

WAGE UNCEASING BOOZE FIGHT

Host of Endeavorers on Continuous March Against Gambling Dens, Too

Christian Citizenship Department of the Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor Union is in a continuous work for the dismissal of John Barleycorn from the various sections of the State. The Endeavor host are on a continuous march against the gambling den, house of infamy, white slave traffic, pool room and near show.

Eight times the area of the State went "dry" in the November election. This territory contains a population of 5,500,000. Reform leaders expect to see the Legislature of Utah, Wyoming, and Florida fulfill their pledges by putting their States in the "dry" column within three months. When this work shall have been accomplished, two more than half (26) of the States in the union will have outlawed the saloon. This will give the temperance forces 209 votes in the electoral college. The temperance leaders have equal confidence that within two years Texas, Minnesota, and New Mexico will have joined the ranks of the "drys" thus giving the temperance workers a majority of the electoral college.

The Rev. C. H. Frick, of Wilkes-Barre, State Secretary of the Christian Citizenship Department, is doing excellent work in the county of Luzerne and all counties of the State are falling in line with the great movement and the Endeavorers are unanimous with the adoption of the slogan of "A Saloonless Nation in 1920." If that is not accomplished the young people will keep at it so that the nation will not become run-socked by 1920. The Rev. Mr. Frick has been elected president of the Luzerne County C. E. Union and with consequent success. The county has a membership of fifty societies.

C. E. Notes

The State Endeavorers will sing the above cheer soon on their way to the International Convention at New York in July, 1917.

The Endeavorers are opposed to capital punishment and favor life sentence instead. A number of saloons have been wiped out recently in the western part of the State, and the dries are very much encouraged in the advance steps toward a saloonless nation.

At the Park Street United Evangelical Keystone League of Christian Endeavor, W. E. Rickert and Charles Smith will conduct the services.

New Jersey and Maryland Endeavorers are contemplating putting a new field secretary in the States in the near future.

The State Executive Committee will hold its next meeting at Greensburg in October.

The following committee on awards of pennants, Miss Margaret A. Spencer, of Pittsburgh, B. W. Swayze, M. D., of Allentown, and H. K. Bragdon of Pittsburgh, reported that a pennant will be given to counties having the largest per cent of increase in membership by July first, 1918, and another pennant will be given to the county not having intermediate societies who organize in the largest number before July, 1918.

Miss Margaret A. Spencer, Pittsburgh, State superintendent of the Intermediate department, reports 22 counties have Intermediate societies who reported to the superintendent of their activities accomplished. There are one hundred thirty-six Intermediate societies in the States: Allegheny 48, Philadelphia 43, Dauphin 3, Northampton 6, Butler 4, Green 4, Westmoreland 4, Delaware, Blair, Lebanon, Luzerne and Mifflin each 2, Armstrong, Beaver, Clinton, Crawford, Fayette, Indiana, Lancaster and Washington each 1. Twelve counties have county Intermediate superintendents: Allegheny, Armstrong, Dauphin, Fayette, Green, Lackawanna, Lycoming, Mifflin, Northampton, Schuylkill and Washington. Twelve new societies have been reported, 8 in Allegheny, 1 each in Beaver, Clinton, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

Ross H. Derick, superintendent of the Intermediate Department, Dauphin county, is contemplating doing some organization work and expects to hold rallies in various sections of the county in the near future.

The decorations at the banquet given by the Luzerne County Endeavorers to the State C. E. officers on Tuesday evening at Wilkes-Barre, were the most elaborate shown in the history of the union. Wm. Davis, Harry Beacham, Misses Ruth Wetzell and Ethel Wilson, composing the Decorating Committee, made a hit which excelled anything ever given at that place.

Miss Grace D. Reimer, Missionary Department, Easton, suggested that a pennant be awarded to the societies giving the largest amount of missionary money for missions, at the State Executive committee meeting, at Wilkes-Barre, Wednesday.

Pennsylvania is progressing with its contribution in the Million New Dollars Campaign, for missions, adopted by the United Society of Christian Endeavor for two years.

The Rev. William Ralph Hall, of Philadelphia, gave many striking illustrations and reports on "The

Women Who Displayed Ankles Dismayed to Learn of Man's Fraud

Baltimore, Md., March 8.—Thirteen attractive young women who in their effort to land a job with a hosiery company of York, Pa., have recently made comprehensive displays of their legs encased in bright-hued stockings for the edification of an alleged representative of the firm are now very anxious to have the impudent fellow caught by the police. His name is withheld and so are the names of the women until the police have arrested the fellow and completed their case.

The women were led into the scheme by an advertisement asking for "twelve ladies between the ages of 25 and 35 years to sell stockings for a well-known hosiery firm. Must weigh over 165 pounds."

Applicants appeared at an office on Eutaw street and displayed their limbs, which, according to the confession of four upon whom the detectives called, the "representative" measured carefully to see if they were all that limbs should be. They were given bright pink, green, blue and red hose for the better display of those legs which passed the censorship of the tape measure.

The four were then instructed to enter a private room where they received instructions upon demonstrating to customers from door to door the fact that the particular hose which they hoped to sell did not tear at the knee. They were told that the salary for their personal demonstration work would be $25 a week. One woman was told she was a "perfect type" and could get a lifetime job with the company if she would but go on the road in York. She told a friend and the friend told a lawyer, who wired the firm in York and received reply that it had no such agent and resorted to no such methods.
