

AMERICAN TANK STEAMER IS SUNK BY SUBMARINE

Four Members of Crew Are Lost in Attack at Sea

CARRIED NAVAL GUNS

John D. Archbold Was Only Two Days Off European Coast

By Associated Press New York, June 19.—The oil tank steamer, John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil Company, has been sunk by a submarine. The announcement was made at the office of the company here to-day. Four members of the tanker's crew were lost. The Archbold was sent to the bottom last Saturday in European waters.

The John D. Archbold was two days out en route to this country from France. The ship was armed and a gunner's crew from an American warship was on board. The names of the missing crew members are Jose Lorenzo, an oiler; Gregorio Soza, a fireman, and Domingo Lazo, a wiper, and a crew member whose name is uncertain. The company has called for further information.

The John D. Archbold was an American steamship of 8,375 tons gross register, built in 1914 at Newport News. The ship left here yesterday for Havre, France, under the command of Captain H. B. Thompson, with a crew of 41 men, of whom 12 were Americans.

Young Aviator Killed in Accident, Known Here

Keene Carruthers, the young aviator accidentally killed at Mineola, Long Island, yesterday, where he was in training as a member of the aviation section of the United States Signal Corps, was a few months ago connected with an automobile agency in Philadelphia. Only this morning David E. Tracy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, received from him an illustrated card showing the handsome young fellow standing in front of his aeroplane and this message:

"The young flier is giving you more than pleasure." He had sold Mr. Tracy his new Fiat car not long ago. Carruthers made a night yesterday with M. Mathieu, a Frenchman. When in the air the motor began to miss and a landing was made. The motor was adjusted and started preparatory to another ascent. The propeller was making 200 revolutions a minute, according to Mathieu, as they approached the machine to resume their seats. Carruthers was ahead of Mathieu, and as he neared the machine he tripped and plunged headlong into the water. Mathieu picked up his unconscious pupil and seating him in the machine flew with him to a hangar. An army ambulance then conveyed Carruthers to a hospital where he died a few minutes later.

Mrs. James I. Chamberlin, chairman of the Red Cross educational committee, urgently requests that all Red Cross nurses in this vicinity see that their names, addresses and telephone numbers are sent to her at headquarters here, so that they may be ready for a speedy call to service.

Colored Girls to Work The local Red Cross chapter desires to form a First Aid class among the young colored girls of the city, with Dr. Charles H. Crampton as instructor. This class will be started as soon as a sufficient number register.

This morning a call was received at headquarters for a wireless class and it is hoped the will soon be open for those who wish to join it. A first requisite, however, is a knowledge of telegraphy. This class in telegraphy is being formed through the courtesy of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

AGGRESSIVE SELLING SENDS MARKET DOWN

Early Dealing in Wall Street Show a Number of Noteworthy Declines in Speculative Equipments, Munitions and Associated Industrial

New York, June 19 (Wall Street).—Aggressive selling for the short account was resumed to-day, early dealings showing a number of noteworthy declines in the speculative equipments, munitions and associated industrials. United States Steel was the chief feature on its initial offering of 16,000 shares at 127 1/2 to 128 1/2, a maximum loss of a point. Bethlehem Steel new stock broke almost on the flat, selling at irregular prices. Pittsburgh Coal was included among the more moderate declines. Motors and industrial alcohol were also down. Complete recoveries in a number of important stocks occurred before the end of the first half hour.

The market was in the greater force with the progress of the session and bears hastened to cover. Steel led the rebound, blocks of 400 and 700 shares being taken at 130 1/2 to 128 1/2, which more than effaced its early reversal. Kindred issues manifested similar recuperation, and Patrick McGee's shares yesterday's final quotations. Rails also developed firmer tendencies and motors supplemented first advances.

TECH EMPLOYMENT BUREAU HAS MORE JOBS THAN MEN

Scores Have Been Placed With Railroads and on Farms; Employers Clamoring For More

Could you put me in touch with a young man who has just finished high school, and who is qualified to accept a position of responsibility? This was a message received at the Technical High school recently, and one of many of the same kind that have finally resulted in the establishment of the Tech Employment Bureau in charge of Professor A. B. Wallize.

One of the big pieces of work done by the bureau, has been the securing of employment during the summer for thirty-three Tech boys to work at the Lucknow and Enola shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Those who were elected June 15, 1917, are: Jay D. Gehrett, Michael Wevodan, Jerry Frock, Gilbert Ebner, Victor Hoar, Warren Hoffman, Edward A. Richwine, Bertram H. Saitzer, Walter Bashore, Chalmer Reynolds, Donald Harvey, Harry W. Doyle, Jr., Howard Jones, George Weir, William Pleasman, Ray D. Wright, Roy W. Dixon, Abram Burkholder, Ralph Lippi, Walton Kerstetter, Neil Pickering, H. K. Hoeyer, Russell Wenerick, Frank Follows, Kenneth Stevens, Luther Haegy, Martin E. Miller, Julius Norken, John S. Smith and Samuel Cohen.

Many of the Tech students have been working during the school term on Saturday and after school in the afternoon. Kenneth Starke, who has been secured through the agency of this bureau, is a graduate of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Paul Eshelman, Oscar Fisher, and John Keller, three graduates through this organization, are with the Harrisburg Electric Light and Power Company. Nelson Harrison, William Trullinger, and Paul Reynolds will do electrical work with the Bethlehem Steel Company.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR EXCAVATION ON HOTEL SITE

Local Man Will Do Work; Saloonkeeper Tries to Hold Up Operations

E. A. Johnson, superintendent of construction for the Nelson-Lewin Company, which is building the Penn-Harris hotel at Third and Walnut streets, stated to-day that the contract for excavation had been awarded to W. H. Murphy, of 2100 State street. This excavation will embrace 5,000 cubic yards, and it is expected that preliminary operations this week will make possible the installation of a giant steam shovel next Monday.

Wants Pole Removed Before evening the last of the big billboards will have been removed and President Wallower, of the Telephone Company, will communicate to the Western Union Telegraph Company this morning requesting the removal of a large pole which is located on the corner of the property which will seriously interfere with the passage of the trucks in removing dirt and delivering building materials in third and Walnut streets. The pole will be displaced after the excavation shall have been completed by sidewalk overhead structures in third and Walnut streets. The pole will permit free use of the sidewalks in both streets.

Causing Trouble W. S. McKay, proprietor of a saloon at 307 Strawberry avenue, which occupies a small brick building owned by the hotel company, threatens to give the hotel corporation trouble. In court to-day the opinion of lawyers that McKay has no standing whatever in his contention with the hotel company was given. McKay is reported to have been selling liquor by the barrel for some time past, but pending a final contract for the construction of the hotel was permitted to remain a tenant on the premises. For a time McKay was expected to vacate the premises, but he has now resumed business at his own risk.
