

COMPENSATION RULINGS ISSUED

Payment of Hospital Charge by Beneficial Society Does Not Relieve Employer

Compensation Commissioner John A. Scott has upheld awards by Referee Jacob Snyder and dismissed appeals in two cases arising in the Altoona district, one case involving injury during some "horse play." In this case William Ernest Harmon, Altoona, delivery boy for L. C. Lam-bour, Altoona, was hurt in a tussle with a companion which occurred while he was feeding the horse of his employer. It is held that the injured boy had not invited any play and that the accident occurred during course of employment. The application of the principle in such cases, holds Mr. Scott, depends upon close and important distinctions of fact.

In the case of Thomas vs. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company objection was made that the monthly grocery bills showed an unusual amount of dependency upon the earnings of a son, it being contended that they were larger than they should have been for a family of the size of the claimant. The bills ran as high as $10 every two weeks, but receipts were produced.

In an opinion rendered in the compensation case of Joseph Reolon, Seminoe, vs. Allegheny River Mining Company, Kittanning, it is held by Commissioner John A. Scott that the company is liable for a major operation necessitated by a personal injury sustained in lifting a heavy weight and cannot be relieved from such liability because a society of which the claimant happened to be a member had already paid the cost of hospital service in his behalf. The payment by the society was one to which the employee was entitled by virtue of his membership and was not made voluntarily by the society, says the opinion.

In the case of Mary Alberti vs. M. S. Kemmer & Company, Sandy Run, it is held that the claimant failed to establish that her husband died from burns sustained in a mine. The employers claimed he was burned in his own home. Compensation awarded Mary Denson in a claim against the Tiooga Steel and Iron Company, Philadelphia, is upheld because the decased died from heat stroke after being engaged in heavy hot work at a mill. The testimony, it is held, brings the injury within the meaning of the Pennsylvania act.

WAR OBSERVER FOR CHINA

Peking, Feb. 22.—After more than two years' delay China has finally arranged to send military observers into the European war zone. General Wang

Tsai-li, former vice-chief of the general staff and one of the most confidential advisers under the late President Yuan Shi-kai, was designated as an observer early in the war, but because of the unsettled internal affairs in China, and the difficulty in selecting a competent staff, did not go to Europe. All arrangements for his departure have now been completed and he has been authorized by President Li Yuan-hung to leave at once.

NEWEST PLAN TO GET ROAD ACTION

Members Are Putting in Bills Which Contain Specific Appropriations Now

Members of the House have evolved a new plan for getting action on improvement of highways and for making additions to the State highway system. Over twenty bills to add new routes to the list embraced in the Sproul act system have appeared in the House alone, Huntington, Adams, Monroe, Wayne, Bradford, Wyoming, Lehigh, Franklin, Cumberland, Indiana, Clearfield, Jefferson, Butler and Cambria counties being among those bidding for them. Most of these bills are for additions to the routes and the committee on public roads is awaiting determination of a policy by the State Highway Department, which in turn is awaiting an appropriation, before adopting a policy. In the Senate there are a dozen similar bills.

The first bill presented carried an appropriation for improving a road in Armstrong county and now bills carrying $20,000 and specifying that it be used to improve certain stretches of road in Jefferson county have turned up. They direct that the Highway department improve the roads and add them to the system.

Another batch of Philadelphia charter revision bills has been given to Representative Fred Beyer, chairman of the House judiciary general committee, to introduce. They were drawn by the committee and are to appear Monday night.

It is expected that the Senate will shortly put the bill for an increase of the police up to the House. The bill is on third reading and would add eight corporals and ninety privates to the force, which now consists of 227 all told. A hot fight is expected in the House where the labor element has been preparing for it.
