

HAIG'S ARMY STRIKES HARD NEAR LENS

British Troops Penetrate German Lines For a Depth of Half a Mile on a Two-Mile Front; Successful Operations Carried on Farther North as Far as La Basse; Work on No-Rest Policy

General Haig's evident purpose to give no rest to the Germans before the British front in Belgium and Northern France had a new exemplification last night.

The field of this attack lies from 15 to 20 miles south of that of the big drive made by the British in Belgium on Thursday, which resulted in the capture of the commanding Wytschete-Messines-ridge and the elimination of one of the most annoying salients in the entire line on the western front.

Somewhat widely separated as are the two fields of attack, they bear relation to each of constituting points from which the great manufacturing district of Northern France, centering in Lille may be subjected to alternating pressure.

Expect Fall of Lens

Already the Arras battle, of which this latest development is a continuation, has made serious inroads on the major defenses of this region.

The movement reported to-day apparently means that the British are about to be struck towards clearing the Germans from their long held and much prized French possessions in this area.

The success of the British in the Lens operations may well have been due in part to the necessity the Germans had been under of making heavy concentrations against the British on the Belgian front.

fort it failed of any success. The Germans were completely repulsed, the British holding fast to all the ground they won in Thursday's great push.

HARRISBURG'S LIBERTY LOAN IS $3,605,030

All Records For United States Broken by Campaigners Here; Plan May be Followed Elsewhere; Set Out to Get $2,000,000; Advanced Goal to $3,400,000 and Surpassed That; More to Come Harrisburg and allied towns have subscribed $3,605,030 to the Liberty Loan.

Setting out to run the total up to $2,000,000 in three days, the campaigners ran far above that sum the first day and then, at the suggestion of Chairman Donald McCormick, took the Federal Reserve's estimate of 10 per cent. of all the assets of the banks in the district, which is $3,400,000 and topped that by nearly a quarter million more.

This is the only campaign of its kind waged in the whole of the United States, according to Frank A. Vanderlip, of the National City Bank, N. Y., and by far the most successful. If other districts match up with it the loan will be heavily over-subscribed.

But even as it is the campaigners, while not acting as an organization, will go right along soliciting subscriptions, and it is believed the grand total when the time limit expires, will be nearly $4,000,000 for Harrisburg and the district, or twice the amount originally requested by the government.

The idea of the campaign originated with Donald McCormick, the Clearing House Association, and the committee of the Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce acting with the banks. They procured the services of Edison J. Hockenbury, a professional campaign manager of Harrisburg, who gave his services free, and the teams were organized under his direction.

Mr. Vanderlip will suggest that this plan be followed elsewhere, in communities where there is danger of falling behind. Mr. Hockenbury has gone to Milwaukee, where he has under way a big Red Cross campaign.

HARRISBURG OVER-SUBSCRIBES

Harrisburg.—Harrisburg has greatly over-subscribed its Liberty Loan allotment. Not only did it surpass its original goal of $2,000,000, but ran a quarter million dollars ahead of the 10 per cent. of total bank assets for the city and community fixed by the Federal Reserve Banks. The total subscribed for the three days campaign was $3,605,030. The total subscribed to-day was $864,080. The campaign has been closed, but many of the campaigners will work in the Red Cross campaign to follow.
