

AMERICAN LEAGUE TEAMS SHOW BEST FORM IN EARLY GAMES--AMUSEMENT GOSSIP

AMERICAN LEAGUE SHOWS BEST SCORES IN EARLY CONTESTS

New York, April 14.—American League baseball teams made a much better showing in the recent ante-season, inter-league games against the National clubs than was the case a year ago.

The improvement of the American League combinations in these early season contests is shown in other ways aside from the winning of games. During the preliminary and training seasons just closed, thirty-eight were played, of which the National League teams won nineteen, the Americans eighteen and one ended in a tie.

The results of all the games played this spring, together with hits, runs and errors per game with totals for the past two years, follow:

Table with columns: Date, Nationals, R. H. E., Americans, R. H. E., Winner. Includes interleague games and two-year totals.

ORPHEUM — To-night — "Have a Heart." Monday, matinee and night, April 16 — "Coburn's Greater Minstrels, opening Wednesday night, April 18 — Sam Adler in "A Woman's Secrets." (Yiddish).

Saturday, matinee and night, April 21 — "Pollyanna." COLONIAL — "The Secret of Eve." REGENT — "The Black Wolf."

Henry W. Sawyer's newest and most successful musical comedy offering, after playing the most profitable run of the season at the Orpheum Theater, Philadelphia, is to come to the Orpheum to-day, matinee and night. "Have a Heart" is an up-to-the-minute musical comedy with a novel plot, pleasing situations, dramatic action and tuneful music that sets the feet a-tapping and the heart a-thumping to the music that abounds in rich melody of high order, yet always is tuneful and satisfying. It is the one modern musical play, it is said, does not depend upon fast tempo of the "song feature of appeal, the music as well as the lyrics and humor all have a direct bearing upon the story and an intimate relation to the complicated, though perfectly logical and delightfully entertaining plot.

Don't miss the Coburn Blues Parade and band concert next Monday at noon and the J. and J. Coburn's Greater Minstrels at the Blues Coming Orpheum, matinee and night. It is all new production and performance throughout with new scenery, costumes and music. The Orpheum with the beautiful ensemble in the palace of the Maharajah in India, who, with the Princess Federal, is under a Millionaire Hunt Club of America and their valets in a complete departure from old-style minstrel first parts. A splendid singing, dancing, laughing, clean comedy feature performance with twenty years' of fair dealing and sterling reputation as a guarantee of excellence.

Public interest is on keen edge concerning "Pollyanna," which Klaw and Erlanger and George C. Horner bring to the Orpheum Theater, matinee and night, Saturday, April 21, with the usual, the far-reaching influence of this merry play, with its humor, simple pathos, and a tender message of goodness that is balm to the bruised spirit, and a tonic for the discouraged. The "Pollyanna" treatment is doing a world of good and creating a lot of happiness, and is exceedingly pleasant to take. "Pollyanna," by the power of suggestion, is making chronic troubles ashamed of themselves, and inspiring the cheerful to greater realization of the true joys of living.

Does she possess some supernatural power? That is the question that is puzzling the audience. At the concerning Trilby, the song Majestic dreamer, who plays and sings any selection any selection you wish, you have to do is whisper the name of some song to Trilby's assistant, and he, in some mysterious fashion, transmits the command to her mentally. With the swiftness of a lightning flash she receives the thought and starts to play and sing the selection you named. Patrons should not miss seeing this wonderful offering. Our Kib acts of merit surround this attraction. Old favorites — Cecile Weston and Company, in an artistic singing and piano offering — will be on the bill the first half of the coming week. Other attractions are: Morris, two men in what is considered to be vaudeville's best novelty dancing act; Charles Howard and Company, doing comedy turn; Mahoney and Rogers, comedy entertainers; and John La Vier, clever contortionist.

Mme. Petrova has never been called upon to do a more difficult piece of work than in her latest production, "The Secret of Eve," which is showing at the Colonial Theater for the last times to-day. First of all, she portrays Eve in the Garden of Eden. Then she is seen as Hagar, a gypsy woman, who leaves her daughter on the doorstep of "house-dwelling people," so that she may have a chance for happiness. Next the girl, Eve, is shown as a young woman, the foster child of a Quaker, who marries a millionaire and as Eve Brandon goes to the city in search of happiness. The final picture is one of a noble-minded woman, who sacrifices herself for others, a picture that will hold the interest throughout. The usual funny comedies are showing on the same program. Monday and Tuesday, Harold Lockwood and May Allison will be the attraction in a powerful Metro play, "The Hidden Children," adapted for the screen from Robert W. Chambers' popular novel, a story of patriotism and love that is filled with the spirit of American noble emotions. The latest Pathe News and Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew, in a polite comedy, "His Wife's Mother," will be seen on the same program.

Robert M. Wagner Dies at New Cumberland

New Cumberland, Pa., April 14.—Robert M. Wagner, aged 54 years, died suddenly at his home at Fourth and Water streets, last evening. Mr. Wagner was holding his little daughter, Evelyn, in his arms when he was suddenly seized with pain at the heart and fell from the chair, dying in a few minutes. Mr. Wagner was born in Perry county, but has lived here many years. He was a member of the Wagner Orchestra of Stetson, composed of the Wagner brother, all well-known musicians. He is survived by his wife, Anna, and seven children: Mrs. Amos Frownfelter, Carl W., Dora, Nettie, Robert, Elizabeth and Evelyn. His daughter Dora is in the Harrisburg hospital, where she was operated on yesterday and she does not know of the father's death. Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in charge of the Rev. A. H. Ayres, of Trinity United Brethren Church. Burial will be made at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

PATTON CALLS ON FARMERS OF STATE FOR SEED REPORT

Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton today calls upon the farmers and seedsmen of the State to at once inform the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture of their holdings of seed potatoes, navy bean seed and other seeds and to send to him at Harrisburg all details of any excess that may be available and at what prices. The Department of Agriculture is working on the food supply emergency and every effort is being made to bring Pennsylvania to the front as a food-producing State. Several farms have been offered to the Department for use during the year and these will be farmed with a view of raising the crops which the National government is now calling from this State.
