

OLDEST LIVING NATIVE OF HARRISBURG TELLS OF CITY BACK IN THE EARLY DAYS

Describes North and Paxton Streets Boundaries; Boys in Early 80's Were Bad Crowd, According to Description of John Sheets

Four score years and three have not dulled the memory of John Sheets, who claims to be the oldest living native of Harrisburg. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. Anna Snyder, hairdresser, at 205 Walnut street.

Mr. Sheets, was born in Chestnut street, August 23, 1833. His early schooling was meager and at the age of sixteen years he was bound out to Till and Main, boat builders, as an apprentice. He was to receive three months' night schooling, and during the slack season he was to have been sent to school. During the five and one-half years he worked for John Till he received no such training, and after his employer had kicked him, he ran away, having been gone six weeks. On his return Mr. Till through his attorney, Thomas Jordan, brought suit in an effort to have the lad return to work. The case was tried before Judge Pearson, and Mr. Sheets was released on the ground that he had not been treated according to agreement of the contract.

In 1854 Mr. Sheets married Miss Sarah Schriver, and the next year he and his wife removed to Pittsburgh and later to Allegheny. Here he conducted a small ship building business, during the Civil war. He returned to this city in 1873 and has lived here since.

Mr. Sheets, although 83 years old, has a wonderful memory. His nerves are steady and he does not appear to be more than seventy years of age. He related many interesting tales of his childhood, one very amusing one about Conrad Nebb, who at that time was high constable. According to Mr. Sheets, the constable was a sort of a tyrant, especially with the boys. They, on the other hand, were continually making things uncomfortable for the constable. He recited a song they used to sing, which riled the high constable considerably. The song follows:

JOHN SHEETS

Here lies the body of Conrad Nebb, The devil hasn't got him yet. He robs the poor to clothe the rich. He'll go to hades, the dirty old witch. Another song which was very popular during the childhood days of Mr. Sheets, was one which was sung during the presidential campaign of 1840. It follows:

Come all ye good Wigs of Ohio And all ye good Democrats, too; Get out from that foul party, And vote for Old Tippecanoe.

He also relates of how the boundary of Harrisburg, at that time was North street on the north and Paxton street on the south. He also tells of how it was one of his many duties while bound to John Till, to do the marketing for Mrs. Till. At that time open air markets were held on Market Square.

"You say the name is Cream of Barley?"

"And what are your other new breakfast foods?"

"More of that kind? Well, they're only an excuse for cream and sugar. We want real breakfasts—nourishing and appetizing."

"Cream of Barley—just the thing I want. How is it prepared?"

"Well! That's very simple! And I know barley foods are the most digestible because the doctor prescribed them for my little boy when he could not eat anything else."

"How interesting! If it's a favorite with athletes it must be nourishing."

Men Supplied With Lots of "Ginger"

Nervous Women, Too, Respond To Tonic Action of Cadomene.

Tells How To Do It.

"Ginger" has become a synonym for a warm, fervent, energetic, enthusiastic, cheerful frame of mind. When one is in such spirit, obstacles have no terrors, and success, with fame and fortune, presents opportunities which the gloomy, despondent, unhappy man fails to see or grasp.

To have "lots of ginger," your system must supply your nerves with all the elements of nutrition to make them strong and vital, so that the mind or spirit also can be sustained by nervous force.

No one can be happy with a toothache, and a toothache is just a suffering nerve. Doesn't that prove that the nerves control the pleasures and happiness of your existence? Starved nerves result in many illnesses, much gloom and little pleasure for the possessor.

When there are starved nerves, there is no "ginger," no "pep," no fire, no warmth, no vitality or magnetism. If you lack in "ginger," if you lack in "pep," there is a reason, and the reason is your nerves are being deprived of nutritive elements. What will correct this deplorable condition, you ask?

Cadomene Tablets is the answer, because they are designed for that particular purpose—a powerful, vitalizing tonic of purest kind known to medical experts—containing no narcotic or drug that can weaken—but only such as will strengthen and vitalize the natural, normal nervous forces. It may surprise you to know that in the past few years hundreds of thousands of tubes of Cadomene Tablets have been sold and every tube contains a printed guarantee of satisfaction or money back—and yet, to this date not one single patron has ever requested a return of purchase price on one tube or a dozen. Thousands have been benefited by this wonderful tonic for the nervous system, and you too can derive permanent benefit, if you are not brimming over with "ginger." Every well stocked pharmacy can supply Cadomene Tablets in original sealed tubes at $1.00 per tube or six tubes for $5.00.

NOTE—Fidely people with indigestion, who have sluggish liver and kidneys, who have neuralgia, rheumatic pains, and people recovering from gripe and other debilitating ailments will find in Cadomene a true tonic to restore good circulation, vigor and strength, far superior to alcoholic tonics which are really false stimulants.

Counts Razor Strokes; Fears He'll Be Crazy

Edgar R. Bruton, of this city, says that he is afraid he is going crazy if he doesn't find some way to stop counting strokes of his razor when he shaves.

If he cannot devise some way to break the habit, he declares, actual madness stares him in the face.

Several months ago he decided that he would see how many strokes it took to shave. He counted, shaving in his usual way, and found that he used too many. Then he set about systematically to reduce the number. Counting each time he shaved and eliminating the usual strokes, he managed at the end of a few months to cut the daily operation down. But now he has found that he can't keep from counting.—Moultre (Ga.) Dispatch.

Freeing Pupils From the Lock Step

"Little children come to the first grade full of activity, which we curb at once by placing them in rows of seats," say officials of the Bureau of Education in the May Mother's Magazine. "Yet we expect them to attain their fullest development in this artificial environment."

"In the city of Pittsburgh, during the last two years, movable furniture has been installed in the new school buildings for the first and second grades. This is a big stride towards practical accomplishment in freeing elementary education from lock-step practice."

POSTOFFICE CLERK NAMED

LUCKY STRIKE

The real Burley Cigarette

It's toasted

THE slice of toast that is made on your modern gas range is pretty good. But do you remember when they made it over the coals of the kitchen stove, with a long toasting fork? Browned just right, crisp, and buttered hot. Those were the days.

We've gone right back to this fine, simple old idea to make Lucky Strike, the real Burley cigarette. Yes, sir! The tobacco—it's toasted.

We made this discovery after five years of experiment. Before this you couldn't have a ready-made Burley cigarette; flavor wouldn't hold. And you certainly wanted it; look at the sixty million pounds of Burley you poured out of those green, red and blue tin boxes last year. "Blame good tobacco!"

So now go to it; Lucky Strike Cigarettes; delicious, toasted Burley. It's a new flavor—you'll enjoy the idea of the buttered toast.
