"Strange I Can't Eat"
Your appetite's all gone — you feel dull and loggy — you've got about as much ambition as a last year's bird nest! Do you know that your bowels are more or less plugged up? You don't get rid of all waste material. It should all go but it don't. Part of it collects in the kinks and curves of your bowels.

That waste makes acid poisons in bowels, stomach and liver have too much to do. They break down causing headaches and backaches. Pills, oils and tablets make things worse. What you need is a scientific method of cleaning and helping your bowels and kidneys. That is Notox. Take a little Notox every day — neutralize the acids in intestines and stomach. Clean out the bowels easily and gently. Relieve your kidneys. Notox tastes pleasant — makes you feel good. Notox is harmless even to a child. It gives you a real appetite. Use Notox daily for two weeks (50c a box). Then you'll wonder why you didn't do it long ago. Start today — buy Notox at any drug store.

For sale by all druggists.

CITY IS LEADING STATE FOR ARMY

This District, With Smallest Population, Furnishes One-Third of Recruits

The Harrisburg District for army recruiting is supplying one-third of the recruits of the State, according to an announcement made this morning by Captain William F. Harrell, in charge of the district. Pennsylvania is divided into four districts with headquarters in Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton. The Harrisburg district has the smallest population, with 1,720,000; Pittsburgh has 2,049,428; Philadelphia has 2,022,247, and Scranton has 1,873,028. Tuesday Pennsylvania was second in the number of men recruited in the United States, with 225. Out of this number 79 were enlisted from the Harrisburg district, leaving 146 for the other three districts. This percentage is a little better than one-third of the number recruited out of the entire State.

Navy Recruits Slow
Seventy-nine men were sent to Fort Slocum from the local army office yesterday, boosting the number to 258 during the week from this district. A good percentage of this number was from Harrisburg and vicinity. Quartermaster W. E. Quirk, in charge of the navy office, announced this morning that during the last three days not a single applicant has been received for enlistment at the local office and that only one man has been sent to Philadelphia. This one being an applicant of the previous week.

RUSS TO FIGHT ON
Petrograd, April 19, via London. — The Russian press considers the semi-official German and Austro-Hungarian notes concerning the possibility of conciliating the war aims of the central powers with those of Russia as "a thin, treacherous and hypocritical maneuver." The Reich in reiterating that the Russian provision government is pursuing no aims of conquest, declares it is fully and entirely in agreement with the views expressed by the representatives of the other entente powers.

SCOUT ORGANIZER OPENS CAMPAIGN
Lewis Buddy Here to Organize Troops in This City; Raising $12,000 Budget

Lewis Buddy, national field commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, arrived in Harrisburg to-day to open headquarters at 24 North Third street for the campaign that is about to be started under the auspices of the Rotary Club of Harrisburg to put the Scout movement on its feet in this city by raising at least $12,000 to cover a budget for that period. Mr. Buddy is being introduced by Howard C. Fry, president of the Rotary Club. He is worth meeting. Don't tell the office boy you're "very busy" when he brings in Mr. Buddy's card. You'll miss something worth while if you do.

Just a word with Mr. Buddy will explain why he has become one of the greatest Scout organizers in America. There's a reason and it is this—he's a "good scout" himself. He has just come in from New Bedford, where the subscriptions ran $3,000 over the amount fixed, and everybody knows that New Bedford, while it is doubtless a very fine little town, is nothing, absolutely nothing, as compared with Harrisburg. Which is saying that Harrisburg proposes to back New Bedford right off the map, when it comes to the success of a Scout campaign.

Up to the Fathers
It is very distinctly up to the fathers of Harrisburg to back this movement," said Mr. Buddy to-day. "Many of them think they are too busy to teach their boys the things about the outdoors they ought to know and so the Scouts have to undertake the work. The Scout movement is not only good for the boy, but for the community as well. It is both a moral uplift and an economic advantage. Where the Scouts are strong in membership and led by aggressive men juvenile crime is at a minimum. The advantage to the boys themselves and to the industries in which they engage in after life is well illustrated by an experience I had while in Schenectady, N. Y. where, through the great plant of the General Electric Company showed that nearly every one of the young men who had made exceptional headway in their work and had won promotion over their fellows had been Boy Scouts in their youth. The management was so surprised and pleased that at once the company's contribution was greatly increased and every official made a personal gift. Before very long Harrisburg will know as much about the benefit of Scout work as do the people of Schenectady."

HIGH COST NOT ITTNER'S FAULT
owes the simple, graceful and economical lighting system which distinguishes it from other cities. The model for these posts came from Washington. Desiring to get the best for Washington, Congress appointed a commission which made an inspection of school buildings in all the principal cities of the United States east of Denver, this inspection developing the belief that the school buildings of St. Louis were the best in the country. As these buildings had been designed by William B. Ittner, it followed as a matter of course that he was the proper man to be employed for designing the new Central High school of Washington. Inasmuch as Washington has its own architectural officials, appointed by the government, that part of the work of the designing architect which has to do with the erection of the building is not demanded. Mr. Ittner, therefore, designed the Central High school of Washington, but he did not erect it, as may be seen from the letter from Mr. Snowden Ashford, the municipal architect of Washington, who writes officially from the office of the Engineer Commissioner.

Mr. Ashford's Letter
Mr. Ashford's letter explains the circumstances surrounding the erection of this building, for which the design seems to be great pride in Washington. The relatively high cost per pupil as shown on the comparative statement furnished by Mr. Ashford is obviously due to the causes he mentions, and the architect himself is in no sense responsible.

Suffragists Make Plans to Aid With Farm Work as Patriotic Measure

At the closing session of the Suffragists conference, late yesterday, the Suffragists gave much time to the discussion of patriotic service during the war. Mrs. E. E. Kierman, of Somerset, was named suffrage farming secretary, and Mrs. R. E. Umbel, of Uniontown, chairman of the thrift division. Large committees will assist both.

Last night Dr. Frederick C. Hoven, United States Commissioner of Immigration, addressed the Suffragists at a meeting in Technical High school on "After the War—What?" "I hope the war will give suffrage to the women of the United States, not because they have earned it, but because they always should have had it," Dr. Howe declared.

After the lecture Dr. Howe said he, along with steamship company heads, railroad executives and bankers, believe there will be a great exodus of foreigners from this country as soon as the war is over. He placed the number at 3,000,000. The reason for this, he explained, is that they will be anxious to see how their friends and relatives are and the additional and concessions that will be made.

ALIENS' PATRIOTIC PARADE COMES NEAR CLOSING PLAN
Lebanon, Pa., April 19.—In their decision to prove their Americanism, members of the local Slavonian societies came near crippling the Lebanon blast furnace plants to-day, including those of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

The societies adopted resolutions providing for the expulsion of all members who fail to participate in the patriotic parade scheduled for this city to-day. Most of these men are employed in the local furnaces and rather than face expulsion from their lodges they reported off from work. Realizing that such a move would cause a suspension of operations and heavy loss to the owners, W. Lloyd Wolfe, general superintendent for the Bethlehem Steel Company, persuaded the men to remain at work, explaining they could not show their patriotism in a better way.

Found Way to Health Without Using Knife

Doctor Recommended Operation for Gall Stone Trouble but Mother Objected.

In her work as an evangelist in the mountain districts of West Virginia, Mrs. Mary A. Ferree, who lives at 1864 Madison Ave., Huntington, W. V., was frequently called on to relieve suffering among her charges and became familiar with the practical value of remedies easily available. When her daughter became ill and the doctor finally said the trouble was gall stones and that an operation was necessary, Mrs. Ferree would not consent. In a letter to the Pinus laboratories she says, "After four doctors had treated my daughter, and we had tried various remedies without avail, I heard of Fruitoia and Traxo and tried it as a last resort. The first dose brought immediate relief and after using three bottles of Fruitoia and two bottles of that my testimony may be the means of helping others to health."

Fruitoia and Traxo are compounded from the original Eadsall formulas at the Pinus laboratories in Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased in drug stores; a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitoia is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief. One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic-alternative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened rundown system.

A booklet of special interest to those who suffer from stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.
