Parker, superintendent of the five civilized tribes, from Cato Sells, Indian commissioner.

Parker is directed to "call farmers and leading Indians together immediately for an organized effort under your continuous supervision."

He is also authorized to take the older boys out of school for farm work. Acting under these instructions, Superintendent Parker has called a conference of the entire field force of the five civilized tribes, including government farmers, for April 13.

BABY'S CRIES HIS PRIVATE CABARET

Woke Youngster in Middle of Night For Entertainment

New York, April 11.—"In the days of old," celebrated by minor and major poets, the youth who contemplated plunging over the precipice of matrimony was warned, admonished and threatened, in pictures, poems and "humorous" essays depicting the horrors of waking up in the middle of the night to make a futile attempt to quell the screams of his future offspring.

It is not recorded that any of these well-meant efforts served the purpose. They will do it but the utilization of a baby's lamentations at night as a sort of private cabaret was left to Barnett Cahane, an inventor, according to his wife, Mrs. Johanna Cahane, who describes herself as a violinist, and who lives at 54 West 115th street with her seven-year-old son.

Mrs. Cahane is seeking an annulment of her marriage. She charges that her husband was eccentric. Justice Finch, of the Supreme Court, has reserved decision. She testified: "My husband was so eccentric that he would wake the baby in the middle of the night just to hear him cry."

She continued: "Immediately after our marriage I found he was peculiar. We came from the clergyman's house and Mr. Cahane turned to the driver and said: 'Now drive us to the cemetery.'"

"But he laughed when he said that, did he not?" asked Justice Finch. "No, sir. He said it in all seriousness, and that is one of the reasons I began to think him eccentric." Mr. Cahane liked to hear both his wife and baby cry, Mrs. Cahane said. "He insisted that it was very good for children to cry—that it sounded well and developed them."

The War

will take men from the mines and still further curtail an output that is far below the demand. Present coal prices cannot be guaranteed for any length of time, so that instead of cheaper fuel, prices are likely to advance.

It's wise to anticipate next Winter's coal needs now and lay in all the coal you can buy.

AMERICAN BANKS TO MOBILIZE CASH

Eight Billion For War Purposes Is Planned by Businessmen

New York, April 11.—Action was taken yesterday to mobilize the $8,000,000,000 aggregate resources of the trust companies of the United States back of the financial requirements of the nation for war purposes.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the trust company section of the American Bankers' Association, held here to-day upon special call, resolutions were unanimously adopted as follows:

"Whereas the nation is in a state of war and it is the earnest desire of the trust companies of the United States to serve the country in every way in their power, and

"Whereas it is recognized by this committee that one of the most important duties of the trust companies is to co-operate in the mobilization of the financial resources of the United States; therefore,

"Be it resolved that this committee urgently recommends to the trust companies of the United States that immediate steps be taken to secure amendment, where necessary, to the State laws in order to permit the trust companies to carry their gold reserve on deposit with the Federal Reserve Bank in their several districts, and that as soon as such action can be legally taken, the trust companies offer to deposit these reserves with the Federal Reserve Bank."

BRITISH ATTACK AMAZES GERMANS

Hindenburg's Line Fails to Hold Before Smashing Advance

From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press with the British Armies in France, via London, April 11.—The British sweep east of Arras has turned the northern pivot of the famous Hindenburg line and large forces of British troops are pressing far beyond the top of that German barrier, which was prepared after endless months of labor.

The manner in which the British have advanced over scores of German trenches, which the Germans must have believed would protect them indefinitely, has been little short of miraculous. The Germans themselves have been amazed at the audacity of the invaders and have surrendered with an air of complete mystification.

The success of the attack launched yesterday against some of the strongest sections of the German lines of the entire western front seems to prove the fact that the artillery has finally solved the problem of entrenched warfare. It has taken months and years of preparation, but when the guns were finally massed against the German front they hammered it into submission.

This hammering that demoralized the German lines on the Somme during the winter and brought about the recent retreat of the Hindenburg line stretching from Arras southward to St. Quentin. Now, the top of this line has been crossed and it is being attacked along the entire distance. The meaning of the airplane activity last week, when the British air force deliberately set out to clear the air of Germans, has been revealed in the new attacks.

"SLACKERS" RUSH TO WED

New York, April 11.—Young men who marry to avoid military service were yesterday branded as cowards and "slackers," by City Clerk Scully, who, as head of the Marriage License Bureau, has become indignant at the unprecedented rush of applicants for licenses, seeking, he has become convinced, to put themselves beyond the pale of conscription. The unprecedented increase of applications is largely due to the recent announcement that all single men between nineteen and twenty-five years may be drafted," Mr. Scully said. "Any man who thus seeks to hide behind a woman's skirts is a moral and physical coward."

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulled coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

10,000 Souvenirs Will Be Distributed at Annual Knights Templar Conclave

The Conclave committee of Allegheny Commandery, No. 35, Knights Templar, of Pittsburgh, is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment and comfort of the many visiting knights and ladies who will visit them during the 64th annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, which will be held in Pittsburgh during the week of May 21. Harrisburg will be well represented. Allegheny Commandery will keep open house at their headquarters in the English room of the Port Pitt Hotel during the conclave, and special entertainment will be provided. Refreshments will be served during the three days; the Templar quartet and orchestra have been engaged and no expense will be spared by this commandery to make the conclave the largest and greatest in the history of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania.

This commandery is especially favored by having among its membership Lee S. Smith, the Grand Master of the Grand Encampment of the United States; Andrew G. Williams, Right Eminent Grand Commander of Pennsylvania; W. Lawrence Kalmeyer, chairman of the general executive committee, and Theodore A. Motheral, chairman of the parade and review committee. Allegheny Commandery, No. 35, has been appointed as special escort to the Grand Commander on the day of the parade.

The decorating committee has been instructed to spare nothing in decorating the headquarters and a number of electric crosses and crowns, together with commandery color pennants, noted plants and cut flowers will be used for the occasion. The committee has in consideration the arrangement of a grandstand to accommodate 2,000 persons along the route of the parade for the wives and lady friends of the members of Allegheny commandery.

In former years it has been the custom to provide souvenirs, but in the last five or six years little of this has been done at conclaves, on account of the large supply that is necessary to make the demand. However, as Allegheny commandery is particularly interested in the present conclave, the committee has decided to furnish a souvenir for the ladies, and at least 10,000 will be provided, the nature of which will be announced later.

16-Year-Old Boy Is Expert Archaeologist

Madison, Wis., April 11.—There is a 16-year-old geologist in the University of Wisconsin. Whitney Seymour, a freshman in the college of letters and science, is one of the university's prodigies who is partially working his way through school by collecting arrow heads and other relics from the many old Indian mounds that surround Madison.

Young Seymour entered the university last fall and at the age of fifteen was called upon to read a paper on archaeology before the local branch of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society. He also works in the library to help with the college expenses.

Although the youngest man in the freshman class, the boy received excellent marks at the end of his first semester of work.

Peaceful Germans to Have Much Freedom During War

Washington, April 11.—Department of Justice officials have under consideration the adoption of plans with reference to the treatment of alien enemies which will permit resident Germans, particularly those in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and other large cities, a maximum amount of liberty where such individuals can establish their pacific intentions, under the terms of the President's proclamation of war.

To this end Attorney General Gregory announces it is likely that a number of exemptions may be issued in the case of Germans, long resident in populous districts and known to be of peaceful intent, who would otherwise be required to change their place of residence to quarters more than one-half mile removed from fortifications and arsenals.

Gains 17 Pounds by Quitting Her Husband

San Francisco, April 11.—Mrs. Andrew Scott, 33A Franklin street, told Judge Graham that she had gained seventeen pounds since separating from her husband, Lloyd A. Scott, teamster.

"That is the first time I ever heard a woman suggest that it was a blessing to gain weight," said Judge Graham.

"I do not consider it a blessing," replied Mrs. Scott. "I merely want to show how much my health has improved."

Mrs. Scott was granted a divorce on the ground of cruelty. She said her husband nagged her and took her to places of amusement only six times.

CHEMIST IS JAILED ENEMY ALIEN

Pittsburgh, April 11.—Walter Zapharian, a consulting chemical engineer, was yesterday taken to the Allegheny County jail by order of E. Lowry Humes, Federal District Attorney, as an enemy alien.

Zapharian, the authorities say, has been active for several years in collecting money to be used in furthering the propaganda of the Central Powers, and in organizing foreign miners in the Pittsburgh district for strikes. He first came to the notice of the Federal authorities eighteen months ago, and has since been under surveillance. Efforts of a number of influential German and Austrian residents to secure his release failed.
