of these blocks of tickets were not speculators." Mr. Hopkins said that insofar as he could learn, the speculator had only a small block of tickets, certainly not more than twenty-five or thirty. The man described as the ticket specula-tor, who operated near the Orpheum theater late yesterday afternoon, got a block of twenty-six tickets on the day the seat sale opened, said Hop-kins. "He came in, asked for twenty-six tickets,laid down $52 and naturally we sold them, as we did not know he was going to operate a hold-up game," said the manage. That the speciator did operate, and successfully, was attested to by a dozen or more people who purchased the $2 seats at the $3 rate which the gouger demanded. He placed himself in front of the Franklin building just above the Orpheum theater yesterday after-noon and openly, offered his seats at the $3 price. People who were re-fused tickets at the box office window were attracted by the cries of the spec-ulator and enough purchased seats from him to enable the smooth indi-vidual to sell out quickly and make a get-away. The designation of the men will be on their military aptitude, not by ex-amination. The department as a pre-cautionary step, it was explained, de-sired to establish this list of men deemed fit for commissions by officers under whom they have served. Same For Guard Same For Guard It is possible that a similar list will be compiled among National Guard regiments. If a volunteer army of any size were summoned to the colors these men would be drafted for train-ing duty as officers of the volunteers. The officers' reserve corps will fur-nish additional officers, some of the rank of major but as less than one thousand men are now enrolled in the corps it could not supply sufficient. officers for the volunteers. The department is conducting a vig-orous campaign to increase the offi-cers' reserve corps. Efforts are being made to enroll fifty men in each con-gressional district. Military aptitude, rather than experience with troops or present knowledge of military matters will be the governing factor in their examination.

Will be the governing factors in their examination. Wold Drain Regular Army The regular army may suffer in effi-ciency if its best enlisted men are withdrawn for duty with volunteers, but there is no other way, officers say, to provide an adequate training force even for a volunteer army of 500,000 men. If a million or more were to be trained, officers, of the force would have to be selected from the first 500,-000 organized, the regular establish-ment at present not being capable of supplying more than enough fully trained officers for higher commands and special service details requiring technical skill. In effect, the regulars will have to train first the force that is to train the volunteer army if a big force is to be raised.
