BIG INVESTMENT OF STATE'S FUNDS

About $300,000 Put Into Securities by Two of State's Boards

Three hundred thousand dollars have been added to invested funds of State agencies in the last few days, purchases of bonds having been made by the boards in charge from surplus funds which have accumulated in the last two months.

The State Workmen's Insurance Fund invested $150,000 this week, buying bonds which have raised the total of the invested funds of the fund to $770,000. In addition the fund carries $150,000 in cash for current business and is protected to the extent of $250,000 on its catastrophe hazard. It is estimated at the offices of the fund that its business this year will aggregate over $1,250,000.

The other investment was made by the State authorities for the State's fire insurance fund which was started a little over a year ago and now amounts to about half a million dollars. The State started this fund to carry its own fire insurance and will cancel all existing policies by 1920. It was the idea that $1,000,000 would be reached for this fund by 1920, but the figure may be touched in the next year and a half.

Code Has Slim Chance—The general impression is that the proposed anthracite mine code has a rather slim chance of getting through this session. Operators and miners are both opposed to it. The next hearing will be held on Thursday.

Referees Reversed—The State Compensation Board in a decision by Commissioner Scott has reversed the findings of the referee in the claim of Groves vs. Commercial Photo Engraving Co., Philadelphia, holding that there is no proof that the claimant's husband drank poison in a dark room of a photographic establishment in mistake for medicine or water while in the course of his employment. It is also held that there is no evidence that the deceased had medicine in the room. The opinion says "it is not necessary for us to further inquire whether death was self-inflicted." The board also reversed the finding of the referee who allowed compensation in the claim of Kupper vs. Spreckels Sugar Refining Company, Philadelphia, holding that there was no evidence to show that death occurred from excessive strain undergone while at work.

To Meet Monday—The State Economy and Efficiency Commission will continue its hearings on Monday at the State Capitol when the members will meet with the chairman of the legislative appropriation committee and discuss estimates with the heads of the Public Service Commission, the State Department of Health and other departments which have not yet been taken up.

To Discuss Armory Bill—The House Appropriations Committee will take up the State Armory Board's appropriation bill when it meets here next week. The bill plans to provide every organization not taken care of with a building, including Harrisburg.

Compensation Cases—The State Compensation Board last night found in favor of John Klein vs. Oliver Iron and Steel Company in a claim for loss of eyesight and reaffirmed its finding in the Swanson vs. Sharkey case from Windber.

To Discuss Sewage Plant—Commissioner of Health Dixon is taking steps to discuss the proposed sewage plant for Wilkes-Barre. The site is making the trouble there.

Bills Signed—Governor Brumbaugh last night signed the bill to enable counties to join with the State in improving roads. It is particularly applicable to Allegheny.

Death of Attache—James Connelley, of Pittsburgh, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, died at his home.

Seven Arrested—State police caused the arrest of seven persons for dynamiting near Phillipsburg. It is believed that a bad bunch has been rounded up by these arrests.

Long as Receiver—D. E. Long, Superintendent of Public Printing, has been named as receiver of the Mont Alto Manufacturing Company.

34 LIVES LOST IN U-BOAT ATTACK

says that Captain Christopher, commander of the American steamer Healdton, is among the survivors. The dispatch says a Healdton lifeboat with seven occupants was picked up by a Dutch destroyer.

The foregoing dispatch may be possibly another version of an Amsterdam dispatch received last night stating that a boat with seven Healdton survivors had reached the Dutch island of Terschelling in the North Sea. Conflicting reports in regard to the number of those who lost their lives when the Healdton was sunk by a submarine vary from fourteen to thirty-four.

Six Americans Saved
Amsterdam, March 23, via London.—The Handelsblad says there are only six Americans among the survivors of the Healdton.

In its account of the sinking of the Healdton the Handelsblad says: "The unreliability of the German assurances regarding the so-called safe zone is shown by the reports of the crew of the Healdton and the crews of fishing boats.

"For safety's sake the Healdton chose the northern route. All went well until Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock, when a submarine suddenly made a treacherous attack. Without fully emerging and without a warning it fired two torpedoes which hit the steamer amidships, so that the vessel, because of the dangerous character of her cargo and an explosion in the engine room, caught fire at once.

Boat Capsized
"The crew, in three boats, tried to leave the ship. Two sloops with 13 and 7 men, respectively, succeeded in getting away, but the third, containing 21 men, capsized and nearly all were drowned.

"The crew of a Dutch trawler which observed the fire from a great distance, believed the glow to be that of the aurora borealis, and did not go to the rescue. The next day, however, seeing a sloop under sail, they at once stopped fishing and steamed in the direction of the sloop whose occupants were so exhausted that they were unable to maneuver their boat alongside the trawler. The captain of the trawler finally managed to approach the sloop and some of the Dutch fishermen jumped into the craft and brought it alongside the trawler where the shipwrecked men were taken on board, cared for and supplied with dry clothes. All the property of the crew was lost.

"After the attack the submarine at once submerged and disappeared without troubling over the lot of the shipwrecked sailors.

"Among the crew of the Healdton

LITTLE, LADY, LOLLY POP LOLLS AROUND COUNTRY ON 20,500 MILE JAUNT WHICH POLICE HERE END

Lollypops in the hands of every street urchin a year ago were every ordinary things, but a real widely-traveled and cosmopolitan lollypop, dressed like the latest scream on a Parisian boulevard and that boasts a record of approximately 20,500 miles, is the possession of Desk Sergeant Charles Fleck of the police force.

This notable lollypop started its first lap on a journey last June that has since lengthened to a distance almost long enough to encircle the globe.

Mrs. Fleck and Miss Violet Dodge were two of a merry party that took in the wonders of Hershey Park at that time. After seeing all the sights they still had a Hershey credit check for ten cents. Lollypops were popular just then and the last check went for ten healthy looking specimens of the lollypop tribe. There were nine in the party which saved the famous traveler to history.

The survivor was brought to Mrs. Fleck's home in Broad street and laid away as a relic of the memorable trip. Miss Dodge went to visit relatives in Philadelphia. It was then the idea of sending "pop" to Miss Dodge occurred to Mrs. Fleck.

Seesaw Back and Forth
Carefully wrapped, it was dispatched to Miss Dodge at Philadelphia. In the same spirit Miss Dodge returned it to Mrs. Fleck. Then the real traveling began. Miss Dodge went to Atlantic City. Immediately the "pop" was dodging her footsteps at an Atlantic City hotel. Her stay there, however, was very short. Miss "Pop" was returned to the Capital City.

There were thirteen Americans, of whom six were rescued.

Thirteen Americans in Crew of Steamer Sunk by Submarine

By Associated Press

Philadelphia, March 23.—Thirteen American citizens were among the forty members of the crew of the American tank steamer Healdton, sunk by a submarine last Wednesday off Terschelling, Holland, with the probable loss of twenty more lives. Whether any of them lost their lives has not been learned, but fear was expressed that since the torpedo from the submarine was reported to have penetrated the engine room and to have been responsible for the death of 13 men, some of them will be found among the victims. Most of the other members of the crew were Spaniards, Norwegians or Portuguese. The chief engineer and three assistants were Americans. The tanker was unarmed, having left this port before President Wilson authorized the navy to furnish guns and gunners to merchantmen.

The Healdton, a tanker of 4,489 gross tons, and owned by the Standard Oil Company, sailed from Philadelphia on January 26 for Rotterdam with a cargo of 2,137,711 gallons of refined petroleum. According to Joseph G. Gabriel, local agent of the Atlantic Refining Company, where the tanker was loaded, the loss including cargo, will approximate $2,150,000.

Herman H. Parker, the wireless operator aboard the Healdton, was saved, according to a cablegram received here.

A week later when Miss Dodge stopped here on her way enroute to Omaha, Nebraska, the "pop" was secreted in her trunk. Upon her arrival at Omaha that pesky pop was discovered. Again, carefully wrapped, it was returned to this city.

Cosses Continent
Since that first jaunt almost across the continent, that lollypop has lollied its way six round trips to Omaha. It seemed a sacrilege to wantonly devour the traveled "pop" and both sides seemed sure of wishing it on the other party. The last time it was returned to Harrisburg its travel-worn features were scarcely recognizable. Instead of the former fat nose, eyes and mouth had been sketched upon it.

The original traveling trousseau of thin tissue paper had also become just a trifle travel worn. This was now replaced with a miniature silk waist and skirt becomingly draped to conceal the excessively slender waist of Miss "Pop." The costume was completed with a jaunty little knit cap that tilted becomingly right over the stenciled eyebrows.

Captain Fleck decided that Miss "Pop" had become much too precious to trust again to the United States mail. She was elevated to a place of honor on the family mantelpiece where it is intended she will remain until the next pleasure trip to Hershey. It is then the intention of Mr. Fleck to present M. S. Hershey with the distinguished personage and to tell Mr. Hershey the history of her young life.

to-day by his father, William Parker. The message was dated Terschelling, Holland. Mr. Parker said his son was 19 years old, and a native of Philadelphia.

The decision of the agents to have the Healdton avoid the danger zone and not call at Kirkwall for inspection caused the British authorities to put the ship and crew through a rigorous search. The British authorities told the steamer left Halifax she had orders to call at Bergen and then proceed to Rotterdam.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB MEETING
Mostly routine business was transacted at the meeting last night of the Friendship and Co-operative Club. A committee was named at conference with attorney regarding a State charter. The committee in charge of the recent ball made a partial report. Members having tickets were requested to return them at once.

SOCIETY

The Society Page of "The Record" is edited by Miss Agnes Repplier, 2nd.

And every woman knows that Miss Repplier's work is both interesting and reliable.

Miss Repplier has an unusually wide acquaintance, not only in Philadelphia and vicinity, but also in New York and other nearby cities and she writes most entertainingly.

And we may also mention that it is the custom of "The Record" to publish daily columns of news from hereabouts sent in by local correspondents, and naturally containing much of interest to you.

Of course, Society is but one of the many Women's interests featured by "The Record," for its daily Woman's Page, the first, by the way, ever published by a newspaper and still by long odds the best, covers fashions, cookery, home furnishing, domestic science—in fact, it covers everything in which you might be interested.

And all the big Philadelphia stores advertise regularly in "The Record"—so you get that news too. And some think that's the best of all.

Tell your Newsdealer to serve it to you regularly or notify us and we will attend to it for you.
