OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CA-TARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

necessarilly requires constitutional disease and necessarilly requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional reatment and should prove especially effoacious to sufferers here who lived the control of parmit (Double strergisth). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of Franulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Closged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the custachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates obtaining the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, togsts little and is pleasant to the control of the cont

The bill which is to be presented will amend the present act so that an enrollment can be taken whenever the commissioners may direct.

Harrell, in charge of the Harrisburg district army recruiting office, this morning. "More recruits are needed and at once. We sent 150 away during the last ten days, but what is that when thousands are needed from this district alone?" he said.

Quartermaster W. E. Quirk, head of the navy recruiting station, also makes a plea for recruits. He sent five more men to Philladelphia this morning for examination and others are pending, but more are needed. Quartermaster Quirk is preparing a letter to be sent to every patriotic organization in the city, asking them to give him the names of men who might be interested in enlisting.

The directors of the Humane Society believe they are fortunate in securing a lecturer of such great personal charm, as well as international fame, at a moment when something radical must be done if the society is not to disband for lack of money to meet its running expenses.

Noyes has been visiting professor of English literature at Princeton University for the past three years. The remainder of the year he has spent at the front in the great European War, He barely touched on his war experiences on his former visit, but what he said without any attempt at harrowing or any infringement of the most rigorous censorship, showed that though a poet he understood the great world conflict as few men do. His later poems that deal with the war carry the tragedy of modern life home to each heart, and he recites them with a simplicity and beauty that is the highest art.

Anti-pacifists said they too would be at the Capitol whenever the pacifists planned to be there. They had instructions similar to those of the pacifists and long before the time set for the opening of Congress the telephone bells of Senators and Representatives in their homes and at their offices were tinkling with calls from both factions.

Louis P. Lockner was directing the activities of the pacifists.

"If we should fail to prevent war," he said, "we will continue to work for peace just as certain people on land have done all during this war in Europe."

have done all during this war in Europe."

David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford University and one of the leading pacifists, made an effort to see President Wilson this morning but the President was busy.

About 1,000 of the pacifists assembled on the steps of the main entrance at the Capitol and became so active that sequads of police drove them to the broad plaza while small delegations of the pilgrims jeered and hooted. The pacifists shouted replies and there was no mistaking foreign accounts in the words of some of the shouters. There were a few clashes between the two parties but nothing in the nature of serious fighting or disorder.

Delegations of pacifists held "war protest" meetings in their respective senator's offices.

One such delegation was rebuked by Senator Wadsworth when one of several speakers said America had been a "false friend" to Germany.

"That's calling my country a pretty harsh name; I don't care to hear any more of it," asid Wadsworth in terminating the interview.

Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, indignant over arguments of an Ohio pacifist delegation visiting him, told them:

"You are the best allies the kaiser has."

Pacifics With Tulips Discend on Washington

New York, April 2.—Several thousand militants and nearly a thousand pacifiets filled a number of special trains for Washington which left New York to-day, beginning shortly after midnight. Each pacifist carried a white tulip and wor an arm-band inscribed "Keep Out of War." Professor Elloy C. Stowell, of Columbia University, who led the war pilgrims, said he expected nearly 20,000 persons would go from New York on this errand. "Why should patriots go to Washington now?" begins a statement issued by the committee in charge of the war pilgrims. The statement continues "the hour has struck to put an end to the Prussian eligarchy and the house of Hohenzollern. There can be no peace or democracy in the world until those enemies of democracy bite the dust."
