The outlok for a promising team next year is bright as none of this year's team is lost by graduation. In fact, the team this season was composed of Freshmen with but one exception.

MONDAY EVENING.

Scranton, Pa., April 9.—By the end of the coming week most of the candidates for jobs on the Scranton team, of the New York State League, in the 1917 race, will have reported to Manager Bill Coughlin at the Athlete Park training grounds.

It is Bill's plan to bring on the rookie and veteran pitchers and catch.

paces for a few days and have them in good shape for the rest of their teammates when they report. Coughlin has a definite plan for the coming campaign though he is not telling it to any one but Owner Robert Allen, who has held numerous conferences with the team pilot during the winter.

For in that list there was not a single player who was in the National League when I broke in, fifteen years ago. There wasn't a single player left who was in the retire, I was the veteran."

Elmira, N. Y., April 9.—All the veteran players on the local New York League team began to shake in their boots to-day when Manager Jimmy Jackson made the announcement that he contemplated a big shake-up in the personnel of the club.

Two new candidates for first base, a new shortstop who comes highly recommended, and a hard-hitting outfielder are among the latest candidates for positions on the team, according to Jackson's statement.

Local fans are expecting to see an almost entirely new pitching staff and the vectors are stated and the vectors.

The Game's Wonder

Tif Evers was physically strong his steel made nerve would have taken him along over indefinite paths. He has gone on forward where the average long ago would have faded back into the mists and the records. He may not be any philospher upon the field where his intense earnestness often carries him further than he should go, but for all that he is the wonder of baseball—a sight, lone figure still holding the voad beyond the pack with his old clan dismantled and dispersed by Time—still holding the way with his head up—a human splinter—a bundle of raw nerves—piking along with no one between him and the setting sun as he moves along on a line parallel with destiny and fate.

The answer is simple enough. Of all who ever played he was the vital spark at its greatest glow.

Local fans are expecting to see an almost entirely new pitching staff and the veterans will have to hustle to keep their jobs. It is also expected that with the exception of Second Baseman Loudy the infield will be entirely new. John L. Sullivan, the hard-hitting outfielder who was one of the stars of the league last year, will not return to baseball this year, as he has announced that he has obtained a good position in Williamsport, and expects to make a little extra money playing games on Saturday afternoons and holidays. Manager Jackson received some good cheer to-day from Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn team, who promises Jackson that he will send him a couple of clever young twirlers before May 1. tion of a board of censorship composed of writers on sports, which has been submitted to Governor Whitman, does not save the Frawley law, then the case is hopeless.

The proposal has real merit, for it would be hardly possible for a board composed of twenty-four writers to go far wrong on any question. There would unquestionably be radical differences of opinion, as is the case in decision on bouts, but when a majority of twenty-four boxing critics voted in favor of any proposition it would prove in a majority of instances to be a correct solution of the problem.

board effective it should be understood that the Boxing Commission would immediately put into force any and all reforms voted by the board of censors. The shortcomings of commission rule in this State have been so papipable and so easy to avoid that no one that should be applied. There is not a critic of boxing in the State who cannot offer valuable usgrestions as to remedies for evils that now beset the sport, the adoption of which would result in instant improvement.
