COURT TO ACT ON EXAMINATION

Enlargement of Borough of Camp Hill Being Considered at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., May 8.—Hearing in the matter of the proposed annexation to the borough of Camp Hill, of a section of East Pennsboro township, was expected to close late this afternoon and the Grand Jury to act on this presentation, the principal feature of the May term of Quarter Sessions Court for this county.

The regular business was completed yesterday, but the presentation as regards annexation was made a special act by Judge Sadler and was taken up following the other business of the jury. A protest against the annexation, signed by 130 residents of the territory which would be included, was presented by Fillmore Haupt, of Carlisle, representing the remonstrants. E. M. Biddle, Jr., also employed as counsel for those opposed to the expansion, declared that as the advertisement read that application would be made on "Monday, May 8," that the presentation was illegal. A. M. Bowman represented those in favor of the change.

The majority of the cases listed were of minor importance. Lemuel R. Spang, a resident of the Lower End, was found guilty of violating the state act regulating the sale of lime. The State Department was the prosecutor in the case.

BREAK ANOTHER RECRUITING MARK

Force of Captain Harrell Eclipses Previous Mark of 49; Collegians Enroll

The Harrisburg district for army recruiting, yesterday, smashed its record of 13 men for a single day and raised it to 178. The district, in charge of Captain William F. Harrell, is the smallest in the State, but despite this fact is leading Pennsylvania in the number of recruits received, contributing over forty per cent. of the entire number. During the month of April the district has enlisted a complete regiment and more than 3,000 men have been sent to training camps since February. Yesterday was the busiest day since the office has been opened in this city. The entire party worked from early dawn until late in the night examining and preparing the recruits to send to training camps. Muhlenberg county, Pa., furnished nearly half of the men enlisted yesterday; they arrived on a special train with seventy other recruits late yesterday afternoon. There were fifty of the students in the party and all were passed and enlisted in the various branches of the service. They left on an early train with over a hundred other recruits this morning.

FIGHTING FOR GOOD STREETS

West Fairview Taxpayers Appeal to Borough Council For Improvement

West Fairview, Pa., May 8.—That street repairing in the borough is desired more by residents than by members of council and officials was shown by the action of taxpayers at a meeting of council last night. A petition was presented by taxpayers asking that streets in the borough be repaired, and council answered the appeal with a report that they had no money available. An ordinance providing that all property holders lay pavements which passed first reading by council met with much disapproval by taxpayers at the meeting. These residents said that there was no use to lay pavements with the deplorable conditions existing in the streets and that they would fight any move to make them lay pavements until the streets are put in good shape. The fireplug ordinance came up on third reading and was tabled until the next meeting.

Suffered with Catarrh for Twelve Months Four Bottles PERUNA Made Me a Different Person

THE FIRST PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES owned and used The Encyclopaedia Britannica, 3rd Edition, in its original bulky, unwieldy form, printed on old-fashioned THICK PAPER which necessitated a large, awkward book that had to be supported upon a table.

THE 28th PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES has the advantage of using The Encyclopaedia Britannica, 11th Edition, which contains 50% more reading matter, but is printed on thin INDIA PAPER and is as easy to hold and read as a magazine.

IN 1797 the stage coach traveling between Philadelphia and New York took two days to cover the ninety miles. In 1917 the Pennsylvania Railroad Express, over practically the same route, makes the run in two hours.

In 1797 it meant a four-hour drive by horse and carriage from Perth to the Golf Club at St. Andrew's. In 1917 you can easily motor over the same twenty-five miles under the hour.

In 1797 a sailing vessel often took three months to make the voyage from New York to Liverpool. In 1917 the Mauretania can make the same trip in just over five days.

There is just as much difference between The Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed on old-fashioned thick paper, and the new Britannica, "Handy Volume" Issue, printed on genuine India paper, as there is between the stage coach of 1797 and the Philadelphia Express of 1917; between the horse and carriage, traveling eight miles an hour, and the modern motor, traveling 50 miles an hour; between the sailing vessel and the ocean steamship.

If you want the old-fashioned stage coach-horse and carriage-sailing vessel kind of an Encyclopaedia Britannica you need not be in any hurry to buy now. You can get the heavy, bulky, thick paper Britannica at any time. But if you want the modern "Handy Volume" Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed on genuine India paper, you must order at once.

The sets of the "Handy Volume" Britannica, printed on genuine India paper, now in stock are all that we can get. These are going at the rate of more than 2000 sets a week. The end of this sale is almost here. When the last set is sold no one will be able to buy the Britannica in this, its handiest form, at any price. No more can be printed. We cannot get another set from the publishers, because they positively cannot get any more of the genuine India paper. No more India paper can be made because two necessary raw materials—flax from Belgium, Germany or Ireland and hemp from Russia—because of the war, are now absolutely unobtainable, and no more can be secured for many years.

But—this also means that no more of the Cambridge University issue of the Britannica and Century Dictionary can be had on genuine India paper.

We could probably sell many thousands more sets of the "Handy Volume" Issue of The Encyclopaedia Britannica if we could get them. As this sale nears the end we are receiving, daily, thousands of inquiries asking for information about the "Handy Volume" Britannica on this wonderful India paper. When we announce the last day on which orders can possibly be filled we know that many orders will be sent in that we cannot supply sets for. Sets can be seen and orders left at: Dives, Pomeroy & Stewart

Now you must order or you Never can get it. It is too late now—the sale is too nearly over—for you to write for information about this wonderful work. Because—the last procurable set will be sold before you could get our Britannica booklet, read it, make up your mind about buying and get your order back to us. But—you, too, can learn if the Britannica will be useful and helpful to you and you can be in time to order if you will go TODAY to the store named below, see the complete set, examine the books, see the various bindings, learn the prices and the plan of paying for the books on conveniently small monthly payments. Then, when you know the Britannica is what you want, leave your order in the store.

If you already know that The Encyclopaedia Britannica will prove useful and helpful to you in your business and in your home life, sign and send this "Reserve" Order form at once, and you will be in time to get one of these last sets. Those who cannot go to this store may use this "Reserve" Order Form, which will be legally binding upon us to reserve one set for you, just the same as if you ordered it in person. SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO., Chicago, Illinois. Please reserve me a set of the "Handy Volume" Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed on genuine India paper. I enclose $1.00 as first payment. Send me an order form which I agree to sign and return immediately. Name: Street and Number: City: P. O. Address: ckr-317
