WILSON REFUSES TO PLACE EMBARGO

commerce with the belligerents would in effect be an unequal discrimination. Nevertheless the note concludes, "the President would not be understood as desiring to impede the progress of a movement leading to the resumption of peaceful relations between all the belligerents and would not, therefore, with the Mexican government to feel that his inability to act in the present state of affairs should in any way militate against the attainment of the high ideals of General Carranza by the co-operation of other neutral governments in the use of their good offices and friendly mediation to bring the end of the terrible war."

War Plot Unearthed

The note mentions the "careful and sympathetic consideration, which the United States has shown to the proposal," refers to the now vigor of the warfare and goes on to say: "To render the situation still more acute, the government of the United States has unearthed a plot made by the government dominating the central powers, to embroil not only the government and people of Mexico but also the government and people of Japan in war with the United States. At the time this plot was conceived the United States was at peace with the government and people of the German empire and German officials and German subjects were not only enjoying, but abusing the liberties and privileges freely accorded to them on American soil and under American protection."

United States is based upon sound principles of international law," the conclusion says, and is consonant with the established practice of nations. The President cannot bring himself to consider such a modification of these principles or of this practice as compliance with General Carranza's proposal to suspend commercial relations with the warring nations would entail.

STECKLEY'S 1220 North Third Street Third and Broad Streets

As pretty as a Picture—Every sign of Wrinkles and Complexion Blemishes gone

How a muddy, sallow, aging skin can be made wonderfully youthful and beautiful through remarkable discovery of osmosis of the skin.

When you see a woman past thirty with no horrid crowfeet or pouches around her eyes, no enlarged nose pores, no deep lines of furrows about the mouth, and possessed of a clear, velvety complexion, you can be practically certain that she has used the secrets not possessed by the average woman. She may have as much cause for looking old and careworn as anybody, yet she is able to go on year after year, with never a sign of wrinkles or complexion blemishes, all the while preserving a fresh, youthful appearance. And there is really no reason why any woman between thirty and sixty should not look from five to fifteen years younger than she really is. It simply knowing the secret of just what to do. It ought to be a matter of pride with you to keep your complexion clear and your face youthful as much as it is to keep your hands and nails clean. But you cannot hope to be beautiful and attractive unless you give your skin full opportunity to act freely and renew its youth. No matter what your age, no matter how coarse, harsh and unsightly your complexion, nor what you have tried unsuccessfully, the moment you produce osmosis of the skin, you will be younger and far more beautiful. Many a wrinkled, hollow-cheeked, faded-looking woman has regained her youth and charm and awakened to find herself pretty as a picture with every sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes gone through this wonderful, simple method. Watch what it does for you! Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good roseated Ugly Nose Pores cream which you can obtain from the druggist. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream, after which use a pure specially adherent face powder like Poudre Petaliss or Poudre Fascination de Toilette. In three weeks or less you will be astonished at the change that has taken place. See how the old, hard-fresh, soft, youthful looking skin is before your very eyes, all due to simple osmosis of the skin, produced solely by warm water and roseated cream. But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams, and must not be confounded with them. Most women prefer Creme Tokalon Roseated. If you have wrinkles, use a box of Japanese Ice Pencils and use them in connection with the cream and you can get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing. For giving an indescribably beautiful effect to the neck and arms as well as suppressing almost immediately the appearance of all smaller wrinkles and marks of age, many women use a looking-glass in connection with this method of producing skin osmosis.

The above is one of a series of articles on beauty specially written by Mlle. Simone Marets, of Paris, winner of two great international beauty prizes, one in Paris, the other in London. Mlle. It is of Vital Interest to You

"Editor of 'The Philadelphia Record':

Did you every think about the part the newspaper plays in a boy's education? You and I send our sons to school, and try to keep a fatherly eye on their progress there. But we know that they learn more out of school than in it. We should be shirking our jobs if we tried to unload our whole responsibility upon the most competent of professional teachers. Therefore, duty compels us, in supervising the education of the youngsters, to look to the hours not spent in the class-room. It is our business, as fathers, to exercise a prudent censorship over the ideas and impressions our children imbibe through their amusements, their associations and their reading—particularly, I may say, their reading.

My friend Jones agrees with me in principle about this, but he falls short in practice. The Jones boys have a false and distorted notion of the values of life, which I can trace directly to a daily visitor to that family whose sinister connection with his sons' education the head of the house never suspects. He knows who and where his boys spend their leisure time. He regulates their friendship with discretion. He even interests himself in the choice of the books they read. But he overlooks the character-forming influences of their daily newspaper.

Jones pays, in taxes, to have his boys taught to use correctly the English language. But the boys are learning other lessons from their newspaper. They use the language common to the "funny characters" and pictures of scantily attired women. Bad grammar, worse slang, the cant of thieves, gamblers and sports—these they pick up from the daily conversation of their pen-and-ink heroes, along with a contempt for decent living, honesty, truthfulness and the virtues generally. From these same "comic" characters they have acquired a degraded sense of slap-stick humor and a disrespect for parental authority.

They read the sporting news, too—I find no fault with them for that—if only it were properly served! But their newspaper so glorifies the professional baseball player by printing columns upon columns of guff about him—AND EVEN PURPORTING TO HAVE BEEN WRITTEN BY HIM—that the Jones boys have come to look upon a professional baseball player as a more important man than the President of the United States and commercialized baseball as the axis around which all other mundane affairs revolve.

There are other things those boys read in that newspaper of which the less said the better. It has possibly never struck my friend's attention that the paper which he takes into the bosom of his family makes a specialty of exploiting the nastiness in the news. It never gets scooped on a divorce scandal, on the unrooking of a clergyman, on the police court case based on a "statutory charge." But a boy's curiosity is attracted by these things. Jones would horsewhip any scoundrel who should undertake to instruct his boys along these lines. But he would open his eyes at what they are learning at his own fireside.

My boy is perhaps no better than the average. But I am determined that he shall not, through my connivance or neglect, become any worse than the average. He has reached the time of life where he most needs my help, and I am trying to give it to him. I want him to read the daily newspaper—it's necessary to the development of intelligent manhood. And so he reads my paper—your paper—"The Philadelphia Record."

You would do Jones a great favor if you would point out to him the reasons why he had better take his own favorite newspaper to the office with him, if he must have it, and subscribe to "The Record" for delivery at his home.

In all sincerity, A CONSTANT READER."
