Lots of "Snap" Lots of "Pep"

EVERY MAN WANTS IT EVERYBODY NEEDS IT

Tells How Cadomene Tablets Comes to the Rescue of "Nerve-Shot" Mankind.

A physician genius—a genius in compounding of medicine, originated three-grain Cadomene Tablets for nerve-wrecked people, particularly men, who are averse to taking liquid tonics, because of their inconvenience and usually nauseous taste.

This physician and numerous others unite in saying that a superior formula has never been compounded, to take care of the ills for which Cadomene Tablets are recommended. Just a small tablet, with highly concentrated ingredients, sugar-coated and easy to swallow.

The man with lots of snap, and lots of "pep" in his make-up, gets there, accomplishes life's purposes, is welcomed in any company, is a social favorite, with myriads of friends who seek his company.

The exultation and the joy of living radiates a magnetism that is irresistible in such a person—man or woman. Good health, strong well-nourished nerves, a cheerful mind, and hope eternal are ever present in the man of snap and pep. Some enjoy these blessings throughout life. Others for a brief period only—a few years at most—and then comes bleak, lonesome lives, and physical and mental decline.

There are many tributary causes, but always a "starved nervous system" is present, and manifested by symptoms, which even the public often suspect, and of few of which are, extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, sluggish circulation, lumbago, aching in back, headache, kidney disorders, dreadful dreams, timidity, fear without cause, and a general inability to concentrate the mind, and act sensibly and rationally as other men do under all circumstances.

Elderly people who are suffering from grippe and other debilitating sicknesses, who have lost appetite, nervous indigestion accompanied by weakness, aches and pains will find Cadomene the ideal tonic invigorating medicine they need.

A weakened nervous system will be indicated by some of the foregoing symptoms, and the treatment is simple, though most effective and lasting in its benefits. Go to your druggist, get a sealed tube of three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and begin their use at once. After you have taken them regularly a short time you will recognize the improvement in your feelings and sensations. Your appetite will improve, the food will taste better and you will begin to notice how springy is your step and how much brighter the world in general appears, and soon the "pep" and the "snap" of energy that a strong nervous system will be yours. Then you'll be glad you know about this marvelous medicine, Cadomene Tablets.

SIX-WEEK REIGN OF TERROR OF BRE'R GROUNDHOG ENDS

THE GROUNDHOG'S SIX WEEKS ARE UP TO-DAY—AND THE LITTLE HARBINGERS OF SPRING HAVE DECIDED TO TAKE MATTERS INTO THEIR OWN HANDS.

THE HOLD UP

FORECAST OF BAD WEATHER UPHELD

Now His Rule Is Ended and Spring May Be Expected to Come Forward

To-day the rule of the groundhog ends. Just six weeks ago Bre'r Groundhog turned in his long winter sleep, rubbed his eyes and glanced at his perpetual calendar. Finding it to be February 2, he ambled slowly out of his hole for the first look at the landscape since late last fall.

Bre'r Groundhog didn't need to go very far that morning to know it was neither the time nor the place for an animal that loved the balmy days. He had not ventured ten feet away until the 8 degrees above zero began to bite his tender nose.

Possibilities for the breakfast to his liking seemed very, very slight. When he turned around to obtain a better view of the cheerless landscape, reflected on the surface of the snow was another groundhog strikingly similar to himself. This was the last drop of affliction for the morning. To be dogged by a phantom brother on the day of his first annual walk was an insult and a disgrace. Some of his ancestors would stand for it, neither would he. Turning tail he streaked for the friendly shelter of his hole as fast as his short legs would permit.

Six Weeks of Bad Weather. True to the power that the ancient superstition gave him, he has sent the six weeks of bad weather. Variety is the spice of life and Mr. Groundhog exhausted every means at his disposal to give a collection of bad weather.

This morning when he awoke from the six weeks' rest and walked to the front porch of his den he found a sunshiny spring day that would delight the heart of a more confirmed pessimist than the groundhog. The old superstition limits his power to the sending of six weeks of good or bad weather to follow the six weeks of bad, but every other sign points strongly for the early approach of spring. Besides it is just as easy to blame those six weeks on the weather man as on the groundhog, but it is much kinder to blame Bre'r Groundhog. Despite the fact that he was much maligned during his winter vacation he slept on just as peacefully as ever.

The old-timers who warm their hearts with the tales of ancient folklore believe strongly in the disposal of the groundhog. To doubt his power in many sections of the state and country is considered blasphemous. Many an old-timer whose work is confined to "raisin' garden sass" this morning took down the rake to prepare the ground for the early onions.

Seeking Information From Other Cities on Ash and Garbage Surveys

Communications have been sent to the New York Bureau of Municipal Research and to a number of engineers in the state for additional information on ash and garbage surveys for the city. Commissioner E. C. Gross, under whose supervision the collection work is done, is planning to submit to Council in a few weeks, complete data on surveys, with recommendations for the selection of an organization capable of doing the work and suggesting to the city officials the best methods for refuse and garbage disposal.

Edward P. Bailey, of the American Surety Company, bonding the Pennsylvania Reduction Company, conferred again yesterday with Commissioner Gross on the results of the clean-up started on Monday in the Hill district. Four of the six crews of collectors who were at work on the hill started to-day in the downtown and 11 districts. Rain on Wednesday caused a slight disarrangement of schedules due to the refusal of some of the men to work. Mr. Gross reported. The inspectors who are working with each crew report daily number of wagons and men in the district and amount of work that is done. Decided progress is evident, Commissioner Gross announced.

RECEPTION TO SOLDIER-FIREMEN

This evening the reception tendered by the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association to its members and those of the different fire companies of the city, who served with the National Guard at El Paso, Texas, will take place at the Veterans' Home, 323 North Third street, at 8 o'clock. The guests will number about forty and all the members of the association are requested to attend.

THIRTY-SIX NEW MEMBERS

The Harrisburg Ladies' Nest, No. 1930, Order of Owls, took in a class of thirty-six new members at its regular meeting at Cameron Hall last evening. The officers were instructed in their ritual work by Supreme Organizer H. C. Morgan, who also made an address.

MARINES FIRE ON INTERNED TEUTONS

Two German Sailors Wounded While Resisting Arrest in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, March 16.—Two German sailors were shot and six others arrested at a late hour Wednesday morning at the League Island Navy Yard, when they were detected by United States marines in the act of sending messages from their ship, the Kronprinz Wilhelm, one of the interned German raiders at the Navy Yard, according to rumors which won credence throughout the city yesterday and which were not denied by Navy Yard officials.

Various stories told by members of the different branches of the Government service seemed to substantiate the rumors.

tempted to communicate with Germans on shore. Their motive, according to tales told, was to divulge information of importance, to German military authorities concerning the military secrets and operations of the yard which had come under their observation during their internment at the yard.

The keen eyes and ears of two marines doing sentry-go near the raider's gangplank detected the signals, boarded the ship, and made a tour of investigation. Stealing aft, they surprised a group of German sailors signaling to the shore. The quick challenge of the two marines startled the sailors and instantly they made a concerted attack in an attempt to avoid capture.

Overpowered by sheer force of numbers, the sentries, with left arms extended to ward off their assailants, managed to draw their service revolvers during the melee and fired at the sailors. Two fell to the deck wounded.
