Elaine Hammerstein Plays Lead in "The Argyle Case"

A charming addition to the list of leading women of the screen is Elaine Hammerstein, granddaughter of the famous Oscar Hammerstein, the operatic impresario, who is making her first important appearance as a film actress in the role opposite Robert Warwick in the Selznick-Picture production of the great mystery story, "The Argyle Case."

Miss Hammerstein is the daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, who, although engaged in the profession of theatrical producer, did his utmost to restrain the histrionic impulse which urged her toward the footlights. Her first stage experience was in "The Trap," which she followed by playing a leading role in "High Jinks." Then for a while she hearkened to the urging of her father to remain in motion pictures, she soon turned her footsteps toward the cinema studios. After playing a few minor parts she won recognition for her beauty, grace and talent and out of a list of the available leading women in New York was selected by Harry Rapf, president of Robert Warwick Film Corporation, to play the sympathetic part of Mary Mazurek in "The Argyle Case," which is showing at the Colon Theater to-day, to-morrow and Wednesday.

GERMANS MUST KEEP MUM

Amsterdam, via Lodon, April 23.—In the place of the familiar public notice in the German newspapers warning the people not to talk of military matters because of spies which reads: "Citizens, your duty is not to talk of food conditions. Salt Lake, Utah, April 23.—"Bliff" Schaller, left fielder of the San Francisco baseball team of the Pacific Coast League, who holds the world's record for participation in consecutive baseball games, took his first layoff Thursday, after having played in 642 contests. AMUSEMENTS

The inspiration of strenuous human endeavor. The feuds of the primitive hill people are touched upon lightly and lend virility through the thrilling scenes of Eugene Walter's great play. The dominant situation is that of romantic love, and every scene is made a rustic setting, and written in a manner delightful. Everybody will love Louise Price's June and admire Berkley, Jack Hale and Judd.

"Experience," the modern morality play, will be presented by William Elroy, stock and Morris Cost at the Orpheum week of May 14. No American play of recent years has created the profound emotion that "Experience" has made. The phenomenal run of nine months in New York, followed by its sensational success in Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia has made new theatrical history in these four big metropolises.

Renew old acquaintances to-morrow night. Go to the Chestnut Street Auditorium and hear your old friends of the records. They are all appearing coming and will post-poned their appearance in person.

Record Makers Tomorrow Night

To be able to see such celebrities as Collins and Harlan, Billy Murray, Henry Burr, Albert Campbell, John H. Meyer, Vess Oss and Theodora Morse is, indeed, a treat that is rarely afforded. Previous to their appearance here they have toured the Hudson Valley and through Southern England, and everywhere they appeared they met with the greatest success. Henry Burr, the second tenor, is well known in church and concert work as well as on records. Another member with a beautiful voice is John H. Meyer, a soloist at the Church of Incarnation. Arthur Collins and Byron G. Harlan comprise a team more popular than these unmakers. Billy Murray, the well-known singer of comedy songs for the Victor Talking Machine Company, does not need any introduction to local music lovers. The tickets for the Peerless Record Makers' concert are now selling at C. M. Sigler's, No. 70 North Second street, and music lovers should make an early reservation for this great concert.

Joe Wood's "Mimic World," which gives the entire performance at the Majestic Theater the first three days of the present week, has the distinction of being the biggest, musical comedy tableau "on the road." This is the act that has been breaking records everywhere, and is expected to prove one of the biggest drawing cards of the season. It is a play of youth, of life, of happiness and mirth, filled with everything that goes to make the stage worth while. There are only three men in the act, all the rest are visions of lovely femininity dressed in the height of fashion. The show, a number of stars, among which are two clever little girls, Helen and Ola Hudson, who will impersonate the celebrated Doll Sisters in a song bit of their show, "The Bridal Night."

Look to America For Freedom, Syrian Declares

In a meeting at Philadelphia where many learned savants devoted a considerable part of their time to telling of how America is hated, despised and looked down upon in foreign countries, it remained for a woman to place an entirely different aspect on the situation. The woman was Laylah A. Barakat, who is prominent in the Philadelphia Sunday school movement. A native of Syria, she was forced to flee from the country when a young girl.

She declared the people of the old world are looking up to America and Americans are looking to this country to establish the spirit of democracy throughout every nation. American citizenship she defended as a priceless boon, but asserted that "ten per cent. of foreigners who come to these shores are not of good blood." Following up this statement, she declared:

"America is the greatest country under the sun. The flag protected me in Syria and in Egypt, and I am ready to give the last drop of blood in my veins for its defense. That America should have the best sort of citizens, every foreigner should be at least 21 years in the country before a ballot is placed in his hands."
