CHOOSES BETWEEN MONEY AND WIFE

$50,000 and a Cal. Ranch Look- ed Good and Pa. Man Took It

By DOROTHY DIX

A poor young man in Pennsylvania has recently had to make a choice between money and matrimony. A woman-hating relative died and left him a comfortable little fortune on the condition that he would never wed. The youth was engaged to a girl, but he promptly discarded her and qualified as a perpetual celibate under the will, saying in effect: "I love my sweetheart, but, oh, you plunks!"

The young man's decision was a sordid but perhaps natural one. Fifty thousand dollars and a California ranch—the amount of the legacy—would look might good to most impetuous youths. Besides which, a man might well argue that a wife is an expensive luxury anyhow, so in accepting the conditions of the bequest he would save money both ways—coming and going.

Of course, on the other hand, it may be said that fifty thousand dollars and a ranch are a happy lot. Why, for which to sell out the love of a wife, and the happiness of home, and of having little children about one's knees?

What Money Doesn't Buy

Never to have any love but the mercenary love of money; never to have any home but the barren shelter of bachelor quarters! Never to feel the cuddling of a downy head against your breast! What lands or money can pay a man for missing these?

Why, the chief good that a man gets out of money is the pleasure of spending it on the things he loves. Men take away from him his gold is counterfeit coin. It is not legal tender at the Mart of Happiness.

Why does a man want to buy jewels, and soft silks, and filmy laces? To check out the woman who has seduced him? To make beautiful and luxurious houses? To make a fitting shrine for the woman he worships? What robs his toil of weariness, and makes his sacrifices sweet? The knowledge that he is keeping life and children soft and warm and safe in the home nest.

The fun that a man gets out of his labor, the precious reward that makes it worth while, is paid over the counter of him in his wife's smiles, in the love-look in her eyes, in the faces of little children watching for his return of an evening, and the rapturous cry of "Daddy," with which they run to meet him.

What Money Buys

Eliminate these and what does a man's money buy him? The indulgence of vices that wear the soul and kill the body? A few suits, a bottle, and exactly like the other. The indifferent comforts of hotel or club, and the society of fat and tedious old rounders, telling endless stories about themselves. When he is sick—the ministrations of a hired nurse. When he grows old, the paralyzing consciousness setting about his heart that he has lived unloved, and will die unwept.

It is not a gay life, that of the old bachelor, and the foolish youth who has traded off his sweetheart and his right to marry for a few thousand dollars has sold his birthright for a mass of pottage that will set heavily on his stomach many a time in the long, lonely years of the future.

For the truth is that we can buy fleeting pleasure with money, but we cannot purchase abiding happiness with it. That must come from the rest and the peace of the soul, from the satisfied heart, and these have no price tag on them.

"WAGGIE" GOES HIGH UP LADDER

Newsboy at Third and Walnut Streets Now Proprietor of Big Book and Stationery Store

WAGNER HOFFMAN

From newsboy to proprietor of a large book and stationery establishment is a big jump; but not so big when you consider that the fellow who made the jump has been in training for several years.

Wagner Hoffman, who has been selling newspaper at the corner of Third and Walnut streets for fourteen years, quits to-morrow and on Monday opens up the book and stationery store at 438 Market street as owner—sole proprietor. "Wag" was able to make the jump because he kept himself in training during those fourteen years. With him the business of selling newspapers was evidently as worthy of applying sound principles as one Schwab considers them in the steel business, for he did just that, and as a result has joined the ranks of successful businessmen.

Hoffman purchased the store to-day from his brother, J. B. Hoffman.

In the fourteen years "Wag" has been on the corner he has sold thousands and thousands of copies of the Harrisburg Telegraph. He has a wide acquaintance among the politicians of the State and has regularly supplied four Governors with his wares. "Governor Tener was my best friend," "Wag" said this morning. Meyer Swimmer will succeed him on the "corner."

BEIDLEMAN BILL WOULD SAVE MONEY

size. This has been done by the Senator in order to win support for it among legislators who would not support the statewide bill because they did not want to disturb the collectors in their own counties.

"The bill is in the interest of good government. It will save the people of Dauphin county many thousands of dollars a year," said Senator Beidleman to-day, commenting upon it.

"The system now in use here is obsolete and costly. The receivership plan would work no hardship to anybody but would prevent thousands of dollars of county taxes being frittered away each year in collectors' commissions. I have every reason to believe it will pass. Certainly I shall use my best endeavors to have it go through."

Provisions of Bill

The bill provides that upon its passage the county commissioners shall appoint a receiver of taxes to hold office until January 1, 1918, or until his successor is elected or has qualified. The bill provides that at the municipal elections next November a receiver shall be elected to serve four years, and every four years thereafter. The receiver is to have a salary of $3,600 a year, and he may appoint two deputies at $1,500 each and not exceeding two clerks at $1,200 each, and the deputies are to have all the powers of tax collection conferred upon the receiver.

The receiver is to have an office in the courthouse which is to be open daily for the receipt of taxes. It is to be the duty of the receiver to mail a notice of the amount of taxes due the county within thirty days after he has received the tax duplicate from the county commissioners, the notice to give full information as to when the same is due, rebates allowed, penalties to be imposed, etc.

To Sit In Each District

The receiver or one of his deputies will be required to sit at least two days in each city, borough, town and township for the purpose of receiving taxes within ninety days from the date of notification would receive a five per cent. rebate and persons failing to make payment within six months after the date of notice would be charged five per cent. additional. Heavy penalties are provided for misuse of taxes collected or other irregularities.

FOOTBALL MEN TO MEET

New York, March 9.—E. K. Hall, chairman of football rules committee, has called a meeting of that body in this city on Friday, March 16.

It was first proposed to hold the meeting here on Friday of this week, but the later date proved more convenient for all concerned. No changes of a basic nature are contemplated, but a number of suggestions for minor changes will be made, and some, no doubt, will be adopted.
