French Families Give Little Dinner Parties For Lonesome U. S. Troops

By Associated Press

A French Seaport, July 4 (delayed).

For the first time in its history this little seaport to-day celebrated the Fourth of July. The majority of the inhabitants scarcely knew what they were celebrating, but they had been told it was the American "Fourth of July," corresponding to their "Fourteenth of July," and they did their utmost to give the town a festive air. The scarcity of United States flags, which was apparent when the American troops first landed a week ago, was remedied by sending to Paris for quantities of the Stars and Stripes, and the seaport awoke under the first cloudless sky for a week radiant with bunting.

The townspeople took a sort of a holiday though they did not close their stores, which these days are such an unusual source of incoine with the thousands of new customers. Such American soldiers and sailors as were allowed liberty, numbering into the thousands, were made welcome everywhere. Countless families gave little dinner parties to lonesome strange soldiers from the United States.

Russian Railroads Need Millions For Equipment Church

Petrograd, July 5 .- M. Stephanoff, emporary Minister of Trade and In-Stevens and the other members of Stevens and the other members of the American Railroad Commission to discuss the best methods by which America may assist Russia. Mr. Stevens inquired about the present system of supplying the army and the civilian population, and M. Paltichinski, Assistant Minister, gave a detailed description of it. The members of the American Commission expressed satisfaction and promised energetic co-operation in improving the system of supply. Chairman Stevens sent a cablegram to Washington requesting construction of locomotives and care be undertaken at once. The order, it is said, will require the increase of America's credit to Russia by $375,000,000. In giving this order, the commission says, it was guided not by commercial considerations, but solely by the desire to afford Russia all possible support in the common cause.

Reading Plans Another Cut in Train Service

Reading, July 5.—Thirty or more trains, chiefly Philadelphia suburban, have been canceled on the Philadelphia and Reading railway and the management is now considering further reductions in the train service upon recommendation of the government as a means to speed up the movement of war freight.

While the road has not definitely decided what trains will be affected in the second reduction, it is taking equipment that will be most serviceable from motive power standpoint in handling the freight consignments. It is believed that suburban service will supply for the most part the additional equipment and that trains to and from this city will not be affected.
