Actor Nearly Drowned

Minneapolis, Minn., June 29.—
Patrons of the Gayety theater witnessed a sensational rescue that was not scheduled on the program when 'Rago,' who is appearing in a specialty act in which he locks himself in and out of various places, nearly drowned on the stage.

Rago had reached a part of his act where he was apparently locked in a tank filled with water. A small plate glass in the front of the tank, designed to permit the audience to watch the actor, saved Rago's life. The tank, supposed to be locked, but really not locked, stuck. When Al. Hillyer, comedian, realized the situation and shattered the plate glass with a blow from a revolver, permitting the water to pour out. Rago fell unconscious.
