

SCHOOLS URGED TO WORK FARMS

State Board of Education Asks Army of Students to Help in Food Production

Following a meeting yesterday the State Board of Education has issued the following statement:

"The State Board of Education, convinced of the imperative need of husbanding all the resources of the Commonwealth, urges upon the school officials and the great army of pupils who have talent or capacity for service of any type, the patriotic duty of making their contribution in this hour of national need. Since there is great scarcity of help on farms and since the school code provides that directors may excuse the absence of pupils for urgent reasons, therefore be it

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the State Board of Education during the present crisis the need of a pupil's service on the farm and in trucking and gardening and allied industries should be construed as a valid excuse for absence from school and that in such cases compulsory attendance should not be enforced against any pupil for the time during which he may be employed in work upon the farm and in the garden.

"But it further received that the pupils in the public schools above the age of twelve years, whose standing is such that there will be no question of their promotion or graduation and who may regularly engage in agriculture or industry, shall have these facts considered in their full completion of the term's work, this provision to apply only to the work of the term ending June, 1917. School authorities are urged to assist pupils in making up work essential to promotion; this right to promotion to be based upon the ability to do the work of the next grade and

"Let it further be resolved, that the State Board of Education, through its proper officers conduct a careful survey of the industrial and agricultural schools of the State for the purpose of ascertaining in what way they may contribute through their equipment, machinery and products during the continuance of the present war."

HOW TO USE TIRE DOUGH

"Tire dough," says C. H. Claudy in the Woman's Home Companion, "is a substance partially composed of raw rubber and partially composed of semi-vulcanized rubber. It hardens when exposed to air. It is applied to cuts in tires first by cleaning out the cuts with gasoline and then stuffing dough in with a knife, very much as one would put putty in a hole. By treating cuts in tires in this way and letting the tires stand overnight, the dough hardens and amalgamates itself with the rubber of the tire, thus preventing sand and water from getting in these little cuts and rotting out the fabric."

One offsets the other."

BEIDLEMAN BACKS MINERS OF STATE

In Speech Backs Bill Against Placing of Outside Compensation

Senator Beidleman made a plea for the passage of the bill introduced by Senator McNichol, which forbids the placing of compensation insurance companies not organized under Pennsylvania laws. The Dauphin county senator spoke in behalf of the miners, insurance of whom under Pennsylvania laws, should be impregnable, said Senator Beidleman. He asked that senators vote for the measure as a safeguard for the men who work under the ground. "It is the duty of the State to carry insurance of the highest value for its miners," said the senator. "There should be written on the statute books of the State an act which guarantees beyond question the payment of this compensation insurance."

Lloyd's of London, with whom the insurance department had placed risks because of war hazards, was said by the speaker not only unauthorized to do business under Pennsylvania laws but had no sanction under the laws of any Commonwealth. The only excuse offered in answer to the Senate inquiry as to why the risks had not

UMBERGER QUILTS PLANNING BODY

Resignation of One of the Most Prominent Members Necessitated by Removal From City

B. F. Umberger, who since the organization of the City Planning Commission, has been one of its most interested and influential members, has presented his resignation to Council due to his removal to the fact that he will hereafter make his home near Duncannon.

Mr. Umberger has had a long experience in city affairs and is exceptionally well versed in municipal law. His place on the Planning Commission will be hard to fill.

Mr. Umberger's new home near Duncannon overlooks the Susquehanna river and is one of the handsomest in that locality.

His letter of resignation in full follows: "To the Honorable the Members of the Council of the City of Harrisburg:

"By reason of having transferred my residence to Duncannon, it becomes necessary for me to tender my resignation as a member of the City Planning Commission. In thus severing an official connection of some fifteen years with the municipal affairs of the City of Harrisburg, it is fitting that I express to you, as representatives of the city, my thanks for the privilege of having had the opportunity to serve my fellowmen. For whatever services I have rendered, the city owes nothing; indeed, the obligation been placed with Pennsylvania companies and given to Lloyd's was the insurance commissioner's answer that the cost to the State would have been $38,000 additional. Senator Beidleman recalled the fight made two years ago to place the miners within the provisions of the compensation act. He submitted that there should be no backward step and that in the matter of protecting them the risks should be given insurance companies within reach and absolutely reliable as to ability to meet obligations and make good in the matter of differences, if any.

Senator Vare spoke for the insurance commissioner, disclaiming a personal interest in the bill, but desiring protection in case of another disaster similar to the Eddystone tragedy. The bill passed by a vote of 33 to 7.

Two Important War Bills Are Presented by Vare and Buckman

The other bill was read in place by Senator Buckman and provides that law students of one year's standing in college without conditions or who have spent one year reading law in a do business under Pennsylvania laws but had no sanction under the laws of any Commonwealth. is mine. I have been the gainer. The special knowledge and broadened view of life gained, together with the consciousness of having served well, all place me under obligations to the city. A debt exists which gives me the right to call upon me for service at any time. "You may imagine, knowing of my interest in the work, with what great regret I sever connection. It would be unbearable were it not for the fact that my business and interests will still be in Harrisburg, and the trials, the progress and the interest of the city will still be shared by me. long service to privilege me in calling to your attention the great importance of the City Planning Commission, to the city and its people. Many years of my life have been given to the study of municipal affairs, and thus I do not speak lightly when I say that no municipal function is more important. I trust that you will elect as my successor a man of the same high standing and ability as the other members of the commission, and extend to him the same courtesy and confidence I have ever had the honor to receive from you. Yours very truly, B. F. UMBERGER.
