Legislators Talk of Extending the Session

Extending the Session Reports that the legislative ses-sion might be extended to July 5 or 12 from June 28 were current on Capitol Hill to-day as a result of the disagreement between the Governor and legislative leaders over the terms of the direct inheritance tax bill. The Legislature has formally fixed June 28 as the date for adjournment and plans to give the Governor thirty days after it adjourns to work on the appropriation bill. If there is an ex-tension of time it will mean that the bills before the General Assembly quits. An extension would also com-plicate confirmation of appointments and stir up things generally. More or less tension is noticed about the Capitol in the matter of adjournment and a fight ovre exten-sion of the time would precipitate a fight.

Computing the total at that average and putting the average of the smaller ships at 1,000 tons, the total loss during slightly less than four months submarine warfare would reach 1,75,000 tons, or about 250,000 tons less than the entire world's ship-ping output during 1916.
