

MINISTERS HEAR OF SCOUT MOVE

Commissioner Buddy Tells Them of Campaign; To Enlist Boys For Gardening

"What Shall We Do With the Boys?" was the subject that Lewis Buddy, Field Scout Commissioner, used to drive his campaign home to the Ministerial Association of Harrisburg at the annual meeting to-day. The members of the association, who gathered in the Boyd Memorial Hall to listen to Mr. Buddy, fully convinced of the merits of his campaign. Mr. Buddy spoke to the Civic Club at 4 o'clock this afternoon, showing what the co-operation will result in when all the public organizations pledge their support to a movement.

At 12:30 to-morrow noon the Citizens' Committee will meet for a noonday luncheon at the Harrisburg Club. Mr. Buddy will at that time outline the work to be done by the committee and his aims for the Boy Scout movement in this city.

Employees of the Moorhead Knitting Company will gather in the assembly room at noon Thursday to listen to Mr. Buddy explain his mission. Yesterday Mr. Buddy spoke to five audiences, most of whom have since become loyal supporters of the Boy Scout movement.

To Take Up Gardening
One of the chief things that is being enforced upon the minds of the boys whom Mr. Buddy is daily instructing in the part they may play in the present crisis is the assistance they can give to the intensive gardening movement.

Practical plans for the systematic organization of 2,000,000 boys into an army of youthful farmers to help make and harvest the crops have been suggested by Alexander Reading Gulluck, New York attorney and practical farmer, in a letter to the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, of Washington.

He suggests that the most natural and best method would be through an extended organization of the Boy Scouts of America. If this is not practicable, then a distinct organization under governmental control, to be known by some suitable name, as for instance, Boy Service Army of the Cadets of America.

Public announcement should be made calling upon all boys from the age of fourteen to eighteen to call at designated places to apply and register their names as willing to go out into this great work of crop raising, he says.

The camp plan is a much better plan, Mr. Gulluck believes, than sending away two or more boys to various sections of the country to live on farms alone. There would be lost the discipline and control that the camp life affords, and there would be great danger that the boys would not be properly housed and fed.

Fixed rates of wages should be established, to be paid by the farmer. In this should be included the boy's transportation and the cost of his living at the camp. The hours of labor of these boys should not exceed, in the beginning, seven hours. Work should begin at eight o'clock and stop at five, with two hours' rest at midday.

Russian Peace Advocates Do Not Want Premature Agreement With Germany

Petrograd, April 29, via London, April 30.—It is evident from foreign telegrams that the attitude of the Russian democracy toward peace has been misconstrued and distorted by the foreign press. The desire for peace has become more widespread and articulate since the revolution, but it is based on entirely different conceptions from those entertained during the old regime.

These new conceptions have nothing to do with a premature peace with Germany. As a matter of fact they have not taken any definite form, simply emanating from the new spirit of democracy which wishes to build a foundation for a durable world peace.

The idea of a separate peace died here with the old regime. There is no talk of this even among the most advanced Socialistic factions.

Washington, April 30.—A bill providing for the erection of a site for the erection of a new postoffice building at Middletown, Pa., was introduced in the House by Congressman Kreider.

At the last session of Congress a similar bill was introduced by Congressman Kreider, providing $65,000 for the new building. It was included in the omnibus bill which was vetoed by President Wilson, because of the war expenses.

RED CROSS PACE SET BY CITY'S SUBURBS

hope to have in Harrisburg. That would give the Red Cross 20,000 members in the city alone, instead of the slightly more than 4,000 listed in the last two weeks.

"Harrisburg has always been a leader in all sorts of movements of this kind," continued Mr. Jennings, "and it is not going to fall behind now. It is not going to see the smaller communities round about set the pace for it in Red Cross membership, and the campaigners are going this week determined to put Harrisburg in its proper place. Not to be a member of the Red Cross is not to be truly patriotic, and Harrisburg people always have been patriotic."

City Now Has Camp
With the enrollments in the local chapter reaching 5,000 late Saturday afternoon, Harrisburg became a Red Cross Camp. The final count registered 5,060 members.

The local Red Cross leaders who have been directing the membership campaign, although pleased with the results of the first two weeks of the canvasses, are determined to swell the ranks of the Harrisburg Camp by several thousand before the end of the present week.

"That little ambulance has begun its second trip, observed a citizen to-day as he stopped in front of the Red Cross headquarters at 206 Walnut street, "and it will need a lot of gasoline to reach its destination (the city limit) in time. But the people of Harrisburg will not let it become stalled on the way. I expect to see it make a third trip."

Work With New Energy
The house-to-house canvasses covering the thirteen city wards began their work this morning with renewed energy. They expect to secure many memberships this week from citizens who will receive salaries on the first of the month. Only a few of the canvassers have turned in their reports at headquarters.

The membership office at headquarters will be open daily this week from 10 to 5 o'clock, and from 9 to 9 o'clock in the evening. The workrooms, beginning to-day, will observe summer hours. They will be open only on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 5 o'clock, and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Has Spent Millions
A bulletin giving the complete history of the American Red Cross has been issued at national headquarters of the society in Washington. It shows that since its inception in 1905, the American Red Cross has spent a total of $10,967,061.63 for the relief of victims of wars and disasters.

The bulletin, entitled "Organization and Activities," has been prepared in response to a country-wide demand for information about the Red Cross.

With the bulletin, any person can quickly obtain knowledge of the many activities of the national organization. It tells every person what he or she can do for the Red Cross, how to join it, how to organize chapters and auxiliaries to chapters, the different ways in which the Red Cross spends its money, and finally gives a financial account of its stewardship since the year 1905.

With reference to the Red Cross war work, the bulletin gives this summary:

"It gives volunteer aid to the sick and wounded.

"It gives aid to the dependents of soldiers and sailors.

"It makes no distinction of class, creed or race.

"It is a relief clearing house, permanent, responsible, and experienced."

"It is a semi-governmental agency for the collection and distribution of money and supplies for relief purposes."

"It is the only volunteer society authorized by the government to aid our land and naval forces in time of war."

The bulletin, No. 114, may be had by sending to the National Red Cross Society, Washington, D. C.

"PATRIOTIC LOYALTY"
"Patriotic loyalty" is the only proper attitude for any citizen to assume now, declared the Rt. Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Harrisburg, in a petition asking every member of the Catholic Church to pray fervently and frequently that this conflict of the ages may soon end. The letter was mailed to every priest in the diocese and was read to congregations yesterday.

Several Organizations Appoint Representatives to Meeting on Thursday

Steelton's patriotic demonstration May 19, judging from recent developments will be a great success.

Some organizations have appointed the committees and many of the churches will appoint representatives for the meeting Thursday evening at the midweek prayer meetings.

Announcement was made by the Businessmen's Association this morning that the following committee had been appointed: George Long, B. F. McNear, Jr. and Ralph Eckels.

A committee will probably be appointed at the monthly meeting of the Municipal League in the Steelton Trust Company building to-night.

At a congregational meeting of the First Reformed Church yesterday the move was heartily endorsed and the following committee was appointed: Charles W. McCoy, C. E. Harclerode and Dr. D. E. Myers.

The joint committee will be held in A. O. H. Hall, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
