

TECH SURPRISES CAGE FOLLOWERS

By Defeating Steelton High on Felton Hall Floor Last Night

Technical High school quintet pulled the surprise of the season last night by defeating the Steelton High school five in a Central Pennsylvania League contest, played on the Felton Hall floor. The final score read 18 to 16.

Coach Miller used a changed lineup and it worked wonders, displaying more pep and ginger than has been shown by a Tech team this season. "Bud" Lingle, the freshman player, was given a chance to show his wares and while he did not figure in the point getting, he played an aggressive floor game, being in nearly every scrimmage. His playing was a big factor in the excellent teamwork of the Tech team.

Defensive Play Featured

Both teams played a close guarding game and there was little chance for scoring throughout the contest. Tech featured in strong defensive playing and in the first period held Steelton to a lone field toss, while the Tech players scored two. The half ended with the score at 8 to 7 in favor of Tech.

The score was tied at 16 with but one minute to play in the last period. Both teams covered close, but a short time before the whistle Harris found an opening and poked the ball through the net from the side of the cage. The toss won the game for the local lads. The summary:

PICKS M'GRAW TO HEAD NATIONALS

Atlantic City, March 3.—James A. Gilmore, former president of the Federal League, in an interview to-night at the Hotel Traymore, denied that he was in the field to buy the New York National League Club or was a party to any present deal. In the course of his remarks, Gilmore ventured that John J. McGraw, the "Little Napoleon" of the Giants, would succeed former Governor John K. Tener, as president of the league. He refused to discuss the pending suit with the Baltimore Club. In a flattering compliment to McGraw, Gilmore declared that he was one of the greatest tacticians in the history of the sport. "He is a smart man and I would not be surprised if he was at the head of the National League some day. It wouldn't be at all surprising to me to see him slated to succeed Governor Tener at the expiration of his term a year hence."

ORPHEUM — To-night — "A Little Girl in a Big City."

Tuesday, evening only, March 6 — David Warfield in "The Music Master."
Wednesday evening, March 7 — Rosa Karp and Jacob Cone in "The Jewish War Brides" (Yiddish).

The principal roles in "The Crab," Triangle-Kay Bee play, from the studios of Thomas H. Ince, which will be seen at the Colonial Theater to-day only, are allotted to Thelma Salter and Frank Keenan.

New York, the beautiful! New York, the wicked! New York, the city of a million lights and a million dangers, and temptations, will be shown to the patrons of the Orpheum to-night, when James Kyrle MacCurdy's play, "A Little Girl in a Big City," will be seen for the last time. It is said to be a thrilling story of New York life and to relate the harrowing experiences of a young country girl who comes to the big city in search of a position.

"Very Good Eddie," the Marbury-Comstock Company's offering for the year past at the Princess Theater, New York, is headed this way and will be seen for the second time in this city at the Orpheum Theater, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, March 9 and 10.

As might be expected, Anna Held's new musical comedy, "Follow Me," is said to be one of those effervescent Parisian affairs in which pretty actresses, flirtatious sprigs of nobility and American millionaires are concerned. Miss Held will come to the Orpheum, Monday evening, March 12, as a star in the role of Claire la Tour, the star of the Theater Varieties in Paris. The authors of "Follow Me" are Felix Dornann and Leo Ascher and that they have supplied Anna Held with a role that fits her as artistically as do her numerous gowns, goes without saying. The part which Anna Held will enact is that of a vivacious actress, one Claire la Tour, of the Theater Varieties in Paris.

There's a great comedy show appearing at the Majestic the last half of this week — one that Excellent Show vaudeville devotees at Majestic cannot afford to miss. Noodles Fagan, with hedge-podge of nonsense, puts over a solid laughing hit, while "Go Em" Rogers keeps the audience in uproarious laughter with his line of comedy talk, to say nothing of his singing and eccentric dancing. Other excellent acts on the bill are: "The Lingerie Shop," a delightful comedy "girl" act; Ray Bryant and Company, presenting a very good comedy sketch entitled "Texas Politics," and the Wilson Brothers, introducing some new and clever equilibristic feats. Coming—the first three days of next week—"Six Little Wives," the musical comedy tabloid hit of the season, with twenty-five clever people in the cast. This act will give the entire performance, and, according to a criticism from a metropolitan newspaper, it is full of fun and frivolity, singing and dancing, ridiculous situations, quick and snappy lines.

Pauline Frederick shares honors with Charlie Chaplin to-day at the Regent. Charlie Chaplin appears for the last time to-day in "The Slave Market," a thrilling romance of the Spanish Main, of pirates, love, hate, and all that goes with them. Charlie Chaplin the funniest of all comedians, returns to the screen in "The Fireman," his funniest, side-splitting comedy. In this picture Chaplin has abandoned his usual make-up and appears almost entirely in a fireman's uniform. But the public need not feel that they are going to be cheated out of some laughs on this account, for this fireman's garb is one of the funniest ever.

The rebel leaders here are favorably disposed toward coming to an understanding with Americans.
