protection and placing of the lights which are to be installed."
Commissioner W. H. Lynch, who is in charge of the Water Department at present, said that three guards are on duty at the reservoir, but no men have been stationed outside the filter plant or pumping station. These are the places which the Chamber of Commerce is asking to have more protection provided.

The following has been stnt Commissioner Gross by Secretary McColgin in direction of the president:

April 12, 1917.
Honorable Edward Z. Gross,
City Commissioner,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Sir—
We are writing to request and urge that you promptly employ every measure that will tend to safeguard the water supply and distribution system of Harrisburg against injury and interruption through criminal action.

The health and convenience of every citizen, household, store and industry in Harrisburg and their protection against fire depend upon the water supply and distribution system being maintained every minute during the day.

The necessity of acting promptly and effectively to light and guard the pumping stations; filtration plant, reservoirs and certain mains and valves is so great that we urge that no time be lost in acting upon this vital matter.

We feel sure that we speak for the taxpaying interests of the city when we say that they will approve the necessary expenditures for lighting and guarding our water supply. The Chamber of Commerce and experts employed in the technical industries in the city will be glad to lend you any assistance in working out proper plans.

The emergency is so great that not a day should be lost protecting the city; dilatory action may cause untold suffering and loss.

We further suggest and urge that you request your colleagues in Council to hold a special meeting to make the needed authorizations in this matter.

As the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce is a public body and the safeguarding of the water supply is a public matter of vital importance to our citizens, we are asking the press to print this letter.

We feel sure that every good citizen of Harrisburg will recognize the grave need of your acting without delay and endorse efforts on your part to make an unqualified safe the water supply of Harrisburg. The State took measures today to safeguard certain general water supplies of still greater importance is the water supply of Harrisburg.

Dr. Hamilton Describes Days of '61, While Dr. Bashore Speaks of '76

"A Kid in 1861" was the subject of an interesting paper read by Dr. Hugh Hamilton last night at a meeting of the Dauphin County Historical Society. Dr. Hamilton described the scenes in the streets of Harrisburg, then a town of only 8,000 population, when the news of the fall of Fort Sumpter was received, and told of the enthusiastic reception accorded the troops from all over Pennsylvania as they went through Harrisburg on their way to the Potomac. His talk was a recital of personal experiences as a boy in Harrisburg during the Civil War.

Dr. Harvey B. Bashore spoke on "Dauphin County Loyalty and Preparedness in Revolutionary Days." He said that forty-eight hours after the news of the battle of Lexington had reached this section the people began to organize defense leagues. In less than two weeks, the speaker said, Captain Smith, of Paxtang, had a company equipped and drilled, ready for service, and this company was the first body of soldiers to reach New England from Pennsylvania. Dr. Bashore said that in 1776 John Harris gave $15,000 to the Government to help carry on the war. He compared the pacifists of to-day with the Tories of the Revolutionary period.

The society elected three new members, Miss Mary Kelker, Henry McCormick, Jr., and the Rev. George P. Mains.
