At present, attention is being given to the diamond and surroundings. Accommodations will be provided for home and visiting players in a brick building which is now undergoing important alterations. concrete base. The seating capacity will be 400. The field will be enclosed, a new fence now being in course of construction. Bleachers will be erected along the right and left fields each to seat 500. Manager Shorty Miller has 20 candidates out practicing for his team. He expects to secure a strong

Charley Herzog Will Be Ready to Play Next Week

HERZOG, GIANTS.

Philadelphia, April 27.—Second Baseman Charley Herzog, of New York National League team, who fell in a railroad station in New York yesterday while trying to kick a piece of chewing gum from his shoe, was still in bed at a hotel here today under a physician's care. Herzog fell on the lower part of his spine but so far as the physician can determine he sustained no serious injury. He is suffering from the shock of the fall, but is expected to be in the game in a few days.

Sunday Athletic Bill Defeated by Close Vote

Albany, April 27.—The Bloch bill, to permit the running of amateur foot races on Sunday, was defeated in the Assembly yesterday, the vote being 56 to 57. Many such races are now being held in the Bronx, and the effort to legalize them on Sunday was blocked by Speaker Sweet.

Assemblyman Bloch, rising to a question of personal privilege, charged the Speaker with holding up his bill for weeks by having it pigeonholed in committee and with sending word to Majority Leader Adler, when the bill came up to-day, to beat it.

"I admit I sent word to Mr. Adler that I considered this a bad bill, and that I asked him to speak against it," retorted the speaker.

COUGHLIN HAS TWO OUT

When Pitchers Keeley and Duchesneil and Second Baseman Lloyd report to the Scranton team, Manager Bill Coughlin says his roster will be completed. All of the other players on whom he is counting for regular jobs are on hand and rounding into good condition, he says. Keeley is the pitcher who was purchased from Memphis, in the Southern League. Lloyd is the second sacker obtained from Tacoma, while Duchesneil is a hold-over from the 1916 twirling corps. Coughlin expects all three mop to-day.

READING HIGH TRACK

Reading High's track team in the Penn relays to-morrow will be composed of Captain Kremp, Saylor, Miller and Schmel, with Joe Lefter as the fifth man. The team was picked after yesterday's afternoon practice. Saylor will likely start the race and Kremp will be the anchor man. It will be the first time any of the runners competed in the relays at Penn. All of the sprinters are in good shape and they are confident that they will surprise even their most ardent followers.

FIRST DAY FOR PENN CARNIVAL

Events on Today's Program Number 27; Berry Will Make Final Trial

Philadelphia, April 27.—With one of the most representative lists of entries in its history, keen competition with the smashing of records was expected at the twenty-third annual relay race carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, which opened at Franklin Field to-day. Despite the war, virtually all the star college athletes of the track and field in America were entered in the various events of the two days' meet.

Several of the larger institutions withdrew their team entries after they decided to discontinue athletic activities, but nearly all of them were represented by individuals. More than 100 college teams, 250 school teams and scores of individuals were entered.

Today's Program

To-day's program embraced twenty-seven events, the most important of which were the championship sprint and distance medley relay races, 440 yards hurdle, pentathlon and the special field events for colleges. The pentathlon, or all-around championship, in which Berry, of Pennsylvania, will try for his third consecutive victory. He will have no easy task, however, as Colgate, Chicago, Wisconsin, Swarthmore and other colleges have exceptionally strong men in the event.

Weather conditions were fine for the meet, which began at 2.30 p. m.

Lebanon Valley College Sends Strong Track Team

Annville, April 27.—Lebanon Valley College will be represented at the Penn relay races to-morrow by one of the fastest teams that she has sent to this event for years. Coach Guyer made the final selection after two try-outs. Harry Holden, formerly of Philadelphia, made the fastest time in the final heat, while MacLaughlin, of last year's team, finished second. The other two men to place for regular jobs were Williams and Isaacs, with Kennedy as fifth man. MacLaughlin has had the most experience and was elected captain. He is a York lad of the class of 1914 and ran on the high school track team of that place. The baseball team is warming up for their game with Susquehanna at Annville on Saturday.

The Sportlight

Song of the Stalwart
By Grantland Rice

Copyright, 1917, The Tribune Association (New York Tribune).

What Fate may offer—four or fair—
Against the shadowed sky—
I'll play my role—I'll do my share—
I'll keep my head held high—
I'll take the Game's break as it comes
From now beyond the muffled drums.

I'll let the soft years fade from view,
As sun-drift through the wood,
To give my share of what is due
To serve the common good:
For where in full each gives his part
The load is lighter from the start.

The Home of the Batting Eye

There must be something in Cleveland's general atmosphere, to bolster up the Batting Eye.

First there was Nap Lajoie, and shortly after his arrival the Cleveland club one season boasted no less than eight 300 hitters in Lajoie, Flick, Clarke, Bemis, Rossman, Bay, Bradley and Turner.

Then as Larry began to wane Joe Jackson arrived. Jackson's first two years were 408 and 395.

When Jackson passed on to Chicago Tris Speaker soon arrived from Boston. The Texan could always hit, but his general average had been about 40 points below Cobb's. But once established in Cleveland harness, his first official act was to dethrone Cobb and end his nine-year reign. And now for the new campaign Speaker is once more out in front of the pack.

Cobb's main opponents have always been Cleveland entries—Lajoie, Jackson and Speaker. And if any citizen outstays Cobb this season the fusillade is almost sure to come from Cleveland rampart.

The Giants of Yesterday

"Where are the snobs of yesterday?" queried the poet. We have no distinct idea, but the Giants of Yesterday are almost as badly scattered. Merkle, Doyle and Linnegar with the Cubs—Stock with the Phillies—Mathewson with the Reds—Rudolph and Gowdy with the Braves—Marquard and Meyers with the Dodgers—Bescher and Ames with the Cardinals—about the only ball club the Giants haven't replenished with talent is Pittsburgh. Of the 1913 Giants—McGraw's last pennant tribe—only four remain—Fletcher, Herzog, Burns and Tesreau.

Fandom's Response

We, too, thought of Cobb and Speaker. In a bygone other day.
Thinking not of fame and glory,
Only longed to see them play:
When the sun shone on the bleachers,
And the rosters filled the stand,
These old war cries filled our bosoms—
"This is up" or "Ty has fanned."

Stern things now dim the glories

Of the trail of bat and ball;
Uncle Sam calls for his legions—
Fandom clears the way for the call:
Strong for sport and strong in battle,
Every man will take his stand,
Loving still Ty, Tris, etc.,
Loving more our native land.

JOHN H. M'GOUGH.

"What is the best training for war?" asks D. H. L.—"football, baseball, golf, tennis, boxing or track." The best training for war is probably war. Next to this football or boxing furnishes the hardest physical virtues.

Bennie Leonard now has the right of way for a championship assault upon Freddie Welsh, provided the details can be arranged and the country serious a championship fight at this stage. If conditions grow more likely to take place as long as other professional sport is carried on. If the two meet over a fifteen or twenty-round distance Leonard should win. Welsh could hardly hold out for twenty-rounds against the younger challenger. Welsh bagged the lightweight title three years ago, and he was no infant even then. He has about served his time at the top of the peak.

THE WHITE SOX

In the midst of his stirring New York campaign, where he has been turning thousands away, Billy Sunday took off time enough a few nights ago to pick the White Sox as the new American League champions. "The Red Sox are a great team," he said, "and so are the Yanks and Tigers." But the White Sox and Giants are the next world series people if there is anything to speak of in the dope.

BIG KICK FROM CHAMBERSBURG

Chambersburg, April 27.—The Chambersburg club of the Blue Ridge Baseball League has served formal notice upon President Jamison of Hagerstown, that it would not abide by the resolution adopted by the league on Tuesday, fixing a maximum salary limit of $1,100 a month for each club. This is based on the fact that the class D limit is set by baseball law at $1,400 and upon the additional fact that the clubs especially Chambersburg, cannot get the class of players the fans demand for any such rate as $1,100 a month. Chambersburg management will not make false affidavits to paying $1,100 or less when the facts are that more is paid and the idea now is to bring the matter to a head.

Freddie Welsh to Be Captain of Rough Riders

New York, April 27.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, has been given a commission as captain in the Ozark Rough Riders. Chevalier Daniel McKittrick and Harry Pollok, Welsh's manager, have agreed to go into the Welsh troop as privates. The Ozark Rough Riders have not yet been organized but Colonel H. P. Dickinson, on whose ranch Stanley Ketchel was killed, is now on his way to Washington to ask authority for raising the Ozark regiment.
