NEW CONTRACT FOR W. U. LINES

Pennsy Directors Approve Return of Telegraph Service; Costly Proposition

Philadelphia, June 28. — At the meeting of the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday the new tolerach contracts came up for apis a white light important in the running of trains. service over the Pennsylvania lines expired June 25, and the new contract, it it is understood, will be dated July 1. The Western Union will also come back on the Pennsylvania lines and will probably begin the installation of equipment early next week. The cost of constructing the new lines is estimated at about $2,000,000.

On May 21, 1902, upon receipt of the announcement that the courts in Pittsburgh had refused the Western Union Company's appeal from a former decree ordering it to remove its wires from the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad, A. J. Cassatt, then president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, ordered his gangs who were in waiting to continue the destruction of the Western Union's property on the railroad company's right of way. Tear Down Wires The men went to work with a will and began demolishing the property on the railroad company's right of way. York. Fully 8,000 men, distributed over nearly 2,500 miles of railroad were hurled against the Western Union in the work of destruction. At 11 o'clock the order of demolition was issued and at 11:35 the first wire went down.

Special orders were issued concerning the important Western Union in the work of destruction. At 11 o'clock the order of demolition was issued and at 11:35 the first wire went down.

ished 60,000 Western Union poles and 15,000 miles of wire.

Inspects Work

At noon President Cassatt started from here to New York in his private car and returned at 4 p. m., after inspecting the work of demolition on this main arterly of traffic.

History shows no record of one corporation striking another blow so tremendous as the Pennsylvania Railroad struck the Western Union on that day. The dispute came over Gould's determination to bring his Wabash Railroad into Pittsburgh, tapping the Pennsylvania's valuable trade there. Gould owned the Wabash and controlled the Western Union to his interests in the Wabash. While the value of the property destroyed was about $800,000, it will cost $2,000,000 to replace it on account of the difference in the cost of labor and material.

VETERAN TO RETIRE

Three Pennsy employes at Atloona will be retired on July 1. Jacob Otto, a mute, who has been employed for a half century, is a machinist. He is a natice of Blair county. Demetrius Hods, a bar builder, started work in 1874; and Frank Kramer, a moulder, has been employed since 1882.

PUPILS GRADUATE

Given Diplomas at Well-Attended Exercises in Technical Auditorium

The auditorium of the Technical High school was crowded Tuesday evening by an audience in attendance upon the twenty-first annual commencement exercises of the Harrisburg Conservatory of Music.

The stage was prettily decorated with potted plants, ferns and flowers. All of the numbers played were of a very high order of artistic excellence and represented the greatest composers.

of a very high order of artistic excellence and represented the greatest composers.

In point of technic, phrasing and interpretation, the work of each student was much above the average. Epecially beautiful was the violin playing of Harold Emil Malsh, a pupil of Madame von Bereghy's. In this number the difficult Bruch concerto was played with a freedom and abandon quite unusual in so young an artist. Especially fine was his clear and resonant tone and suppleness at wrist and arm. C. B. Shackley, a new baritone, charmed the audience with his selection "The Drummer Boy," by Edward German. He was enthusiastically encored and his rich sonorous voice was heard even to better advantage in his encore number, a dainty love lyric by Lohr. Dr. Mudge, pastor of Pine Street Presbyterian Church, addressed the graduates, he spoke particularly of the value of music in its effect upon the moral life, and of the importance of high ideals and of enthusiasm as factors in a successful life. His address was eloquent and upilifting and made a deep impression. In a few well-chosen words, Prof. Decevee, director of the school, then addressed them to maintain the highest ideals in music. He then presented them with their diplomas.
