for the special committee's endorsement of Mr. Ittner at Tuesday's meeting were President Stamm and Directors Bacon, Enders and Yates. Voting against the recommendation were Directors Boll, Boyer, Keene, Bretz and Werner.

The votes of Bretz and Werner had been counted upon to some extent by those favoring Mr. Ittner. Both were elected to the Board on the slate pushed through several years ago by the Vance C. McCormick Democratic organization and Mr. McCormick is known to favor Mr. Ittner.

On the special committee which recommends Mr. Ittner are David E. Tracy, president of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, and William Jennings, representing the citizens' committee; and George W. C. Stamm, representing the School Board and Dr. F. E. Downes, city superintendent of schools. Their report set forth that they had chosen Mr. Ittner because they believe him to be absolutely the best man available.

BAR BANQUET TO-NIGHT

Seventy members of the Dauphin County Bar Association will hold their annual banquet this evening at 6.30 o'clock at the Harrisburg Club. There will be only three guests: President Judge George Kunkel and Additional Law Judge Samuel J. M. McCarell, of Dauphin county, and President Judge Charles V. Henry, of Lebanon county.

Frank B. Wickersham, assistant district attorney and retiring president of the organization, will be toastmaster. No program of addresses has been arranged, but the entertainment arrangements included Mr. Wickersham, Charles C. Stroh and Charles H. Bergner.

AUTO SHOW CLOSURES TONIGHT

Huge Business and Large Attendance as Show Draws to Close

The order books of the salesmen are growing fat as the end of the Eighth Annual Automobile Show draws near the end. Until after to-night, when the show closes, it will be impossible to get a definite idea of the actual amount of business transacted or the total number of visitors for the week.

This is a foregone conclusion however that both from the standpoint of business done by the exhibitors and the total attendance the figures will be far in advance over any previous year's show. J. Clyde Myton, secretary of the Harrisburg Motor Club, who is managing this year's show, is receiving congratulations from members and exhibitors for the wonderful show he has staged.

Last night's attendance was a record-breaker for the same night of previous shows. In fact, but one night in the show's history has had a larger attendance.

The show closes to-night, but unlike the balance of the week, the closing hour has been made eleven, instead of ten o'clock.

Seen and Overheard at Local Automobile Show

The Paige Brooklands convertible roadster attracted exceptional interest last evening because of the canopy top and unusual arrangement of the rear compartment. Having the appearance of the regular two-passenger roadster type, with canopy covering over the one seat, a panel on rear of body can be raised in a minute, making it possible for two more to sit with the same comfort found in the new four-passenger roadster models.

This is the same type shown at the New York and Philadelphia shows and said to be the only convertible roadster of similar design. This car was driven from Philadelphia by J. T. Ramsey.

H. F. Willoughby, of the Velie-Harrisburg Company, has received word from the factory that all models will advance $50 in price March 1. A model finished in orange gave a touch of color to this exhibit and was the object of many expressions of admiration.

E. M. Hottenstein, distributor for Chevrolet cars in this territory, has been assisting George B. Zech at the show exhibit. E. C. Bowman, traveling representative, accompanied Mr. Hottenstein to Harrisburg.

The Pennsylvania Indemnity Exchange, represented by A. L. Hall, is organized in this territory as a careful motorist. Twenty-five per cent is retained for management and expenses of losses paid from the remaining 75 per cent, and when policy expires the unused balance is returned to the insured, as per policy. Mr. Hall reports that 30 per cent has so far been returned to the policyholders.

Can Stand Eight '07 Panics With U. S. Money Resources

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17. -- The nation's finances are mobilized to meet any situation likely to be presented in the near future, in the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board, whose precautionary measures, undertaken upon the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany, have assumed concrete form and are believed to cover every contingency that may arise.

There is at present on deposit with the Federal reserve agents in the various districts approximately $300,000,000 in cash and the huge reserve of $600,000,000 is available at Washington for use whenever it may be needed. As a precautionary measure, the board has requested the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to engrave a large additional sum of reserve notes which will be ready for use in case the occasion may arise.

An estimate by George M. Reynolds, of Chicago, that the banks of the country are at present able to withstand a financial strain involving eight times the sum involved in the panic of 1907 is believed by officials to be a correct appraisal of the strength of the Federal reserve system.

WOMAN FIGHTS TO GET DAUGHTER FROM FATHER

Wants Girl Entrusted to Her Care; Court Learns About Characters

For more than two hours in Dauphin county court this morning, Ida Wiese fought to have issued an order giving into her care her 13-year-old daughter Bertha, now held by Roland Wiese, the father.

Wiese contested the case, and counsel for application and respondent brought witness after witness, to testify as to the fitness of each to care for the girl.

Trunk searching tours which resulted in a find of "scandal" letters, serious charges and sensational disclosures were features of the habeas corpus proceedings. Improper conduct on the part of both parents was alleged in cross-examinations and at the close of the case Additional Law Judge Samuel J. M. McCarell declared he could not turn the child over to the mother, as she is working now to support herself.

The case will probably be turned over to the Associated Aid Societies for investigation. The mother, while on the stand announced her intention to marry within the next few months.

Boarding house mistresses, relatives and friends were called to the stand during the morning to give versions of the past life of both Wiese and his wife.

At present the girl will remain with Wiese, and the case will be continued unless brought into argument court. W. Justin Carter represented Wiese, and Forrest Mercer, the mother of the child.

CAR AND TRUCK SMASH

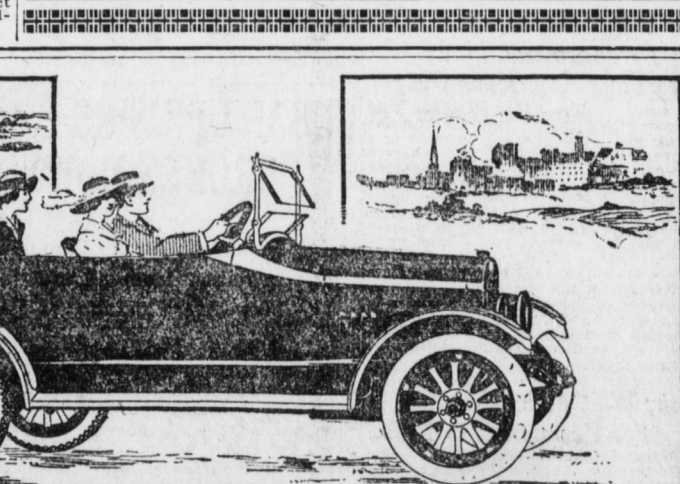

The left rear wheel of a small automobile truck, owned by the F. B. Aldinger Bottling Works, 26 Grace avenue, and the fender of a Third street car was bent when they crashed into each other at the corner of Third and Boas streets late yesterday afternoon. Neither the driver of the truck nor the motorman saw the other until it was too late to avoid a collision.
