

WAR PROCLAIMED BY PRESIDENT

permitted to reside within the United States, refuse or neglect to depart therefrom; and to establish any such regulations which are found necessary in the premises and for the public safety;

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim to all whom it may concern that a state of war exists between the United States and the Imperial German government and I do hereby direct all officers, civil or military, of the United States that they exercise vigilance and zeal in the discharge of the duties incident to such a state of war, and I do, moreover earnestly appeal to all American citizens that they, in loyal devotion to their country dedicated from its foundation to the principles of liberty and justice, uphold the laws of the land and give undivided and willing support to those measures which may be adopted by the constitutional authorities in prosecuting the war to a successful issue and in obtaining a secure and just peace;

"And acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of the United States and the said sections of the revised statutes: "I do hereby further proclaim and direct that the United States and its subjects of German, being male, at the age of fourteen years and upwards, who shall be within the United States and not actually naturalized who for the purpose of this proclamation and under such sections of the revised statutes are termed alien enemies, shall be as follows:

Must Preserve Peace "All alien enemies are enjoined to preserve the peace towards the United States and to refrain from crime against the public safety and from violating the laws of the United States and of the States and Territories thereof and to refrain from actual hostility or giving information, aid or comfort to the enemies of the United States and to comply strictly with the regulations which are hereby or which may be from time to time promulgated by the President and so long as they shall conduct themselves in accordance with law they shall be observed in the peaceful pursuit of their lives and occupations and be accorded the consideration due to all peaceful and law abiding persons, except so far as restrictions may be necessary for their own protection and for the safety of the United States and towards such alien enemies as conduct themselves in accordance with law, all citizens of the United States are enjoined to preserve the peace and to treat them with all such friendliness as may be compatible with loyalty and allegiance to the United States.

Liable to Restrain "And all alien enemies who fail to conduct themselves as so enjoined in addition to all other penalties prescribed by law, shall be liable to restraint or to give security or to remove and depart from the United States in the manner prescribed by Sections 4069 and 4070 of the revised statutes and as prescribed in the regulations duly promulgated by the President:

"And pursuant to the authority vested in me, I hereby declare and establish the following regulations, which I find necessary in the premises and for the public safety:

Must Surrender Arms "(1) An alien enemy shall not have in his possession at any time or place any firearms, weapons or implements of war, or component parts thereof, ammunition, Maxim or other silencer, arms or explosives or material used in the manufacture of explosives:

"(2) An alien enemy shall not have in his possession at any time or place or use or operate any aircraft or wireless apparatus or any form of signaling device or any form of cipher code or any paper, document or book, written or printed in cipher or in which there may be invisible writing; Must Keep Close Rules "(3) All property found in the possession of an alien enemy in violation of the foregoing regulations shall be subject to seizure by the United States.

"(4) An alien enemy shall not approach or be found within one-half of a mile of any federal or state fort, camp, arsenal, aircraft station, government or naval vessel, navy yard, factory or workshop for the manufacture of munitions of war or of any products for the use of the army or navy;

"(5) An alien enemy shall not write, print or publish any attack or against the persons or property of any person in the military, naval or civil service of the United States or of the states or territories or of the District of Columbia or of the municipal governments thereof;

Must Remain Neutral "(6) An alien enemy shall not commit or abet any hostile acts against the United States or give information, aid or comfort to its enemies;

"(7) An alien enemy shall not reside in or continue to reside in, to remain in or enter any locality which

Beautiful Store Rooms Will Lend Attractive Air to New Hotel

The grill room and store floor plan of the new Penn-Harris Hotel as shown in the above etching is carefully designed with an eye for beauty and service.

Flanking the main entrance in Third street will be seven large modern store rooms. They will be modernly furnished inside and large display windows will give an abundance of natural light. On the Walnut street side is another entrance while the corner with an unobstructed view of Capitol Park will be the grill room.

In the rear on the same floor are the serving pantry, barber shop, manicure tables, boot black stands, freight and baggage receiving rooms and a cashier's desk.

Eggs, potatoes, onions, peas, beans—everything in the food line soaring beyond the family purse, except Shredded Wheat Biscuit, the standard whole wheat cereal food, which sells at the same old price. The New York World urges people to boycott the egg and other expensive foods and eat cereals which have a higher nutritive value at a lower cost. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk make a complete meal at a total cost of four or five cents, furnishing all the nutriment one needs. For breakfast with milk; for supper with sliced bananas or stewed prunes. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

VIOLENT RAIN HITS CITY

A violent wind and rainstorm held Harrisburg in its grip yesterday. A steady downpour, whipped by a strong wind from the East, continued throughout the day and increased its fury after dark. The streets were transformed into rushing riverlets. To-day the storm abated.

Weather Forecaster E. R. Demain promises clear weather to-night with a slightly lowered temperature. He would not comment on Easter's weather. Many flags were ripped by the wind.

PLUGS GUN WITH HAND

London, April 6. — One of the most reckless feats of daring reported during the war is recorded in a list of military awards just issued. Private Daniel Hall who won the Distinguished Conduct Medal, "put his hand over the muzzle of a trench mortar as it was fired in order to prevent the shell from hitting a man who had inadvertently stepped in front of the gun."

WOMEN OPERATIVES

London, April 6. — New contracts being let by the government for munitions provide that eighty per cent. of the operatives must be women. This is done with a view to keeping down to a minimum the number of men employed in munitions factories.

STRONG PROTEST AGAINST REMOVAL OF FIRE ENGINE

Paxton Company and Downtown Residents Up in Arms Against Action of Gross

Downtown residents and members of the Paxton Fire Company, one of the oldest in Harrisburg, are up in arms over the proposal of Commissioner E. Z. Gross to take the Paxton engine away from the company and place it on Allison Hill.

It is understood that the Commissioner has in mind the abolition of the Paxton company although that has not been definitely announced to the company. At all events the taking of the engine would leave the company with only a hose wagon. Petitions are in circulation which will be presented to Council protesting against leaving this part of the city unprotected. The petitions have been signed by all the property owners along Cameron and Second streets in the part of town affected and by scores of others.

Commissioner Gross made the following statement about the proposed change:

"The transfer of the Paxton engine will be done with a view to economy in the department. If, however, the citizens by voicing their opinions in petitions show that they think my priorities are not the best advantage, and they want the engine retained, I will have to be governed accordingly. "Recently I conferred with the fire underwriters and was given to understand that the big Allison Hill district must have more protection than will be afforded when the new triple-pumper is put in service at the Mt. Pleasant.

"At present, with the Mt. Pleasant steam engine out of service, there are only three chemical wagons in that entire district. Unless the Paxton engine is sent there—and it is the only available extra piece—there will be two chemical wagons, a triple-pumper and chemical hose wagon, and one service truck for that section, which is approximately one-third of the territory of the city.

"A careful study of the situation has convinced me that the Paxton engine is no longer needed in South Second street. The small district which it is situated in, is within four blocks of the center of the city. For protection there will be the Citizen Friendship engine and chemicals, both at the Friendship hotel on Third street, and the Washington chemical at Second and Chestnut streets. All of these will be able to reach any case in the small South Harrisburg district west of the Pennsylvania railroad, within a very few minutes, and on the other side of the railroad Susquehanna company will be available, too.

Needs Another Engine "While a number of persons will probably sign petitions to have the engine retained, I feel sure that this is done largely because of sentimental feelings, and not with a full understanding of the needs of the entire city.

"In the South Harrisburg district practically all available territory has been developed. On the hill we are confronted with the needs of rapidly developing residential sections and increasing manufacturing fire hazards. Lumber yards, factories, coal pockets and several other smaller industries have been started there. Houses are being built to the extreme city line, and reach any case and the proper fire protection another engine is needed, I believe.

Confident of Decrease "In order to have the 16-cent increase in the city fire insurance rates cut down, every part of the city must be adequately covered. I am confident the transfer of the Paxton company will be approved by the underwriters when we have a rating for the city."

Commissioner Gross went on to say that he had no objections if the Paxton organization was kept up by the members. Other transfers will include placing the Citizen apparatus at the Friendship, and the Mt. Vernon ladder truck at the Hope. These are necessitated by the abandoning of the houses of those companies, as they are in the Capitol Park Extension zone.

Licensed Aviator Is Enlisted For Army Through Local Office

The Harrisburg District for army recruiting with headquarters in the Bernger building is keeping up its record of twenty-one men a day and it was expected that this number would be increased to-day, as twenty-one were enlisted before 3 o'clock.

Postmaster William V. Dunlevy, of New Market made application to enlist his fifteen-year-old son, George J. Dunlevy, a week ago and special permission was asked for by Captain William F. Harrell, in charge of the Harrisburg District. Word was received to-day that permission would be granted and young Dunlevy will be sent to Fort Slocum. While he is only fifteen years old he is of a rugged build and stands five feet nine inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

Yesterday George S. Spaulding, of Reading was enlisted in the aviation corps. He is a licensed aviator, having graduated from the San Diego, Cal. aviation school, which was formerly conducted by the Wright brothers, but which has been taken over recently as the Government Aviation School. Spaulding holds a license with the American Aviation Association. He was sent to the supply station at Fort Wood, N. Y.

Quartermaster Quirk, of the naval recruiting office announced that to-day was a slack day and that only one applicant was sent to Philadelphia. During the week nine have been sent from the local office.

Saxon Roadster Given to U. S. For Recruiting

Saxon Roadster was among the first to respond to the President's call for recruits for the United States navy. Within twelve hours after the word was flashed over the country that the navy needed 19,000 more men, a Saxon roadster was in the service of the recruiting officer at Detroit.

It was placed at his disposal by H. B. Loveland, local Saxon dealer. Mr. Loveland read of the call for men for the navy at the breakfast table. He also read that Lieutenant W. R. Richardson, in charge of the recruiting office at Detroit, desired some motor cars for use in his work.

"Will you accept the services of a Saxon car, to be used as long as you care to have it?" asked Mr. Loveland of the lieutenant, as soon as he could get in touch with him.

"Glady," answered the naval officer. And inside of two hours a roadster was decked out in flags and recruiting banners and manned by a jackie, who formerly was an automobile worker in a Detroit plant. Mr. Loveland offered the car without any reservation as to time or place it was to be used. At present the car is on active duty on the streets of Detroit, performing tasks of routine for the recruiting station and acting as a powerful appeal to the young Americans to enlist in the service. Mr. Loveland's action is heartily endorsed by the Saxon Motor Car Corporation. It is believed the entire dealer organization stands ready to aid the government in this capacity.

Women! Keep This On Dresser! Never Let Corns Ache Twice Instantly! Few drops stop corn-softness, then corns and calluses shrivel, loosen and lift out with fingers—No pain!

The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered freezeone, the new ether drug. Small bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. You simply apply a few drops of this freezeone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose and shriveled that you lift it off with the fingers. Not a bit of pain or soreness is felt when applying freezeone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin or flesh.

Miss Fairfax Answers Queries

JEALOUSY!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am engaged to a young man, both of us being of a sensible age. We love one another dearly. Recently we visited a friend's house, this couple also being engaged. They played the victrola and started to dance. After each couple having a few dances, my girl friend's fiance asked me for a dance and asked me to dance with him. He would mind, but my fiance refused.

He asked me not to dance with any of the male sex because it hurts him. I am now asking you for advice on this subject.

It is not ill-breeding or lack of manners that causes your fiance's conduct, but a thing which goes far deeper than that. He is a man capable of almost primitive jealousy and his feeling of exclusive possession leads him to extremes of consciousness which are not all ordinary. You must do one of two things: either refrain from going to dances and so postpone the question for the time being, or go into it deeply now, realizing I must force you to face it again in other ways during your married life unless your fiance can conquer himself. If he loves and trusts you, if he does not put an unpleasant interpretation on the simplest acts of social life, he will come to be rather ashamed of the selfishness, the jealousy and even the evil-mindedness which cause him so much unnecessary suffering.

NOT IN GOOD TASTE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young American girl married to a German. My husband's friends are also all German. When at any time we make visits to one another they converse among themselves in their own language, leaving me to guess their conversations. Now, as they know that I do not understand, do you think it good breeding to do so? Is it unkindlike for me to interrupt with a "what was that?" I don't think that any one of good standing would like to make a visitor or hostess feel out of place, do you? It really gives one the most uncomfortable feeling.

PERPLEXED

It is never kind for people to talk in whispers which exclude their number, to refer to incidents which are unfamiliar to one of the party or to converse in a tongue foreign to anyone present. But it may be exceedingly difficult for these Germans to express themselves fluently in English. Why not be gracious and try to learn your husband's tongue? Attend pleasantly to the conversation and perhaps your eagerness and sweetness will win your consideration.

CLERGYMEN TO FIGHT

Capetown, April 6. — A party of fifty clergymen, including every remaining clergyman of military age in the Pretoria Diocese, will leave shortly after Easter for war service at the French front.
