STATE HELPS MEN TO SECURE SEEDS

Department of Agriculture Has Been Successful in a Number of Instances

For the first time on record the state of Pennsylvania has gone out and gotten seed for farmers and vegetable growers without spending any money and without costing the buyers a cent. In other words, Father Penn has been acting as a middleman without charging any commission and has been the means of breaking up some extortion.

A month ago the mail of the Department of Agriculture was filled with complaints from farmers and persons anxious to plant vegetables that they were being "soaked" big prices for seed potatoes and beans and asking for relief. Suggestions that the state buy up a lot of seeds or seed material were found to be impossible under the law, and a proposition to spend $25,000 of the $2,000,000 defense fund for that purpose was turned down because of difficulties in the way.

The department officials then turned to the men on their lists and succeeded in localities where hundreds of seed potato-raising counties and by its system of mailing lists got the farmers and others into touch. It is estimated that thousands of bushels will be sold through this practical system and the buyers saved many dollars. When seed potatoes were being held for $5 a bushel in cities they were being sold at $2.50
