Increases in salaries for twenty-two employees at the pumping station and filter plant, aggregating $310 for the last six months of the present year, will be effective July 1, when council passes finally next week an ordinance introduced to-day by Commissioner Samuel F. Defer Action in Survey Since Commissioner Dunkle has taken charge of the various departments under his supervision, shorter hours have already been arranged for some of the men at the filter plant and pumping station, and other changes are being planned, which will improve working conditions.

Action on the Police survey report was deferred as Mayor Miller is ill, and unable to attend council sessions. Commissioner Gargas presided again this morning.

To Represent City Commissioner Lynch introduced an ordinance authorizing the construction of a 12-inch sewer in Swatara street from Sixteenth to Brook streets, at a cost of $700. Commissioner Gross presented an ordinance providing $600 for the purchase of a Reo truck for the Park Department, to be used in hauling equipment and supplies to various parts of the park and playground system.

To Maintain Standard Captain Henry M. Stine, in charge of the recruiting for Company C, reports the class of men who have applied for enlistment to have unusually high standards at the present time. He has many applications. It is the intention of the officers to accept only the best of the applicants, that the high standard of the Harrisburg companies may be maintained. An applicant last evening was anxious to enlist in the artillery. Pressed for a reason he admitted he wanted to join the artillery because the fellows "had it soft, didn't need to walk, but could always ride when the troops moved." He was told that Company C was not looking for men who were hunting soft snaps.

Band to Play The public concerts have proved to be a great aid to recruiting. It is believed the strains of martial music have induced many young men of the city to enlist. To-morrow evening the following program will be given by the Eighth Regiment Infantry Band: March, "The World's Progress"; Overture, "Poet and Peasant"; For Suppe Waltzes, "La Estudina"; Waldteufel Trombone novelty, "Lassus Trombone"; Fillmore Selection, "The King Pin"; Spanish Dance, "Banderillos"; Donizetti "Panazza Promenade"; Pryor March, "American Cade"; Hall D. TIMELY HINTS FOR THE HOME GARDENER

Samuel Armstrong Hamilton Thinning Out the Plants As it has been found that there is a tendency on the part of persons unfamiliar with garden work to plant too thickly, it is always advisable to thin them out after being assured of a good stand.

It is a "good stand" is meant that after making allowance for some deficient seeds, accidents to others, injury by insects, and other causes there will be plants enough left when thinned out to allow the ones remaining to stand the required distance apart.

It is a tragedy to sow seeds too sparingly in your garden, after all the work of preparation, and find that when you come to thin them out there are not enough to pay you for your trouble. The cost of the best seed is so moderate that it does not pay to be stingy with it when planting in the drills.

Rev. W. S. Herman, Bishop J. Henry Darlington, Bishop Philip R. McDewitt, Frank B. Bosh, H. W. Stubbs, Frank R. Downey, H. H. Herkin, J. Clyde Myton, E. C. Haldeman, A. L. Hall, D. M. Dull, Frank H. Bomgardner, Dr. C. C. Cocklin, W. O. Hickok III, William E. E. Lauver, Sheriff W. W. Caldwell, Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, Colonel L. V. Rausch, Andrew Buchanan, George F. Lumb, Joseph H. Wallace, William M. Robinson, John S. Musser, Gus M. Steinmetz, Howard C. Fry, Samuel P. Eby, Frank B. Musser, Edwin S. Herman, J. William Bowman, George W. Rely, George E. Whitney, W. Boone Abbott, Mrs. Lyman D. Gilbert, Miss Anne McCormick and Mrs. Raymond L. Gillipie, representing the Red Cross, and Noah Walmer, representing the G. A. R.

Beans, peas, carrots, beets, parsnips, tomato and cabbage plants for transplanting from the seed-bed, and peppers, being not planted so thickly as those named above, should not be thinned out until they are ready for the first thinning. If the weather is not right, do this when you think it is the proper time; do not wait for a rain, but soak the drills, and in half a day they should be in a condition to be thinned.

Let the lettuce radishes and onions grown from seed be thinned out so as not to touch, when the first thinning is done, unless you are going to get crowded at any time, in which case it is better to allow it to grow in a tight mass until it gets large enough that the plants thinned out can be used for salad. But lettuce intended for making head lettuce, when transplanted to permanent positions, should not be allowed to get crowded at any time, as this gives better results.

Radishes can be allowed to grow so closely that they almost touch, if alternate ones are then thinned out and used. To accomplish this, with the first early ones, as soon as the plants can be handled thin out to an inch apart. By the time these touch thin out every alternate one which will be all the thinning required.

The little onions can be best picked out with an old table fork, as pulling them by hand when so very tiny causes many of them to break off and the tuber remains in the soil. The fork is merely used to slightly loosen the tuber or bulb so that it will come up easily.

Corn and beans, which may be planted in hills, are sown sufficiently thick that there will be enough to make a selection of the most vigorous, three to four plants to a hill, when they have attained their fourth leaf.

If you are fond of beet-greens, the young seedlings can be thinned out to an inch apart, and when they get crowded, thin out to four inches apart and use those thinned out for greens, tops and all. Another thinning out of the beets should be made, using those removed for sauce, to allow expansion for those to remain for large winter ones. Turnips can be treated the same way if you use turnip-tops for greens, as many persons do.

May Go in Reserves It is probable that Captain Harlan S. Ambrose, who has resigned as captain of Company C, of Chambersburg, will be placed on the reserve list. It had been reported that he would be placed on Colonel Finney's staff but at the present time no vacancies exist. Colonel Finney this morning spoke very highly of Captain Ambrose, but nothing definite has been done concerning his assignment.

Hotel Death Mystery Cleared by Relatives By Associated Press Philadelphia, June 26.—The mystery surrounding the death of a man and woman in hotel in this city on Sunday last was cleared to-day when John J. Alexander came here from Pittsburgh and identified the dead man as Lieutenant Ferdinand Alexander, 24 years of age, who he said held a commission in the navy. Mr. Alexander took charge of the body and that of Louise Jones, of New York, to whom he was married and who shot herself shortly after Alexander had died, presumably from natural causes.

ENROLL WOMEN TO SAVE FOOD

Will Be Asked to Sign Pledge; "Clean Plate Will Bring Victory"

The food supply division of the Dauphin county committee on public safety is planning a campaign to enroll every woman here in the nationwide food conservation plan.

Tentative steps call for a house to house canvass with Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Red Cross chapters and owners of automobiles co-operating.

The rule of the clean plate will save the country $2,000,000,000 a year and win the war for democracy, according to Dr. R. L. Wilbur, head of the food conservation department of the temporary food administration organization at Washington, in announcing the plans for the campaign to be launched from 200,000 pulpits on Conservation Sunday, July 1.

To Sign Pledge Its first step will be the enrollment of the women of the nation, through their signing the pledge of affiliation with the food administration. Ten or twelve millions of these signed pledges are expected to be sent to Washington within a few weeks. Every signer of the pledge will be mailed a window card, bearing the name and address of the signer, registration, the latter being the national shield, surrounded with a bronze band, on which appear four heads of wheat. Later another card, to be hung on the telephone or in the kitchen, will be sent out. This will bear a series of brief suggestions as to the vital points in the food-saving program.

The pledge for the housewives to sign, reads: "I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation, and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administration in the conduct of my household as far as my circumstances will permit."

Among the sacrifices the members of the league are asked to make will be to subsist on at least one wheatless meal a day; to save one loaf of bread a week; to discontinue the use of butter in cooking; to save at least two cents on every meal; to serve smaller portions of meat. Later another card, to be hung on the telephone or in the kitchen, will be sent out. This will bear a series of brief suggestions as to the vital points in the food-saving program.

As soon as the riprapping shall have been covered with earth the Department of Parks will immediately proceed with the planting of vines and shrubbery so that a mantle of green will cover the stone sheeting in a few weeks.

Mantle of Green Will Cover Stone Sheetting Placed Along River Front

With the work of riprapping the river embankment practically finished from Maclay street to Peffer, where a section was permanently improved last summer, the hundreds of people who promenade along the upper and lower walks every evening are now able to appreciate the admirable character of this protective undertaking. A slight engineering mistake at Maclay street resulted in too much excavation of the slope at that point, but it will be easily remedied.

As soon as the riprapping shall have been covered with earth the Department of Parks will immediately proceed with the planting of vines and shrubbery so that a mantle of green will cover the stone sheeting in a few weeks.
