BENNY LEONARD WINS LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP; KNOCKS OUT ENGLISHMAN

New York, May 29.—Benny Leonard won the world's lightweight championship by knocking out Freddie Welsh in the ninth round of a ten-round match here last night. Welsh was down for the last time at the end of a series of rushes by Leonard that drove him from corner to corner. The champion had taken a severe beating during the early rounds and the punishment had begun to tell when the gong for the ninth round sounded. Leonard scored his fifth consecutive knockout in his many weeks, Referee McPartland stopping the bout when Welsh was hanging helplessly on the ropes in Leonard's corner. It was a technical knockout and will be credited as such.

In NO MAN'S LAND Far to the right the big guns will then story; Far to the left the shrapnel hurries by; Singing again its song of death and glory. Where, in between, the marching ghosts drift by; As they march in lines still watch vivid tokens Flashed through the dusk in all its crimson gleam. But here, through the night, we hold our sleep unbroken, Dreamers too worn to dream.

WELLY'S CORNER

Frankie McGuire, the local boxer, handed Morris Wolf, the Philadelphia fighter, a hard job last night. It was the feature bout on Frankie Ernie's card at Lancaster. McGuire was given two hours' notice to get ready to meet Wolf, and he did it. The local boy takes good care of himself and is always ready for a hard battle. He put it all over Wolf Billy Mehring accompanied McGuire to Lancaster, and looked after his interests. Announcement was made yesterday that because of illness in his family in New York, Mike Donlin, manager of the Memphis Southern Association Club, had resigned. Cy Barger, former Tristater and Dodger, for the last two years pitcher for the team, has been appointed to fill the vacancy temporarily. For the big speedway races at Cincinnati to-morrow, 26 entries are reported. Many prominent drivers are on the list and some new records are expected. Trial spins have brought new figures. The track is said to be in excellent condition. The Lehigh meet scheduled for Saturday has been called off. Tech and Central were entered with a large list of athletes. Tech will enter for the Eastern circuit under the auspices of Lafayette College. Officials of the Keystone Motorcycle Club have all plans complete for their big race program at Lebanon to-morrow afternoon. New records are expected. A number of riders have been practicing on the Lebanon track all week. Harrisburg will send a large crowd. The Harrisburg Racing Association will hold a big motorcycle race meet at Potstown to-morrow afternoon. Here is what the Philadelphia Press says about Umpire Johnson, who has been going it all alone this season: "The New York State League has an umpire named Johnson whose work has created comment that of any other umpire since the days when 'Silk' O'Loughlin broke into the game. Johnson is the human information bureau. He not only announces the name of every player as he comes to bat during the game, but he also gives all sorts of information, such as the number of balls and strikes and the number of outs in a pitch, loud enough to be heard in all parts of the grounds. Johnson also has proved to be something besides an automatic scoreboard and announcer, for his work has given complete satisfaction and it is likely that he will be the first of the minor league umpires to rise into the major leagues at the close of this season."

Allison Hill League Schedule Is Changed

Allen H. Fritz, secretary of the Allison Hill Baseball League, has announced that the game postponed from last evening because of rain will be played off Friday night. Last evening's inclement weather kept Stanley and Rosewood, the two leaguers that are to play first honors, from coming together. The contest scheduled for the evening of Memorial Day has been transferred to June 8. Many of the league players will to-morrow figure in contests outside of the city. Galahad versus Stanley is the bill for Thursday night. To-night the Galahads and Reading will meet. Officers of the league are indignant over the treatment being accorded the flag that floats from the flagpole. Twice recently Old Glory has been tampered with, and league officials are taking steps to put an end to the malefactors.

STATE SHOOT TO BE ATTRACTIVE; PROGRAM READY

The twenty-seventh annual meeting and election of officers of the Pennsylvania Trappers' Association and the twenty-sixth trappers' championship of the Keystone State will take place at the grounds at the rear of the property of Dr. S. C. Swallow at Camp Hill. Many sportsmen from Lemoyne, Camp Hill and New Cumberland are expected to take part in the shoot. The program of the event is as follows: The program of the Interstate Association calls for two events at 175 targets each and the Pennsylvania state championship event at 100 targets. Besides the program, there are the events of practice day, a merchandise shoot, event for women, double event, and the two, three and four-man team championship events. The Lindsay trophy goes to the two-man winners, the Reading trophy to the three-man champions and the Harrisburg trophy to the four-man team winners. The winner of the doubles event is awarded the Wolstencraft trophy. The prizes will be awarded so as to reach the greatest number of shooters. In the events on the regular program there will be thirty of the fifty-four trophies valued at $5 each. Merchants of Bradford have contributed many prizes for the merchandise shoot, but on the whole the Bradford Club purchased most of the prizes. They have refrained from asking for contributions or for advertising in the program, devoting the book to the history of the shoot. WE WONDER—

On any warm spring or summer afternoon, around 3 to 3.30 o'clock, we wonder how Hans Wagner feels about it all. Whether he doesn't still imagine himself leaving the bench for the plate with two on and two needed to win—whether he doesn't still imagine himself diving or floundering headlong for a sharp smash toward left with the tying run shooting for home. The habit of twenty years isn't easily broken, especially when that habit is fringed about with the lusty cheers of admiring thousands. If Hans had a million and he could buy the old days with half this amount, we wonder whether or not he would consider the bargain cheap at the price. Baseball meant more to Wagner than any man we have ever known. To know definitely that his time is over and that his last base hit has been recorded must have hit him deeper than ever between 3 and 5 p. m. on some warm and woolly afternoon.

TIGER PENNANTS

Eight years ago Hugh Jennings won his third successive pennant. Since then Hughie has been scrambling up the hillside in vain drives. Weak pitching has more than made the strong attack he has built around Ty Cobb each year, and now it begins to look as if Hughie was again to be halted by the same weakness. The Tigers had a first-class chance to win in 1915, when they bagged 100 victories—usually a pennant margin. Through that season they gave the Red Sox a great battle to the last few strides of the stretch. A hundred victories would have won a pennant almost any other year. The Tigers looked to have all the best of it when the Red Sox turned Tris Speaker over to Cleveland. If Boston, with Speaker, could only beat Detroit three games, Boston, without Speaker, should be fairly easy prey. The result looked to be a pipe last September, when the Red Sox, in addition to Speaker's absence, lost Jack Barry when they were but one game in front, with a long road trip ahead. There was still nothing to it. The Red Sox won with greater ease on the road than Speaker and Barry than they had won at home with these two stars in harness. Considering these two campaigns, the odds against Tiger success are now too bulky to be considered, unless some sudden change arrives. "When all three were at our best," writes S. R. L., "who was the leading putter—Travis, Travers or Oulmet?" When all three were at their best it is almost impossible to imagine anything better. Hence "a tie" would be the fairest answer. The only argument would be as to which was at his best oftenest. Along this line we should say that Travis had fewer poor putting days than any other golfer known.

D-P LEAGUE TO HAVE SIX GAMES

Interesting Decoration Day Schedule For Upper End Teams Marysville, May 29.—The six games to be played in the Dauphin-Perry league to-morrow, it is believed, will furnish the fans a good basis for their judgment as to the outcome of the season. Newport will entertain Marysville on Marshall Field in the morning and in the afternoon Seidel Park, Marysville, will be the scene of the combat. Millerburg and Halifax will play at Millerburg in the afternoon. The fast-going Duncannon team will entertain Dauphin on the Perry county teams playing grounds in the morning and will journey to Dauphin county for the afternoon conflict. Newport is going fast this year and the two conflicts with the Marysville champs will probably be the most important games to-morrow. King Lear and Kid Strickler will be the battery choices for Newport. Cy Davis and Kaitreider, the Albright College hurlers, will do the mound duty for Marysville and Hippensteel will catch. Trostle will cover third base, and Moore, who was spiked on Saturday, is expected to be able to cover his position at short. Other Big Games The Dauphin-Duncannon games promise to be drawing cards. Duncannon, too, has a record three straight, Brenner, fresh from his triumph over Marysville, and Hart,

USE OF CORN AS BREADSTUFF

Meal Lends Itself Readily With Wheat in Making Light Bread Washington, D. C., May 29.—It may not be generally known to the housewife that cornmeal lends itself to the making of "light" bread in combination with wheat flour. It can not, of course, replace wheat flour entirely, but may be used in any proportion up to 25 per cent. of the total flour required and still produce an attractive loaf of bread. Although its volume may be somewhat smaller and its texture somewhat poorer than if made from all wheat flour, such a loaf will be light and spongy, with a rich brown crust, wholesome and very palatable. Two methods for wheat and corn bread have been formulated and tested by H. Wessling, assistant chemist in the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. According to the one method the raw meal is combined directly in preparing the dough and no extra time or labor is required in making the bread this way. According to the second method the meal is partially cooked before introducing it into the dough. While this does entail a slight amount of additional time, the yeast, salt, sugar and loaf of better quality which well repays the extra effort expended. Wheat and Corn Bread No. 1 (Enough for "four loaves.") Two and one-quarter cup flour and one-quarter scant quarts sifted bread flour. Three-fourths pound or two and two-thirds cups of corn meal. Two cakes of compressed yeast. Three level tablespoons of sugar. One and one-fourth level tablespoons of salt. About one quart of liquid (water, milk or equal parts of milk and water). Three level tablespoons of shortening if desired. If milk is used it should be scalded and then cooled to lukewarm. Less yeast may be used, but more time for rising will then be required. Make a sponge with two pounds of white flour, the yeast, salt, sugar and the lukewarm liquid. Cover and set in a moderately warm place to rise, where it will be free from drafts and where the temperature will be between 80 degrees and 88 degrees F. When the sponge has become very light, which should occur within an hour, beat it up thoroughly, add the soft shortening, if this is to be used, and gradually work in the remainder of the wheat flour which has been sifted with the corn meal. Knead the mixture until a smooth an elastic dough has been formed which is fairly soft, but not sticky. The dough is too stiff or too soft, add a little more water or flour as required, kneading well after each addition. Cover and set back to rise until double in volume, which will require from one to two hours. Knead lightly, divide into three or four approximately equal portions, reserving a small ball of dough for an "indicator." Place this ball of dough in a small jelly glass having straight sides, which has been slightly warmed and greased, pan. Place these, together with the glass containing the "indicator," in the same warm place and let rise until the "indicator" shows that it has just doubled in volume. Then place the loaves in steamer, which should be at a good steady heat (400 de-
