PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS

TO SPEAK BEFORE THE COMMONWEALTH

Miss Glenn's Subject Is the Woman Movement; Club Doing Red Cross Work

Miss Helen Glenn, who is to speak before the Commonwealth Club at the John Y. Boyd Hall of the Y. W. C. A. at 7.45 this evening on "The Woman Movement," is an extremely able representative of the subject she has chosen for her discussion. As head of the Social Service Department of the University Hospital, Philadelphia, and later as State Supervisor of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, Harrisburg, she has ranked among the foremost social workers in the State, and has had wide experience in dealing with women of all groups. From the position of the women of John Stuart Mills' age to the outlook of the business woman or college girl of to-day is a far cry, and the subject of Miss Glenn's address covers a field whose depth and breadth promise a wonderfully rich harvest in the future, while providing matter for careful thought and attention today on the part of all who would aid in its development. The lecture is free to all who are interested.

After the lecture there will be classes in Current Events under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth Baker, and in "First Aid to the Sick as well as the Injured," conducted by Dr. Kaunack, chief of the Harrisburg Board of Health. These classes are for the members of the Commonwealth Club only.

Uncle Sam Swamped With Spy Applicants

Uncle Sam will never run short of spies. He has been fairly swamped with applications for appointments in the secret service since the diplomatic break with Germany.

Judging by the number of applications coming in, every family must have at least one husky young man who has years of the exciting life of a daring, dashing, omnipresent, well-dressed, swagger and handsome secret service agent, spending the winter in Florida, watching foreign diplomats and spies with nothing much to do except keeping his flannel trousers well creased all the time so that he may be ready on a moment's notice to rush out from ambuscade, hop in an automobile to follow some fair foreign enchantress to a secret rendezvous, there to make the grim, stern, heart-breaking choice between enchantress and cold, gloomy, duty, nobly rising to the occasion, scorning her kisses, grabbing her traveling bag and returning with the plans and specifications of an explosive doughnut to the waiting chief of the secret service in Washington. The country is saved, but (one moment please to change the reel).

Then there are some applicants who are such handwriting experts that they can tell by the tail of a capitol S whether the writer had sausage or ham and eggs for breakfast. And a fair sprinkling of young patriots who would like to go on the trail of foreign spies and trotters have qualified for the task by solving all the puzzles in the Sunday newspapers and thus developing the deductive power of their analytical minds. They may all get a dark and deep mystery to solve some day, and with 90 per cent. of them, their first case will be to discover what became of their applications.
