Aviator Who Died For France Hoped to Lead U. S. Flying Corps

By Associated Press

New York, March 30. — Sergeant
James R, McConnell, of North Carolina, the American aviator, who, while serving as a member of the Lafayette Escadrille, was killed behind the German lines in France last week, hoped to lead a United States army areo corps on the Franch front. In a letter just blead a United States army areo corps to the French front. In a letter just seeived here, he gave expression to last hope, together with the expectation that he and Lieutenant William haw would be shifted to the American viation service if Washington sent a price over seas. Since over seas with the service is the service of the season of the service because the Germans said the air would be won in the air.

MASONIC PROGRAM QUARTER OF CENTURY AGO

The program above reproduced was used by the Robert Burns Lodge at its twenty-second anniversary, 25 years ago. Many of the men then prominent in Masonic circles are dead. Others who participated in that anniversary are still interested in Masonic activities. Worshipful Master of the Robert Burns Lodge. The program of the twenty-second anniversary has been preserved by Albert M. Hamer, secretary to the Mayor, as a relic of the first Masonic banquet he attended.

Robert Burns Lodge Observes Anniversary With Great Celebration

Patriotism was the keynote of the forty-seventh anniversary of the grant-ing of the charter to Robert Burns Lodge, 464, F. and A. M., last night in Masonic Temple. The scheme of decoration carried out the patriotic effeet. Two large flags were draped in the rear of the speakers' table. An electric flag that flashed red, white and blue had been contsructed on the balcony of the hall.

Before the places of the Worshipfu! Master, the Senior Warden and the Junior Warden tables laden with roses had been placed. American Beauty roses tied with red ribbon, pink roses in a great silver wicker basket and yellow roses in a white enamel basket made up the floral scheme of decoration. Every available nook and window sill was decorated with flowers. Reference was frequently made by the speakers to the present interna-tional crisis. Jesse E. B. Cunningham, a Past Master of Harrisburg Lodge, No. 629, was toastmaster. The principal speakers were N. Frank Heckler, su perintendent of Masonic Homes, Elizabethtown, Pa.; Warren S. Seipp, of Towsen, Maryland, and Judge Abraham M. Beitler, Warden of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

Strikes Keynote

In the regular anniversary exercises revious to the banquet Arthur H. Hull delivered an eloquent address of welpatriotic impulse of the evening. He called attention to the long line of patriotic men who have served their patriotic men who have served their country as members of the Masonic fraternity, starting with George Washington and all the members of his staff, Chief Justice Marshall Marquis de Lafayette, William McKinley and many others. Charles S. Davis, a past master of Robert Burns lodge, presented the usual past master's jewel to Captain George F. Lumb, who was succeeded this year as master of the lodge by Charles P. Lusk. Other officers this year are Henry M. Gross and John M. Mumma, senior and junior wardens.

John M. Munma, senior and junior wardens.

Arthur D. Bacon made fitting reference to the late Henry Houck, who was for many years a beloved guest of Robert Burns on the anniversary occasions. As a token of respect to his memory the entire body arose and stood with bowed heads. The Masonic quartette, including Augustus G. Schantz, Walter E. Dietrich, Claude R. Engle and John N. Kinnard, sang several appropriate selections. Dr. J. George Becht, who was on the list of speakers, was unable to be present.

The committee on arrangements, to which much of the success of the affair was due, included: Charles P. Lusk, chairman; Henry M. Gross, John M. Mumma, George A. Gorgas, Charles C. Schriver, John Flickinger, Andrew S. Dellinger, George T. Baker, Howard W. Baker, Charles W. Boll, I. Birkitt Dickinson, Edwin C. Dewey, John C. Deen, Kohert D. Frazer, George W. Fisher, William H. Fisher, Frank G. Fahnestock, Jr., George C. Fager, William H. Hampton, Howard D. Hertzler, Edwin H. Hess, Walter Keister, Ira C. Kindler, John N. Kinnard, Samuel W. Kreider, R. Planning For Reunion

The Jubilee Reunion of the Harrisburg Consistory will be held May 16, 17 and 18. Special plans and arrangements are being made to make this reunion the largest and best ever held in the Valley of Harrisburg.

SUMMER SLEDS Instead of wheeling you down the mountains of Maderia, as you might suppose, the hardy natives slide you down. You seat yourself in a comfortable wicker chair mounted on a wooden sled fitted with steel runners and come down the rocky path of the mountain side as if you were sliding or snow. The human locomotive in the rear steers you down the mountain and pulls the empty basket-cars up again.—Popular Science Monthly.
