

HARRISBURG IS SEVENTH CITY

Latest Population Figures Show City Is Making Gains

Figures made public by the recent census estimate for the registration places Harrisburg the seventh city in the state with a population of 73,276.

It is preceded by Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Reading, Wilkes-Barre and Erie. Comparison with the figures of census of former years shows startling growth by some cities while others have dropped several places from the point formerly occupied in the census tables. Secretary to the Mayor Albert M. Hamer has prepared a list of the principal cities of the United States showing the comparison and is having it published in one of the leading municipal development magazines.

This latest government estimate shows remarkable growth since 1910 in many cities, but particularly in Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Oakland, Spokane and Birmingham.

Detroit, with 550,000 population, is now the fourth city in the country, having passed Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh since the last census. In 1890 it ranked 14; in 1900, 13 and in 1910, 9.

The growth of the cities on the Pacific coast has even more remarkable. Los Angeles is now the tenth city, having passed San Francisco and a half dozen other cities since 1910. In 1890 it ranked 84; in 1900, 35 and in 1910, 17. Seattle is now 19, rising from 67 in 1890. Portland is now 21, rising from 58 in 1890. Oakland is now 30, rising from 57 in 1890. Spokane, with only 19,922 people in 1890, ranked 177; in 1900 it had risen to 112; in 1910 to 48, and now it ranks 29.

Have Remarkable Growth

Several cities in other parts of the country have also had remarkable growth. Birmingham, with 26,000 people, was 116 in 1890; in 1900 it was 106; in 1910, 36 and now 33. Schenectady, with 19,000, was 154 in 1890; 132 in 1900; 76 in 1910 and now 67. Houston, with 27,000, was 111 in 1890; 93 in 1900; 67 in 1910 and now 54. Dallas, which ranked 74 in 1890, now ranks 46, and San Antonio, which was 78, now ranks 48. Bridgeport was 56 in 1890 and is now 43; New Bedford was 69 in 1890 and is now 59; Salt Lake was 60 in 1890 and is now 51; Tacoma was 52 in 1890 and is now 53; Youngstown was 88th in 1890 and is now 54th; while Oklahoma City, which only had 4,151 people in 1890, is now 71 with a population of 97,588.

Boston has passed St. Louis but yet remains the fifth city by reason of Detroit's jump to fourth. For the same reason, Cleveland, although gaining 130,000 since 1910, falls to seventh place and thus loses her slogan as "The Sixth City" which she has been using since 1910.

Minneapolis passed Washington and goes to seventeenth place, while Denver passes Rochester, Providence, St. Paul and Louisville and goes to twenty-fourth place. Omaha advances from forty-first to thirty-fifth place; Richmond from 39 to 36; and Wilmington from 61 to 55.

All cities have made increases and there are now seventy cities with a population of over 100,000, as against fifty in 1910. Notwithstanding this general increase, many cities have a lower rank than shown in former censuses, due to the rapid growth of certain cities. San Francisco and Cincinnati have grown from 289,000 and 296,000 in 1890 to 471,000 and 414,000, yet they have lost their ranks to eighth and ninth cities to twelfth and fifteenth.

Student Slackers Are Found Guilty by Jury

New York, June 22.—The jury in the case of Owen Cattell and Charles F. Phillips, former Columbia University students, charged with conspiring to obstruct the operation of the selective draft law, returned a verdict of guilty in Federal district court last evening.

The jury deliberated five hours and recommended mercy in announcing the verdict. A motion to have the verdict set aside on the ground that the finding was in accordance with the testimony was made by Morris Hillquit, attorney for the young men. Judge Mayer announced that he will hear arguments on the motion next Friday.
