HARMON KEPHART "FACES THE GUNS

State Treasurer's Friends Give Him Dinner; 'He Makes His First Speech

State Treasurer Harmon M. Kephart faced the guns last night. He had established the unique record of having gone farther in Pennsylvania public life without making a speech than any man called to high place had been in Fayette county politics' for thirty years or so, had been a candidate for the Legislature and candidate for the Legislature and had been in many a contest and convention and had wound up as a candidate on a State ticket with Seator Charles A. Snyder he has never made a real speech.

The occasion for the new treasurer making the speech and a new record was a dinner given to him by Senators W. C. Sproul and James P. McNichol at the Harrisburg Club, one of the most elaborate functions of the kind in years. The members of the Senate and some of its officers, Speaker Baldwin and a few representatives, friends of the, new treasurer and legislative correspondents were present. Lieutenant Governor Frank B. McClain presided and was in rare form. Mr. Kephart listened to eulogies from friends and was about to get away without making a speech when the Lieutenant Governor called on Senator Clarence J. Buckman, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. The peace-loving Quaker from Bucks presented Mr. Kephart with a sizable check as a tribute from his friends in the Senate with instructions that Mrs. Kephart with a sizable check as a tribute from his friends in the Senate with instructions that Mrs. Kephart was to tell him how to spend it.

Mrs. Kephart was to tell him how to spend it.

"Faces the Guns"

Mr. Kephart got up and said that he was "facing the guns at last." He told how he came to Harrisburg as a soldiers' orphan from McAllistersville school to attend the inauguration of Governor Hoyt and was imbued with the idea of becoming a legislator. He then gave the story of his life, how he was elected to the House from Fayette and the recital of the reasons for his success, closing with a tribute to a splendid mother, something to which the guests listened with rapt attention. It was Kephart's first speech, but it was something which the senatorial veterans recalled to-day with greatest interest.

Other speakers were Senator W.

Other speakers were Senator W. E. Crow, referred to as Kephart's side-partner; Senator W. C. Sproul, who said that he would rather be a Senator of Pennsylvania than a councillor of empires and that he had seen administrations come and the Senate go right on uncouncillor of empires and that he had seen administrations come and go and the Senate go right on unruffled and efficient; Senator E. H. Vare, who said that he liked the Kephart "boys" because there was nothing "fancy" about them; Auditor General Charles A. Snyder, who paid tribute to the new Treasurer as a State official and friend and who all the state official and friend and who deplored some much exploited legislaton as stifling individual effort; Senator James P. McNichol. who differed with Mr. Snyder; President pro tem Beidleman, Senators Burke, Eyre, Hackett, Klime and others; Frank L. Germany Gives Up Hope of Winning an Indemnity

By Associated Press
Copenhagen, May 9.—The Bavarian Staats Zeitung, the semiofficial Bavarian newspaper and the personal organ of Premier Count Hertling, publishes an inspired article denying the necessity of Germany's demanding a cash indemnity as one of her peace conditions. Count Hertling has just returned from a visit to Viénna where he had conferences with Emperor Charles and Foreign Minister Czernin. The German newspapers claim that these conferences were intended to find a common ground between Count Czernin's suggestions of peace wintout annexation and Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg's peace program.

The article in the Staats Zeitung is regarded, in view of the circumstances, as important as reflecting the ideas of the Bavariaa prime minister. It suggests that an agreement to supply needed raw materials at a low price or perhaps free might be a substitute for a cash indemnity. The writer goes on to declare that an agreement to permit German trade on its former terms in the old markets, the return of German ships and the surrender of German ships and the surrender of German colonies would be the equivalent of millions of indemnity.
