BUY A BOND

EX-CONGRESSMAN BURKE, who addressed the Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting this week, impressed upon his hearers the importance of purchasing without stint the government bonds which will be floated shortly to meet the expenses of the present war.In a very short time the first of these bonds will be on sale in Harrisburg. "Buy a bond" should be the slogan for everybody who has the price of one. Government bonds are as good as gold. Banks readily loan money on them and there is always a good market for them.Hundreds of people are living today on the proceeds of bonds purchased during the Civil War. "As good as a government bond" is a familiar saying. Let us illustrate our belief in the government and our willingness to help finance the war by buying as many bonds as our finances permit.April showers make May flowers, but what we arise to ask, do May showers make?THE FORUM'S PLACE THERE place the Forum, the association of progressive colored men and women of Harrisburg, holds among the people of that race is illustrated by the fact that the Committee of Twenty-five, which recently held a very successful entertainment, has made a liberal contribution to its support.The Forum has had a very distinctly up-lifting influence among the colored people of Harrisburg. It has brought to the city many of the best known speakers in the country and the messages of encouragement they have delivered to the large audiences which invariably attend Forum meetings, have done much to promote the good citizenship movement.The Forum has closed its meetings for the summer, but the brief recess during the warm months will serve only to whet the appetites of its members for the good things promised for next season. Those at the head of the organization are doing a very good work for the city and for their race. They deserve the support they are receiving."Russians Lose Much"—Newspaper headline. Then all is lost.STEELTON'S CELEBRATION HARRISBURG should contribute as generously to the success ofSteelton's patriotic celebration as that town did to the Harrisburg demonstration last month. Hundreds of Steelton men, headed by the famous Bethlehem band, marched in the great parade and we should return the compliment by swelling the ranks of the Steelton marchers.Steelton is an important spot on the war map. From its gigantic furnaces and immense mills and factories is going forth the stream of steel without which all our efforts to make successful war on Germany would be of no avail. It is good to note that her people desire to register the temper of their patriotism in this public way, and that not least among the parades will be scores of foreign-born workmen.GIVE FIGHTERS A PREFERENCE THERE are a number of things that could be done by Federal, State and municipal authorities to encourage enlistments in the army.For example, assurance could be given that when the war is over, men who have served their country in war shall have preference in public employment in time of peace. This could not be carried to the extent of giving such men a prior right, but service with the colors in war should be a very material factor in determining fitness.A man who can carry a rifle and other equipment on the march, should be a good mail carrier. The soldier who has the strength and courage to charge the enemy's trenches, should make a good forest ranger. Men who serve faithfully on the firing line ought to be fairly good members of a police force.Hundreds of places in the public service can be found where qualified men with creditable records in the war could be employed with results at least as satisfactory as those nowattained. Service in the army should not give a man a mortgage on a public position, but it should give him a substantial degree of preference when selections are to be made.Please, Mr. Weatherman, don't you know we have a lot of seeds in the ground?STUPID CENSORSHIP NOTHING will do so much to develop militarism in this country as stupid censorship. When the people shall no longer be permitted to know what is transpiring in the conduct of their public affairs, then the step to arbitrary and tyrannical control is a short one.Out of Washington comes the story that the most important feature of a recent statement of Marshal Joffre was eliminated, notwithstanding that his appeal for the presence of American soldiers in France was regarded as of moral value to our affairs. The American people and the American newspapers will never permit bureaus or pinhead politi-cals to suppress the information to which the people are entitled.American newspapers already have manifested a desire to co-operate with the officials at Washington in every reasonable way. They have even taken the initiative in many directions and have been generally commended for their patriotic stand.
It, therefore, would be little short of criminal to hamper them in their patriotic work by a censorship that will conceal from the people the things which they should know.Fortunately, there are still a few men in Congress big enough to insist upon a reasonable attitude in this matter. No newspaper is insisting upon anything which may be dangerous to the country or inconsistent with prudential regulations in time of war. It is proper, of course, to provide against any publicity which might be of benefit to the enemy, but it doesn't follow that the sources of news should be choked in order to accomplish that which is manifestly the right thing under war conditions.NOT "ON THE BUM" Kansas City couldn't afford to advertise itself before the country as the city that tried to get a fine piece of sculpture and fell down on the job. So, not only has it subscribed the necessary $10,000 and has made a start toward a collection of statues of which some day it will be proud, but it isn't "on the bum" in Kansas City—except in so far as people back and make no effort to do anything.—Kansas City Star.The foregoing editorial from one of the most important newspapers of the country brings Harrisburg squarely face to face with our own humiliating art situation—the failure of our authorities to properly install the Donato statuary, the generous gift of M. S. Hershey.Kansas City is manifestly trying to obtain a collection of statuary, and in order to save itself the shame of failure joins in a subscription of $15,000 to purchase a piece of sculpture. Here we are presented with a $25,000 group of statuary and permit it to languish in a warehouse, covered with dust, while we sit idly back and permit the finger of scorn to point at us.It is not pleasant to call attention to these shortcomings of our administration. It is much more agreeable to command and applaud everything that is done for the progress of the city. But when so many things are constantly transpiring to destroy public confidence in our system of administration and in our ways of doing things, especially after a long period of creditable achievement, the voice of at least one newspaper, though it may be crying in the wilderness of complaint, shall be raised in protest. Art is not "on the bum" here, nor is this good old town, much as a few people are contributing to that end.GOOD LEGISLATION THE bill introduced the other day by E. R. Smith, the active young member of the House from Bedford county, divorcing the sale of alcoholic drinks from cabaret and similar attractions, has all the earmarks of good legislation. The bill provides:That for and after the passing of this act it shall be unfavorable for any person or persons licensed to sell vinous, spirituous malt or brewed liquors to maintain or keep any cabaret or dancing, whether by any person or by any guests, customers whatsoever upon any part or any premises so licensed; or any cabaret shows, vaudeville or other atrical entertainments, or exhibitions of moving pictures upon any part of the premises so licensed.The dance hall with the saloon attached has ever been a source of evil.
The whole community has paid in tears and dollars for this adjunct to the liquor trade. The cabaret is only a modern development of the dance hall. About the only difference between the two is the price of drinks and the size of the pocketbooks of frequenters.The only reason for the various forms of entertainment provided by dealers in liquor is to encourage the sale of their wares and to increase receipts. They serve no purpose for good in the community and it is doubtful if any court would classify under the doubtful "necessity" clause of the Brooks high license act, if the point were raised, saloons requiring outside attractions of the kind outlined in Mr. Smith's bill.ANOTHER GUESS COMING A BULGARIAN statesman argues that by entering the war the United States really ceased to make war on Germany, because we shall now have to keep our munitions at home for our own troops.
That highly intellectual Bulgar, who reasons like a German philosopher, should know that this country has not yet thrown in his high gear for the production of war materials.German efficiency has not yet devised a way to feed a family without food.The energy put forth by the Germans in destroying the towns they abandon will be sorely needed a few weeks later in the defense of their own towns in Germany.—Rochester Herald.

Charles M. Schwab says:

I have always felt that the surest way to qualify for the job just ahead is to work a little harder than any one else on the job one is holding down.One of the most successful men I have known never carried a watch until he began to earn $10,000 a year.
Before that he had managed with a nickel alarm clock in his bedroom, which he never forgot to wind.

BUSHINESS IN THE CIVIL WAR

BUSHINESSMEN who are naturally concerned in making their plans for the future on the effect of the war on trade will be interested in the economic conditions that developed in the North in the Civil War.The country went into war in the hard times that followed the panic of 1857. It did not recover from the effects of that panic for about five years. By 1862, however, the demand for goods had passed the production and era of unprecedented industrial activity began.From that time, James Ford Rhodes writes, "until the end of the war trade was active, manufacturers labored constantly employed and failure recklessly few. In 1862 the attendance of the Senator and witnesses. Ex-Judge James Gay Gordon
