

MAKES PLEA FOR LOWLY SANDWICH

This Form of Serving Food Is Very Seldom Used; Untold Vanity

Said the practical tourist, "Pray, what shall we take on our journey for every-day fare?" But the Arab guide smiled, the desert was wild. Yet he knew of some sand-which-is there.

A score or more years ago some inventive genius accustomed no doubt to carrying "cold snacks" during his ambitious days, reached down and lifted the humble sandwich up into the limelight of popularity. Result: the club sandwich, the bite containing all the chemical values of a complete meal and just big enough to satisfy that sort of hunger which does not care much one way or the other.

It is a peculiar fact that outside of the club sandwich, the "hot dog," the afternoon tea sandwich and the twin slices of the portable lunch box, this form of serving food is very seldom used. Yet it would be most inviting dish for Sunday night supper, for noonday lunch and even for breakfast. "Novelty! Give us novelty!" is the cry of the housewife. Then she proceeds to jog along in the same old put dishing up her foods in the same old way and wonders why her family are not more appreciative of her efforts. A wise woman makes of her family dining table a place of delightful surprise and unexpectedness. Friend Husband may not always approve but at least he will not grumble about her lack of interest and he will be on the spot with appetite whetted by curiosity.

This is the Lenten season when meat is not extensively used in many households, therefore it is a most excellent time to introduce the sandwich. The bread should not be too fresh (one day old is best) and the thinner it is cut the better. The crusts should be removed. They can be kept for crumbs or dipped in satter and fried for another meal. If butter is used it should be of good quality for in softening it in order to spread to better advantage any foreign flavor or odor will be brought out. It is not in the least necessary to use butter and mayonnaise both in the same sandwich. When using lettuce and mayonnaise alone for a filling I usually turn the leaves through the meat chopper then thoroughly mix with the dressing before spreading. This is not only the quickest way but the sandwich can be more easily handled and eaten. For formal afternoon affairs where guests retain their gloves it is a most decided help.

Breakfast Sandwiches Toast two slices of bread a golden brown and remove crusts. Butter thinly and spread between the layers two very thin slices of bacon fried crisp and dry and broken into fragments and the chopped half of a hard-boiled egg. Serve white hot with coffee.

Cut brown or graham bread very thin. Remove crusts. Flake fresh cod or any other meaty fish very fine with a fork and mix into a thick paste with white sauce. Spread between the layers and place in hot oven a few moments.

Vegetable Sandwiches For luncheon or supper a sandwich of vegetables is an excellent accompaniment to cold meats. Cucumbers and tomatoes chopped together and seasoned with French dressing make a good filling. Also cold peas and lima beans mashed to a pulp, a little sliced onion added in a double boiler with a little thickened cream sauce or unsweetened mayonnaise.

Butter Spreads Peanut butter, date butter, etc., make delicious sandwiches used with either white, brown or graham bread. Try moistening with mayonnaise and adding the chopped fruit or nut meats or some Philadelphia cream cheese.

Brazilian Nut Sandwiches Beat together one package of Philadelphia cream cheese and four salted Brazilian nuts, finely chopped, and a heaping tablespoon of strawberry jam. Add a dash of paprika and enough cream to make a smooth paste. This is best used between rye or brown bread slices.

A Popular Filling One can sweet peppers, 1 bottle stuffed olives, 1/2 pound cream cheese, 2 hard-boiled eggs. Put all together through meat chopper and add 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoonful sugar, 1 teaspoonful salt, dash cayenne pepper. When near the boiling point add 1/2 cup vinegar and let boil 20 minutes. Put in a cool place in a covered jar. This mixture will keep for some time.

Ginger Sandwiches Chop preserved Canton ginger finely by hand or put through meat chopper. Moisten with mayonnaise and spread between thin layers of white bread.

Fruit Sandwiches Stem and chop some figs. Boil with a small quantity of water until a paste is formed then add a little lemon juice. It is a good thing to know that a lemon well heated just before squeezing will give out nearly twice as much juice. Let the fig mixture cool and spread on thinly buttered slices of bread sprinkling with finely chopped nuts.

"La Camille" Corsets Give Proper Poise As Well As Grace and Beauty

The essentials of a good corset are that it should lace in front; its lower border should come to the level of the thigh bone and no lower.

It should be of suitable size.

It should be as lightly boned as possible.

It should be equipped with garter straps.

This is an exact description of La Camille corsets. The La Camille has a wonderful feature which is peculiar to itself, a feature that is patented and cannot be found in any other corset. It is the Ventilo back and front shield. It prevents any undue pressure on the spine, it is soft, yielding and comfortable, and yet has sufficient rigidity to impart to the back the "beauty line."

Front lacing corsets are best for health and comfort, and when the spine is properly held, all the organs are in their proper positions, and more properly perform their functions, so a properly corseted figure is a healthy one and it is a graceful one $2.50 to $12.50

Of rich quality Georgette crepe and crepe de chine they are softly winsome.

Many of the new arrivals for Easter are beaded, or embroidered or simply hemstitched in such delicate pastel colorings as flesh, tea rose, orchid, maize, amber and turquoise.

Blouses have seldom if ever been prettier, and the variety of styles is very satisfying.

New Arrivals in Lovely Voile Blouses

So attractive are they, all together, that it would be difficult to select one group of styles prettier than another one. Many of them are reproductions of fine quality, expensive creations, so simplified as to make them wearable every day through the spring and summer.

The trimmings are of Filet lace insertion, hand embroidery and little touches of hand drawn work with Irish crochet lace and deep collars beautifully trimmed.

The price range extends from $2.50 to $12.50 with many styles at $3.50 and $3.95

THE CHILD AS A JUDGE One reason why advice frequently doesn't have a better effect is that those who are most liberal in giving it are the most negligent about following it.

Before you can expect any attention to be paid to what you say, you must set an example which proves that you are taking your own medicine. This applies particularly when dealing with children.

More than likely they think that because you are older you should be more careful than they must be.

When you become a parent you took up an important duty.

If you are unwilling to meet all requirements, you should not be responsible for the existence of children.

The children have a right to expect in you all that is good and worthy of being followed, and when you do something which you have forbidden them to do you are falling in your duty.
