

MANY RIVERS SUPPLY THE U. S.

Advice For Handling Corn Fields That Overflow Is Given

Washington, D. C., April 10.—In the United States there are more than ten million acres of good corn land subject to overflow. The greater portion of this yearly is planted to corn. No other crop is better adapted nor so generally grown on this land as corn. Twenty times as many acres of corn are subject to destruction by floods as are planted in the whole of New England. The amount of land subject to overflow, but otherwise admirably suited to corn, and the greater part of which is yearly planted to corn, exceeds the combined area of New Jersey and Massachusetts.

When droughts cause corn on the uplands to fail, the river bottom lands usually supply good yields. Fortunately only certain sections are visited each year by spring and summer floods. Not knowing beforehand what section will be flooded, it is the patriotic duty of those farming river bottom lands to have in readiness suitable seed corn for planting on overflooded lands as soon as the floods subside. When the floods occur in the spring, the planting should be made with home-grown seed as it usually produces better than imported seed. When the floods occur as late as June, it will be advisable to plant early-maturing varieties, seed of which is plentiful this year and can be obtained from the seed-corn men and seed dealers of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and New York.

Many Good Varieties
Where there are three months or more of good growing weather remaining after the planting of the land, such varieties as Leaming, Iowa Silver Mine, Silver King, 100 Day Bristol, 90 Day Dent, 90 Day Flint, etc., should be planted. If less than ninety days of corn-growing weather remain, such varieties as Pride of the North, Rustler's White Dent, Minnesota No. 23, U. S. Selection No. 132, Northwestern Dent, North Dakota White Flint, etc., should be planted.

This seed is obtainable now and will hold its powers of germination and productivity for three or four years. It is therefore advisable that all who have crops liable to destruction by floods should obtain now and maintain a suitable supply of seed for prompt planting in case of high water. Experience has shown that if such seed is not on hand when the floods come, that it is seldom possible to make up for the loss. Those who sell seed usually have disposed of their surplus by the time the general corn planting is completed. Obtain seed now and be prepared. C. P. Hartley, in charge of corn investigations, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

PRODUCE INFERTILE EGGS

Save the Spoilage That Comes From Letting the Male Bird Run With the Flock

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The farmers of the United States lose each year large sums because of improper methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third at least of this loss is easily preventable. It is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs.

The eggs laid by a hen may be either fertile or infertile, depending on whether or not the male bird has been allowed to run with the female. A fertile egg is one in which the germ has been fertilized by the male bird. Except for this process of fertilization, the male bird has no influence upon the eggs which the hens lay. Egg production is equally great in flocks from which roosters are excluded. A fertile egg does not keep as well as an infertile one because the fertilized germ responds more readily to high temperatures than the unfertilized one. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or to cause a blood ring to form in one. Such eggs are much more likely to reach the table in good condition and there is much less spoilage in shipments composed entirely of them than in mixed shipments of fertile and infertile eggs.

After the hatching season, therefore, the male birds should be cooked, sold or confined. In approximately 14 days after this all the eggs laid by the hens will be infertile. These can be marketed much more successfully under the adverse conditions that frequently prevail in the hot summer months.

Rules For Handling Eggs on the Farm
Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing, but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns.

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

"DRY" PROSPECTS CAUSES WORRY

One of the Possible Horrors of War; Military Preparedness Against Disease

New York, April 10.—Broadway has long been considered the main line to trenches of the Grand Old Army of General Alcohol. His sturdy troops have leaned over the Midway breast-works and philosophically watched the cold water artillery drive in the Western and Southern picket-lines. Little worried were they by the evacuation of the Middle Western outlying trenches and the threat of flanking movements in the Northeast.

"Let 'em come down to the Bronx," they cried. "They can sweep Jersey and close up Brooklyn. We can hold this tight little island for our own and accommodate all the suffering refugees to boot. It'll help business."

Then came the war in Europe—the alarming rear attack that has swept the belligerent countries into the Prohibition Domain. Now with American war imminent, the foe is at the undefended rear gate with old Field Marshal National Prohibition in command.

"I'm afraid it's coming!" said a disconsolate drummer in a Broadway cafe. "They'll be calling this little old pike Sahara Lane before long."

"Trouble is," contributed a traveler back from Europe, "the Prohibition in this country are too blamed radical. They're putting the lid on everything with a suspicion of alcohol in it. In Europe prohibition laws exempt malt liquors with a low alcohol percentage. They're considered temperance drinks. Norway, where they've reduced drunkenness to a minimum, has the most sensible arrangement I think. Liquor with five per cent. of alcohol or less is sold unrestricted, just as we sell soft drinks. Then for the fellow who thinks he absolutely must have real hard stuff, they establish in a community where enough signers request it, a dispensary backed by the government and run without profit. It is open only two hours a day and nobody can get more than one drink a day."

Campaign Against Disease
To-day a well organized campaign against disease is recognized as a fundamental part of preparedness for war. Armies of the past have been decimated by plagues which have one by one succumbed to modern preventive medical science. In our own Spanish war typhoid proved more deadly than bullets. Since that day anti-typhoid vaccine has conquered this scourge.

With another war pending, American medical science turns its attention to the less virulent but none the less deadly foe, tuberculosis. Great interest has been aroused here, therefore, by the request of the Council of National Defense to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which has headquarters in this city, to conduct a country-wide survey of the situation with a view to mapping out a program for combatting this disease in the American army.

The association will report the results of this study which should be of incalculable value in enlisting the members of the general medical profession in this branch of preparedness, and through them the public at large. A vast fund of new scientific knowledge has been acquired in this field in the last ten years, knowledge that has revolutionized medical practice. Much of this, I gather, the general practitioner has yet to learn.

The Senate this morning passed without a dissenting voice the resolution previously adopted by the House suggesting that in view of the entrance of the United States into the European war the State Highway Department proceed to the immediate completion of the trans-State thoroughfares which are part of transcontinental highway system. While this resolution does not name any particular roads it applies to the only two highways in Pennsylvania which are part of transcontinental system—the William Penn Highway and the Lincoln. The former passes through Harrisburg. The latter through Lancaster.

Full Dress Not Always Formal, Student Finds

Manhattan, Kan., April 10.—Much to his chagrin a student in agriculture at the Kansas State Agricultural College here discovered the other day that "formal" may apply to other things than dress. In response to a notice to make a "formal" application for his degree, to be received at the Spring graduation, this student senior rented a full dress suit, and thus duty accoutered presented himself at the office of the registrar. Not until a titter of giggles from co-ed clerks greeted his ears was he aware of his mortifying mistake.

Suspends Pupils Who Refuse to Salute Flag

Sumter, Ore., April 10.—Because they refused to salute the American flag eight pupils are barred from attending school by order of J. W. Kausman, superintendent. The parents took the matter before the School Board and the board upheld the superintendent. To-day more than one hundred adults marched to the school and participated in the patriotic program with the children.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

Pretty as a Picture—Every sign of Wrinkles and Complexion Blemishes gone

How a muddy, sallow, aging skin can be made wonderfully youthful and beautiful through remarkable discovery of osmosis of the skin.

When you see a woman past thirty with no horrid crowfeet or pouches around her eyes, no enlarged nose pores, no deep lines or furrows about the mouth, and possessed of a clear, velvety complexion, you can be practically certain that she knows beauty secrets not possessed by the average woman. She may have as much cause for looking old and careworn as anybody, yet she is able to go on year after year, with never a sign of wrinkles or complexion blemishes, all the while preserving a fresh, youthful appearance. And there is no reason why any woman between thirty and sixty should not look from five to fifteen years younger than she really is, by simply knowing the secret of just what to do. It ought to be matter of pride with you to keep your complexion clear and your face youthful as much as it is to keep your hands and nails clean. But you cannot hope to be beautiful and attractive unless you give your skin full opportunity to act freely and renew its youth. No matter what your age, no matter how coarse, harsh and unsightly your complexion, nor what you have tried unsuccessfully, the moment you produce osmosis of the skin, you will look younger and far more beautiful. Many a wrinkled, blotchy, checked, faded-looking woman has regained her youth and beauty, and awakened to find herself pretty as a picture with every sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes gone through this wonderful, simple method. Watch what it does for you!
