Five Lancaster Men Refuse to Enroll; Face Arrest Under the Law

Lancaster, Pa., June 6.—Five men of conscription age refused to register in this city yesterday, four of them being Germans. Their names have been sent to the Governor by whom action will be taken.

Draft Will Find Few Slackers in New England

Boston, Mass., June 6.—Such figures as were available to-day indicated that the officials whose records it will be to scrutinize the records of yesterday's registration for the draft will find few slackers in New England. The estimate of those bound by the law to register was exceeded in many places by the number who responded.

Philadelphia Bests Its Estimates in Number of Men Enrolled For Army

Philadelphia, June 6.—Registration in Philadelphia exceeded the government estimates. Because of the slow work of registering aliens some polling places did not complete their work until long after midnight. The total for the city was 172,502. These were subdivided as follows:

Response to Enrollment General in Delaware

Wilmington, Del., June 6.—Registration in Delaware was conducted without the slightest disorder and the responses were prompt and generally enthusiastic. Returns from all but twelve to fifteen districts in lower Delaware show a total of 23,000, considerably less than the government estimate of 29,500. The latter, however, is considered too high, in comparison with the state's total vote of not quite 52,000 at last year's election.

Few Prisoners Are Found Fit For Military Service

New York, June 6.—Returns received to-day from the conscription registration in the eight penal and corrective institutions of New York city revealed that out of more than 1,600 men enrolled not more than 4 or 5 per cent. were found to be fit for military service. Not a man in the workhouse on Blackwell's Island was found to measure up to the physical standards and in the penitentiaries only 15 per cent. of the prisoners were found to be fit.

Pacific Coast Exceeds Its Enrollment Estimates

San Francisco, Cal., June 6.—Registration in the Pacific Coast States, Idaho and Montana, exceeded the estimates made by the provost marshal-general's office at Washington, the partial returns to-day indicated. As an aftermath of the registration at Custer, Mont., a bartender known as "Slim" Dickerman was shot and killed and three men were arrested.

WISCONSIN FIRST By Associated Press Washington, June 6.—Wisconsin's total registration was estimated by Governor Philipp at 218,700. This was the first state to report. Census estimates placed Wisconsin's estimated registration at 229,597.

14,141 ENROLL IN THIS COUNTY for copyists to aid in the big task, which must be completed by June 10.

Two Slackers Known

Only one registrar reported that he knew of two men in his district who had not registered. This was in Lower Swatara township. Notices will be posted that the men are wanted for not registering. It could not be learned whether the men intend to evade the enrollment or could not appear.

654 in One Precinct

As the returns began to pile up to-day in the county districts they were received by Sheriff W. W. Caldwell and Deputies William H. Haft, man and Burton R. Speas. Several of the registrars who made slight errors in tabulating the enrollment of their districts were required to make corrections but all of them expressed a hearty spirit of co-operation and, seating themselves around tables in the available rooms on the second floor of the courthouse, quickly made the changes.

No Disturbances

No complaints were made in the city county of any disturbances and it is believed that the closing of the saloons, particularly in the city, was largely responsible for the order which was maintained without difficulty during the day. Volunteer interpreters were kept busy in districts with large foreign registrations.

Three-year-old Wants Card

Charles Hensel, three-year-old son of Justice of the Peace George W. Hensel, of Lykens Borough, was probably the youngest to get a registration card. Hearing his father talk of the draft enrollment the youngster stole a copy of the card and went to the polling place only two squares from his home, and asked to be enrolled.

Seventy-six in Jail

Warden William A. McIlhenny secured the registrations of seventy-six prisoners of draft age in the Dauphin county jail. C. F. Snyder, of the County Commissioners' office, enrolled twenty-two patients at the Harrisburg Hospital, and Joseph Livingston, the inmates of the State Hospital for the Insane.

As soon as the district tabulation sheets are finished by the city and county boards, work will be started on filing in duplicate registration cards for each one received. Further instructions as to the disposition of the originals and the duplicates are expected within a day or two.

Rotarians as They Used to Be

Youthful pictures of Harrisburg Rotary Club members shown by Photographer Roshon at a recent meeting.

This is D. D. Hammelbaugh, secretary of the School Board for many years, and associated editor of The Rotarian, the international magazine of Rotary, which has a worldwide circulation. Secretary Hammelbaugh is one of the many Rotarians of the Harrisburg club. Notice how ably he holds down his chair. He has been doing that for the benefit of the school district for more years than he cares to tell. He will be one of the Harrisburg delegates to the Atlanta convention this month.

Rotarians Will Take Part in Flag Day Exercises

At a largely-attended meeting of the Harrisburg Rotary Club at the country home of John S. Musser, Washington Heights, last evening that organization voted to join with the Elks in the celebration of Flag Day, June 14. The club will take part in the parade preceding the exercises at Reservoir Park.

Howard C. Fry last evening relinquished the presidency of the club, at the close of a very successful term, to Andrew E. Buchanan, whose inaugural address was given over largely to a discussion of the situation in which the country now finds itself and the service the Rotary Club and its members individually will be able to render.

Replying to a request for information, J. William Bowman, a member of the club and also a director of the Penn-Harris Hotel Company, told the Rotarians of the progress made on the hotel project and explained how the interests of the stockholders have been protected and a dividend on the investment guaranteed those who have put their money into it. Ground will be broken for the new edifice soon as the contractors and the architects have worked out a few necessary details.

John S. Musser, the host, welcomed the members to his home, and at the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by Caterer Rutherford.

Chicago, Ill., June 6.—Registration under the conscription law in the Middle West exceeded expectations of federal officials, incomplete returns to-day indicated. In Chicago, for instance, complete unofficial returns show that 309,024 men registered, while the most liberal forecast for the city was 300,000.
