№ NEW MAGAZINE IS "MENTAL HYGIENE"

Books With and Without Echo of Great War Come From Big Publishing Houses

The introduction into the current field of literature of a new magazine called Mental Hygiene, devoted to the discussion of the mental factors involved in the problems of the individual and of society, should find a host of interested readers. Physicians, lawyers, educators, clergymen, public of-ficials and students of social problems will find the magazine of special interest in that it will follow out the lines of thought over which the minds lines of thought over which the minds of the above mentioned are wont to travel. This is a time of research and investigation into the realm of psychopathology, and Mental Hygiene meets a definite need in a way that will doubtless be appreciated. It will be published quarterly by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene.

"THE NEW LIFE"

Out of the profound unrest of our age there issues now and then a volume of vision and inspiration. Such is "The New Life," by Dr. Samuel Mc-Comb, just published by the Harpers. The advance of civilization has quickened the feeling of man's deeper needs. The elimination of suffering, the increase of physical comfort, the spread of a self-centered culture—these constitute the modern gospel, but there is here, nevertheless, an emptiness, signalized by the protest lifted against the conventions and tedemptiness, signalized by the protest lifted against the conventions and teddum that our life still holds. A new life and fuller one is demanded, sweeping away ancient hindrances and releasing imprisoned possibilities.

Dr. McComb's little volume undertakes to indicate the scope of this larger-existence and the method of its attainment. There is a sane and vigorous tone in his exposition and argument, and a translating of religious terms into their equivalents in mundane speech. Particularly illuminating are the pages describing the passing of the old individualism and the birth of a social conscience. The mastery of the will, and therefore of habit, is the secret of this regeneration—in psyspecifical language the suprising of

The wisdom of ages placed in a little sugar coated tablet—Sulpherb Tablets! Remember grandma's remedy—sulphur and cream of tartar mixed in molasses—it was a nauseous dose, but it saved thousands of lives by purifying the blood in the Spring. Thousands avoided rheumatism and serious fevers by taking it. Now you can get the benefits by taking a little tablet regularly containing the blood purifying, system regulating medicines

The work, written by Mr. Wells, Justice of the Municipal Court of New York City, is done in a humorough serlous manner, always comparing the unfolding of the court action to the unfolding of the drama. Intimate in the extreme, the book is written from the viewpoint of one on the inside, a most valuable asset in the work, when considered from the layman's point of view. Not any thought therein to treat a technical subject in an easy understandable manner. Throughout the whole work there is a finely drawn line of lenient humor for the present day methods, laying the blame where it belongs with an nclination to present the action of court as being somewhat antiquated, and disclosing the short-comings hereof. In conclusion Mr. Wells writes a chapter theoretically from a hesis delivered by a graduating juritical expert in 1947, showing in theory tow the present day system might be changed, showing how court practices have fallen into disuse between he present day and the mythical eyes and the m

Gilbert Cannan, whose new novel, Mendel, has just been published by the George H. Doran Company, is one of the few prominent English novel ists of the day whose work reflects nothing of the war. For all the reference to it in Mendel the war might never have begun! Cannan is, as a matter of fact, one of the "conscientious objectors" who have refused to fight on the grounds of an idealistic belief in the abstract idea of peace. He has stuck to his theories, and is now hoeing potatoes for the government as the penalty for his refusal to go to the front.

A DAY'S RECORD

Doubleday, Page & Co., established a new high record for one day's output of books this week when the Country Life Press bindery delivered 20,700 finished volumes to the stock room. The average output is about 12,000 books a day in addition to the magazines and the miscellaneous work done by the press.

Ladies' Nest of Owls Makes PLAN TO COLLECT Merry at Entertainment

HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

Nearly 100 members and friends joined in the merrymaking at the meeting of Ladies' Nest, No. 1930, Order of Owls, of Harrisburg, held in Cameron Hall last night. Several new members were Navy League Will Look After received into the nest.

The Italian string band played dur-ing the evening and was accompanied by Mrs. Amy Lutz at the piano. Mrs. H. C. Morgan, wife of the supreme organizer of the order, rendered a violin solo, and Mrs. Effic Sheaffer and Miss Eliva Tracy sang several vocal duets. A. L. Huber played the concert chimes. This was the last meeting that will be held before the charter closes to-mor-

PAYS DEBTS OF 1877

New York, March 30,—The Fawcett Linen and Paper Manufacturing Company at Cornwall-on-Hudson failed forty years ago. The concern, owned by Samuel Fawcett, owed money to many employes and dealers when it closed its doors. Wednesday Benjamin E. Fawcett, a son of the bankrupt manufacturer, appeared *at Cornwall and distributed checks to cancel the indebtedness of his father. Charles D. Smith, who as a boy worked in the paper mill, received his long-forgotten pay with interest in a check for $65. To his sister was given $30 for services rendered by her mother, who is now dead.

Juarez, Mex., March 30,-General landtag, acording to a Berne dispatch. Minister Brettreich is quoted as saying that the recent stock-taking shows that conditions are very serious and that there is a deficiency of 90,000 tons outside Bavaria, he said, are ven more unfavorable. The minister said that it could not be denied that during the war a certain friction had arisen between north and south Germany, chiefly due to the administration of the war.

Francisco Murguia, commander of the mortheastern military zone, issued a decree March 23, ordering that all who sold liquors of any kind be put to death at once without trial. Copies of this manifesto were received here in letters from the state capital and it was said in one of these letters that there saloonkeepers at Chihuahua City had been executed for violating the decree which was made effective March 23 to April 1.

T. R. IS WELL, DECLARES HIS HOST

Danville, Va., March 30.—Colonel Robert M. Roosevelt is in fine health and enjoying a successful hunt for devilfish, said a telegram received here to-day from Russell J. Coles, of this city, who is the former president's host on the expedition to South Florida. Colestelegram was in response to President Wilson's call for about 20,000 additional men for the navy. It is proposed to pay the expedition to South Florida. Colestelegram was in response to inquiries prompted by vague rumors that the Colonel had met with an accident.
