2,000 CITIZENS PLEDGE LOYALTY TO GOVERNMENT AT CARLISLE

Monster Patriotic Meeting Held in First Presbyterian Church, Where Similar Action Was Taken by Colonists in 1774

Carlisle, Pa., March 31.—Pledging their unswerving loyalty to the government in the present crisis and offering their services in any way which the Public Safety Committee may direct, 2,000 Cumberland county citizens participated in a monster patriotic celebration held here last evening. A committee of sixty men has been appointed to co-operate with the State body.

History repeated itself to-night, the main gathering being held in the First Presbyterian Church where, in 1774, action was taken by the colonists to throw off the yoke of England, probably the earliest action of its kind in the country. On July 12, 1774, a meeting was held in this edifice, presided over by Colonel James Montgomery, to take action against English oppression. James Wilson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence whose vote swayed the Pennsylvania delegation, was the principal speaker. The old resolutions adopted at that time were read at the meeting last evening by the Rev. A. N. Hagerty, pastor of the church, and a new one adopted, unanimously pledging the support of the citizens of the county to the national government and co-operation with the State committee. Dr. Guy C. Lee presided at the meeting in the church and the Rev. Dr. W.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM—To-night—The Messrs. Schubert offer "The Blue Paradise" Coming, Saturday, April 14—Henry W. Savage offers "Have a Heart." "MAJESTIC"—Vaudeville. "COLONIAL"—"Back of the Man." "REGENT"—"Ashes of Embers."

Local theatergoers will be afforded the unusual opportunity of witnessing the most phenomenally popular musical entertainment New York has enjoyed in the last decade, when the Messrs. Schubert present the Orpheum to-night "The Blue Paradise," which is only recently honored with a record Broadway run of one entire calendar year to overflowing audiences at the famous Casino Theater. Not since "The Merry Widow" has any musical completely captivated such a large and diverse audience. "The Blue Paradise," which will be presented in a fine company of fifty persons, including a chorus of Broadway beauties possessed of singing and dancing ability.

John and Mae Burke, appearing at the Majestic the last half of this week, are scoring a solid laughing hit at every performance. At the Majestic with their little comedy gem "War." The act is full of amusing situations, each one of which affords forth many outbursts of laughter. It is a bright musical comedy, in which the actors, complete with costumes, sacrifice their own comfort and convenience for the sake of their audience. The first three days of next week, Tom Brown's Minstrels. Grouped around this headline are Stone and Hayes, in a bit of rube character acting; Ed Farrell and Company, presenting a farce comedy, entitled "Suspicious of Hubby"; Hugh Blaney, Harrisburg's favorite, and the Vernons, comedy ventriloquists.

The main attraction to-day at the Regent will be Pauline Frederick in a return engagement of "Ashes of Embers," in which she plays the dual role of Marie and Agnes. The one, Agnes, is a sweet-faced, self-sacrificing druggist's daughter, who is totally without conscience and so utterly selfish that she even steals from the department store in which she works. The other, Marie, is a girl who has made Vivian Martin one of the most popular stars on the screen, which plays the dual role of Marie and Agnes. A thrilling drama of studio life.

"Back of the Man" is a woman, the kind we admire and love and fight for. The Rev. Plummer offered his services as chaplain should a regiment of volunteers be sent from this section in response to the call of the President. All made stirring patriotic talks and offered their aid in any movement for the welfare of the nation.

The members of Company G and the Eighth Regiment band were out in uniform and various other organizations attended one or other of the meetings. The Dickinson College Glee Club and a choir of church singers rendered patriotic selections. The committee of sixty men from all parts of the county will meet early in the coming week to formulate plans for an enrollment of citizens and industries to aid the nation.

DECIDE TO ERECT NEW BUILDING

West Fairview Residents Consider Question of Congested Conditions in Schools

West Fairview, Pa., March 31.—Taxpayers of the borough at a mass meeting in the Good Will firehouse last night decided to erect a new four-room building to relieve congested conditions in the present building and to eventually erect a larger building to accommodate all pupils as financial conditions will permit. A committee was appointed to get an estimate on a four-room structure and to secure a location. This committee is composed of members of the school board and are George Keefe, president; A. Hoover, secretary; L. S. Hatfield, treasurer; Walter Fisher, vice-president, and William Hoover.

Another mass meeting will be held as soon as the committee has collected the necessary information, in probably two weeks.

Professor E. R. Lower, principal of the school, said that there are seven teachers for 350 pupils, an average of about 50 to each, while many educational experts say that 40 pupils are enough for one teacher.
