Commission Plans to Distribute Park Plots Among Local Gardeners

It was decided to submit a plan to Council which will recommend the Borough Engineer, a Callaghan mark off lots in the park, with a thirty-foot frontage and give them out for farming purposes.

A record of the list of gardeners and the plots they hold will be kept and gardeners will be instructed not to destroy the small trees that have recently been planted there.

air space between, which serves to protect the upper story from the direct heat of the sun. There are also wide two-story screened porches around the house on three sides, so as to get all the benefit of the northeast trade wind which prevails during the summer. BOY SCOUTS DO NOT CARRY GUNS

Movement Not Designed to Put Idea of Killing in Minds of Lads

The Boy Scout movement does not put the idea of killing in the minds of Boy Scouts; it does not put instruments of death into their hands. Uncle Sam does not want boy soldiers. Military work is a man's work. There is no reason why the nation should ask its boys to become soldiers. They are needed for boys' work.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Major General Leonard A. Wood, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the United States Army—these men, seriously concerned with the proper preparation of our boys for their full duty as citizens, are officers of the Boy Scouts of America. On April 2, Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, wrote:

"The necessary elementary instruction that every young American should have in order to be prepared to play his part in the national defense can be obtained by his work in the Boy Scouts of America."

A National Education Committee, after thorough investigation of the advisability of military training for school boys, reported:

"The movement and the activities of similar associations of young people, which avoid military exercises, but which involve training designed to promote health and strength, and inculcate courtesy, mutual respectfulness, uprightness and patriotic devotion should be encouraged."

The boys' work in the Boy Scouts of America does not include strictly military drill. The Scout movement has found a far better way to train and use boys in our country's service in times like these. The eminent military men named above, the President of the United States, Governors, educators, pastors, business and professional men know, and have said, that the Scout movement provides more beneficial training for boys of scout age than any "military" course.

PRIMITIVE SMITH'S SHOP HAS CRUDE BELLOWS

The American village blacksmith has his counterpart not only in all parts of the civilized world but even among the primitive peoples, as an illustration in the Popular Mechanics Magazine indicates. The picture was taken in Angola, in Central West Africa. The crude shop is merely a spot out in the open at which is assembled a collection of the simplest tools. The most intricate devices employed is the bellows, the air pipe for which is made of burnt clay and terminates close to the fireplace. A stone holds it in place and at its opposite end are four small air-chambers covered with deer or goat skins. Each skin is provided with a slender handle which a blower pushes up and down rapidly, producing a rather weak but steady draft, for a comparatively large amount of work. The air blower often do surprisingly good work is shown by implements they make.
