COURT TIRES OF HEARING SEVENTH STREET HOTELMEN

Declines to Listen to New License Plea in Already Crowded District

LEAGUES ENTER PROTESTS

First Attack Leveled Against St. Charles Which Lost Out Last Year

President Judge George Kunkel ruled to-day that the court would not hear a repetition of evidence when Perry E. Speaks' application for a liquor license for 1012 North Seventh Perry E. Speaks' application for a liquor license for 1012 North Seventh street, was presented.

Months ago, when T. S. Frye, proprietor of the Frye hotel, Fifth and State streets, applied to have his license transferred to the same place, the court ruled that there was no necessity for another bar in the Seventh street district owing to the number of lecensed places there already.

J. R. Bennett, attorney for the petitioner, said that he had additional evidence, and presented a petition signed by twenty holders of liquor licenses. Another petition was presented with the signatures of 181 residents in the North Seventh street district. Harry B. Saussaman, attorney for the No-License League, presented a remonstrance signed by 178 people, 61 women and 117 men.

One of the points brought out by counsel for the application was that there is no licensed bar conducted by a colored man. Additional Lad Judge S. J. M. McCarrell then asked if the laws provided that liquor licenses should be granted because of racial need.

The first remonstrance to be heard was against the petition of Patrick T. Sullivan, for a license for the St. Charles Hotel at Second and Washington streets. This license was refused to the former owner of the place because of misuse.

J. D. Shields, Paul Reindell and Charles Tress, all residing in the vicinity of the St. Charles, declared on the witness stand that a number of people had spoken to them of fitoneed for a bar there, as the nearest one was at Chestnut street, or at Race street. One hundred and forty-three names were presented with the remonstrance, while 196 had signed the applications of George E. Winger, Senuel Fishman, Fred W. Ebel and petition.

Other hearings will be held in the applications of George E. Winger, Samuel Fishman, Fred W. Ebel and Lewis Baturin. A number of ministers, representatives of the Anti-Saloon and No-License Leagues, temperance organizations, school officials and business men were in court but were not called to the stand by Mr. Saussaman.

Fletcher to Protest Confiscation of Mines

Washington, Feb. 19. — One of the first official acts of Henry P. Fletcher, the new American ambassador to Mexico wil be to protest against confiscation of mines not in operation of February 14.

Mr. Fletcher's arrival at the Mexican capital yesterday was reported today to the State Department. His formal presentation to General to General Carranza probably will not be later than Thursday and immediately afterward he will begin making representations on the various questions at issue between the two governments.

New York, Feb. 19.—In the absence of untoward events over the week-end, the stock market seemed disposed at to-day's opening to augment the many gains recorded last Saturday. Popular industrials, including those in the so-called war class, were higher by material fractions to two points, coppers, oils and shippings displaying similar tendencies. Central Leather, Cuba Cane Sugar, Studebaker, American Woolen, Pittsburgh Coal and National Enamelling also were firm to strong. Rails were the only laggards, that group showing little animation. Gains Supplemented Trading broadened and initial gains were supplemented in the increased activity of the first half hour, dealings embracing many of the obscure specialties. Rails also caught up with the general movement, especially coalers. Chicago and Alton, Missouri Pacific and Southern Railway preferred. Realizing from to 2 points in equipments and shippings, with a cncurrent diminution of business. Advonces from industrial centers reporting slowing down of operations because of coal and car shortage also induced some selling. Bonds were irergular. Marines, metals and some leading industrials eased off in the early after.

Reasons For "Bunching"

"Traffic conditions in the central part of the city are largely responsible for the bunching of cars on the same lines. It is not uncommon for automobiles and teams to hold up cars for five minutes on the loop around Walnut, Third and Market streets. Now on lines running on a five-minute schedule it is impossible to avoid 'bunching' at such times.

Commissioner Brecht Cuts Down Its Valuation and Scores Methods

The Public Service Commission today ordered the Portage Water Com-pany to reduce its schedule of rates for fire protection to the borough of Portage from $325 per mile of distri-bution mains, as set forth in the company's schedule to $173.60 per mile, and ordered the water company to install six additional fire hydrants.

stall six additional fire hydrants.

In the opinion which was prepared by Commissioner Brecht, the fair value of the water company's property for rate making purposes was determined to be $132,520, of which the portion within the borough used and useful for domestic and fire service was found to be $104,120, in place of $211,921 ts claimed by the company. This is the first case before the Public Service Commission where rates for fire service rendered a borough by a water company was the principal matter for the Commission's consideration.

Air Needed In Cellar For Draft.

When a building is well sealed and there are no openings in the cellar which will allow the ingress of cold air, difficulty is often experienced in pushing the fire, although it seems to burn readily enough in mild weather

Invariably the claim is made that something is the matter with coal or the chimney.

The real trouble is that the cellar is too tight.

During mild weather sufficient air gets into the cellar to supply all the oxygen required for combus-

In cold weather the greater rate of combustion requires so large a supply of oxygen that the fire burns sluggishly. Sometimes when the furnace is driven hard care should be taken to insure a supply of air directly into the cellar.
