WEST SHORE NEWS

Passengers Can Alight on Safe Side of Cars

Wormleysburg, Pa., May 31.—In compliance with a request of the West Shore Firemen's Union, the Valley Railway Company is permitting passengers wishing to change cars at the West End of the Walnut Street bridge to alight from the west side of the cars instead of the opposite side as was heretofore the system. The passengers getting off on the east side stepped between the cars coming from the city and members of the Union claimed this endangered life. Railway officials immediately made the change.
