

GERMANY STOPS BUILDING U-BOATS

Kaiser Either Has Enough or Expects War to End This Summer

By Associated Press. Boston, April 16.—German submarines in large number have been built in Norway, according to a letter received here from Christiania which adds that Germany has given no orders to build submarines after May 1.

The letter was written by O. C. Dahl, of Christiania, a shipbuilder, to his nephew, Dr. Andrew Christian, a physician in the Back Bay district. It was dated February 10. Mr. Dahl wrote: "We continue to build up to May 1 this year, but Germany has not given any orders to continue building submarines after May 1. This means to us that either she has enough boats or that the war will terminate some time this coming summer."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons, acids and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh. Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, sour breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the druggist, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject. Remember, inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do, just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

EARNEST WORK OF THE CIVIC CLUB

Reports at Annual Meeting This Afternoon Show Real Progress in Many Lines

With a membership of 512, an increase of 20% during the past year, the Harrisburg Civic Club always alive to its opportunities heard a wonderful account of work both done and planned for the future, given by the president, Mrs. William Henderson, at the annual meeting this afternoon.

First of all Mrs. Henderson mentioned the fact that the club is at last in its own house, the wonderful gift of Mrs. William R. Fleming, which has been adapted to club use by W. W. Johnson, architect. The large contributions by friends of the organization as well as club members have made it possible to more than pay all expenses for remodeling and furnishing, and its use by everyone is a delight. The grounds will be put in shape for the summer under the direction of Miss Martha W. Buehler.

While interested in getting the club house livable, the club lessened none of its activities. The care of children in the Out-Door schools, the fly swatting contests, an outing for mothers and babies, and co-operation with the State Board of Health during the typhoid epidemic of last summer, all required helpers and the club members were eager for work. The Mt. Alto camp in December and $25 worth of clothing, shoes and hosiery went to the Downey school in February. In this school a special lunch of crackers and milk were given to deficient children at 10 o'clock each day and it is found that since this was inaugurated the pupils have increased in weight, are quieter, pay more attention to their work and have increased in mental efficiency. Fifty dollars was given to the Penn-Community Club in which the Civic Club is much interested.

Club Holds Lectures. Beginning with the social meeting of the club last May at the Colonial Country Club, when Vance C. McCormick spoke on "Know Our City—Its Good Points and Its Bad Ones," the club had a series of interesting lectures by distinguished speakers along lines of civic, travel and women's problems and co-operation with the city. The most enjoyable and the Civic Club had as its guest the College Club, Authors Club and Wednesday Club, serving tea after entertaining programs by the visitors.

In the two fly contests the committee of which Mrs. Robert H. Irons is chairman, reported 31 bushels of flies, brought in with a cost to the club of $129.55. The Municipal Department, headed by Miss Rachel Pollock, has finally secured the signals for the curfew law, passed by council last year, and the chief of police is aiding in the enforcement of other laws in which the club is interested especially.

The Educational Department under Mrs. Harry G. Keffer and an efficient committee has carried on the League of Good Citizenship in many schools, the Open Air School at Fifth and Seneca streets, is under the care of this department. Miss Buehler of the Out-Door Department reported that while the back yard gardens were discontinued some of the school gardens were finer than ever because of the earnest labor given to them by the children. Most of the vegetables are used for school lunches and the rest taken home by the youngsters. This department is putting up a birdbox for purple martins in the park near the Market street bridge.

Believes in Co-Operation. Always interested in what goes to make a better and more beautiful city, the Harrisburg Civic Club has joined hands with charitable and other city organizations on the garbage and ash questions, better housing conditions, the city vegetable gardens, the smoke nuisance and moving picture censorship.

In closing Mrs. Henderson said: "Much is expected of the Civic Club of Harrisburg. Have we sized up our opportunities? I do not know, but I am very sure of much earnest work in many directions. We are not building for to-day, but trying to place an firm foundation a strong active Women's Club that is not just for our own time, but for future generations of Harrisburg women."

John G. Johnson, Noted Lawyer, Frequent Visitor Here in Important Cases

John G. Johnson, the famous Philadelphia lawyer, who died Saturday, was not a stranger in Harrisburg. He appeared before Dauphin county court in important cases, and was a friend of many in official life. His opinion was sought in municipal loans and upon his approval the several issues of public improvement bonds were authorized.

As his paintings form one of the few really great private collections in America, as he was himself one of the country's few real connoisseurs, John G. Johnson was just two things where most men are a dozen; he was a lawyer and he was a collector of pictures. And he knew paintings as thoroughly as he knew corporation law. We knew the history of every recognized master piece, critic said, and he had many times discovered priceless little paintings that had gone unrecognized before. No dealer could impose upon him.

The nurse said that after taking his medicine at 2 o'clock Saturday morning he turned to her with a smile and said: "Good night, I'm going to sleep now." Those were his last words, for when the nurse returned at 3 o'clock she found Mr. Johnson dead.

The funeral service will be held at his late home, 519 South Broad street, on Tuesday. His private secretary, Charles M. DeBary, and another, A. C. Johnson, will complete all arrangements within a day or two. The obsequies will be private, and the hour of the funeral will be made public later. No honorary pallbearers and no service at the grave in Ivy Hill Cemetery have been decided upon. General Edward deV. Morrell, a stepson, will aid in the arrangements.

The service will be marked by impressive simplicity. There will be an utter absence of formality, and as the distinguished lawyer was not actively connected with any church or any of the prominent fraternal organizations, there will be no ceremonial.

John Graver Johnson was born in Germantown in 1841. His father was a blacksmith and his mother a milliner, who added to the family exchequer by her personal labors.

The boyhood of Mr. Johnson was passed between the father's forge and the mother's millinery establishment, where the thrifty wife manufactured such hats as would please the taste of her wealthy clients. It was no uncommon sight either in that section to see "Johnnie" Johnson, as he was known, delivering the hats, when he was not in school. His devotion to his mother was idyllic, and as long as she lived he cared for her with a filial tenderness and assiduity that were remarkable.

Girard in the Philadelphia Ledger says: "Hardly anybody remembered that this Philadelphia high school boy was a soldier in the Civil War, but he was. Mr. Johnson was a member of that famous Landis battery in which C. Stuart Patterson was an officer and such other notables as Richard Watson Gilder, "Hans Breitmann," the humorist, and Dr. A. C. Lambdin, the editor, were privates. It was when this battery was guarding the Susquehanna bridge at Harrisburg that Gilder, who was on picket duty, saw in the dim morning light a Confederate vidette. That was the furthest north any Confederate soldier got during the rebellion."

T. R. OUTLINES PLAN

Washington, April 16.—Colonel Roosevelt in letters to-day to Senator Chamberlain and Representative Dent, chairman of the Congressional Military Committee, detailed his plans for raising and accompanying a volunteer expedition to join the Allies in the western European battle front. He heartily approved the administration's compulsory service program for providing a war army, but insisted that volunteers could be put on the firing line in four months and that the American flag should be there at the earliest possible moment.

MEDICAL RESERVE NEEDS OFFICERS

Dauphin County Society Plans Campaign For More Volunteers

To stimulate enlistment in the medical officers reserve, the Dauphin County Medical Society will hold a mass meeting in Chestnut Street Auditorium Wednesday night, which will be addressed by Col. Henry Page, of the Medical Reserve Corps, U. S. A.

Invitations have been sent out to the organizations of the druggists, dentists, Homeopathic Society, Medical Club, Nurses' Alumni Association, Red Cross Society, Civic Club, Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce to attend the meeting. Lantern slides of actual scenes in the trenches at the front in France and Serbia will be shown for the first time in this city.

In a statement sent to physicians and dentists the Dauphin County Medical Society emphasizes the importance of enlistment in this corps.

The statement urges physicians to enlist in the Medical Reserve Corps because of the few medical men now in that branch of the service and because the efficiency of the army and navy depends upon the efficiency of its medical corps. The statement sets forth three reasons why young men who have few obligations and responsibilities should join the reserve corps—patriotism, opportunity for excellent medical and surgical training and good pay. It states that the first of these is the most important and should be considered before the others. It sets forth that the pay in either branch of the service amounts, with maintenance, to $260 per month, and that each medical volunteer can be assured that his practice will be cared for in his absence.

All information relative to any medical branch of the service will be given by Surgeon R. W. Plummer, U. S. N., at the mayor's office, City Hall, Philadelphia, or by any of the medical officers at the Naval Hospital, Gray's Ferry Road and Twenty-fourth street, Philadelphia.

DEMOCRACY MUST BE GUARANTEED

Dr. Bagnell in Stirring Patriotic Sermon Sees Peace After Kaiser Is Banished

The Rev. Dr. Robert Bagnell, new pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, stirred fifteen hundred persons to cheers and then to tears, last night at a patriotic meeting held in the Grace Church. The subject of his sermon was "The Meaning of War," the text of which was taken from Ephesians 6:12. The meeting was attended by members of the Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish War Veterans and National Guardsmen. At the opening of the service the congregation stood as these soldiers past, and present, filed to their seats in the front of the auditorium, marching to the strain of "The Star Spangled Banner," as it pealed from the organ. The auditorium of the church was filled to its capacity long before the sermon started and hundreds were turned away.

The church was decorated with American flags. Time after time the audience applauded loudly as Dr. Bagnell gave utterance to his stirring address. At other times his hearers gave way to tears as he described the horrors of the bitter conflict in Europe. "No lasting peace will be made that does not guarantee democracy and liberty and not until, as I believe, another St. Helena is occupied by ex-royalty," said Dr. Bagnell. This statement brought cheers and applause from his hearers. The church was presented with a handsome American flag, by a member of the congregation who wished his name withheld and the presentation was made by Harry E. Sausseman. It was accepted by Dr. Bagnell, who stated that it would occupy a prominent place in the pulpit until the war is over.

ATTACK MAN, ESCAPE. The unknown men who last evening attacked J. Ely along the Cameron park extension are still at large. Four men evidently under the influence of liquor were driving up and down the parkway in an automobile, which is forbidden. When Ely told them to stop they knocked him down, breaking his glasses.

Mr. Harrisburger and Son-- The New Store of Wm. Strouse will be closed a great part of next Saturday to do its share in the Patriotic Demonstration. We request that you aid us, in so far as convenient to you, by doing your buying early in the week. Respectfully, Wm. Strouse & Co.
