Organize Training Squad at St. James' Church

Under the direction of the Rev. J. C. Thompson, of St. James' Church a boys' company has been organized from members of the Junior Holy Name Society of the church and will give military training by Trooper Daniel Crowley, a Steelton member of Troop C. (Governor's Troop), First Pennsylvania Cavalry of Harrisburg. The intention is to have the boys given preliminary training that will put them in good shape when they arrive at the age, several years later, when they will be called into service by the Government to receive the military instruction that all young men in the future will be compelled to undergo. It is the belief of the promoters of the organization that good results will come to the boys in every way from this early training. The command is made up of those in the society from about 11 to 15 years old.

The training will be under the direction of Trooper Crowley, who served with the Governor's Troop at the Mexican Border for eight months and who is a thoroughly competent and well-trained drillmaster. The first instruction was given last evening when 50 boys assembled in the large school yard adjoining the church property in Second street, below Jefferson. Captain Charles P. Meek, of Harrisburg, for many years an officer of the Governor's Troop was present at the first drill and gave a talk to the young soldiers, advising them as to their duties and what would be expected of them in the years to come, when they would reach the age at which they would be called to the army for instruction and training.
